County's Oldest Resident, 'Mother' Washington Rests In Bare Plot

By PAT PERRY

If you should have the misfortune to die penniless in Marin County, you will be buried at public expense—but it will be in an unmarked grave.

The county will pay $250 for your funeral, and $100 for cemetery costs—but will not pay for a marker or headstone.

One of the county's longest lived residents, Mrs. Catherine Washington of Marin City who died last year at 104, is among many buried in unmarked graves at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

"Mother" Washington's grave can be located only by consulting a map in the cemetery office. There is no marker, no headstone. Widow of a methodist minister, she outlived six of her seven children, and her only survivor, Juanita, lives in Europe. She was given a pauper's burial on April 6 last year at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

SAVINGS CLAIMED

Her life savings, $583.44, in a bank savings account and Christmas Club at Sausalito, were forfeited in probate to defray creditor's claims by the County of Marin for medical and hospital costs.

The county never has paid for markers in indigent burials. Until the last decade, indigents who died in the county were buried in a Potter's Field on the county farm in Lucas Valley. There are 284 graves there now, identified only by numbers set in five-inch concrete discs. Wooden boards that once bore names on the graves have long since disappeared, and the cemetery has disintegrated into a weed-strewn patch behind a garage. Cattle are driven across is. Straw, lumber and old brick lie on the concrete numbers.

CHANGE IN POLICY

Indigent are no longer buried in a Potter's Field. (The term derives from an old burial place for strangers at Jerusalem.) They are buried at Mount Olivet Cemetery if Catholic, or at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery if Protestant. Nor are they buried in a special section; but there is no form of identification whatsoever on their grave.

Why doesn't the county pay for markers?

County resolution 6557, dated Dec. 27, 1960, requires the Wel-

THIS IS A CEMETERY — From the late 19th Century until the 1950's the County of Marin buried indigents in this Potter's Field on the county farm in Lucas Valley. Today the cemetery is a patch of weeds; the only intimation that graves are located there are 284 concrete discs, each bearing a number. The County Social Service Department maintains a file identifying the numbers and names.

Bombs, Infantry Pound Viet Cong

COMBINED UPI & AP

SAIGON — Giant B-52 bombers struck at Viet Cong retreating before doggedly pursuing U.S. infantrymen today in a jungle sanctuary near the Cambodian border where the GIs cut down 131 guerrillas in a weekend fight.

Troops of the 1st Infantry Division, literally hacking their way through the soggy, stiffling jungle pushed through War Zone C which intelligence officers call one of the key guerilla havens in the south.

VINH RAID

The area, about 75 miles northwest of Saigon, is a main southern terminal for the Ho Chi Minh supply trail from North Viet Nam and is said to contain the headquarters of Viet Cong chieftan Nguyen Huu Tho.

U. S. Navy fighter-bombers demolished another anti-aircraft missile site near the North Vietnamese city of Vinh.

PLANES LOST

Although weather curtailed air missions over the Communist North, A-4 Skyhawks and F-8 crusaders from the carrier Hancock saturated the missile site 34 miles northeast of Vinh, on the North Vietnamese coast, with Bullpup air-to-surface missiles and 500- and 600-pound bombs. A spokesman said they destroyed everything within a 400-foot-square area, including two Soviet-built missile launchers.

U.S. spokesmen reported the loss of two more planes over North Viet Nam, raising the total shot down there to 227, but the pilots of both were rescued by helicopters. Four U.S. planes were lost over the North Friday.

Oregon's U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse says the United States could find itself at war with Red China if a slight error occurred while American planes bombed North Viet Nam.

WAR PERIL

"Out of bombers traveling 1,500 miles an hour, we are dropping bombs that are falling 30 miles from the Chinese border," Morse told a news conference here Sunday.

"Take out your pencils and see how much miscalculation (it would take) . . . and you're at war with Red China," he said.

Morse urged that the United States stop th bombing and pull American forces back to selected enclaves, then begin an "all-out peace effort . . . within the framework of the Charter of the United Nations."

The Democratic senator said he opposed sending American troops to South Viet Nam, but that "I have never been for complete withdrawal. That would result in the worst bloodbath in history."

Very Private Talk For Pope, Lodge

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI discussed the Viet Nam crisis today in a 40-minute meeting with Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to Saigon.

The Pope and the ambassador conferred in the privacy of the library in the pontiff's apartment. Not even interpreters were present. They spoke in French.

The audience lasted five minutes less than the 45-minute audience in which Pope Paul and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko discussed peace problems just a week ago.

The Italian press had speculated that Lodge was calling on the Pope in part to balance with the U.S. view whatever Gromyko may have told him about Viet Nam.

Some expressed belief the pontiff and the ambassador discussed the Roman Catholic situation in Viet Nam. Lodge has been accused by some Viet Nam Catholics of favoring the Buddhists in the Viet Nam political struggle.

Hearing Refused In Obscenity Case

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its March 21 decision affirming conviction of publisher Ralph Ginzberg for obscenity.

Ginzburg was convicted in federal court in Philadelphia of violating federal obscenity law, sentenced to five years' imprisonment, and fined $28,000.

Publisher of Eros magazine, Ginzburg said neither a nine-year-old obscenity standard set by the Supreme Court nor the court's later rulings gave him warning that the manner in which a publication is advertised could establish the material as being obscene.

Justice William J. Brennan, author of the court's majority opinion, said "Eros was created, represented and sold solely as a claimed instrument of the sexual stimulation it would bring." The court's vote was 5 to 4.

The Court affirmed a lower tribunal's ruling that Texas may not make payment of a $1.05 poll tax a condition to voting in local elections.

A three-judge U.S. District court in Austin, Tex., on Feb. 9 ruled the annual Texas levy violated the U.S. Constitution's due process of law garantee. On March 24 the Supreme Court ruled that imposition of poll taxes as prerequisite to voting in state and local elections violates the Constitution.

Waggoner Carr, Texas attorney general, in an April 14 appeal to the Supreme Court said he believed the issue was settled by the high tribunal's March 24 decisions, in two Virginia cases. But he said the state's attorneys did not agree with the legal principles announced March 24, and if the Supreme Court did not act on their appeal Texas would be without a valid voter registration system for the 1967 election unless a special session of the Legislature is called before Oct. 1.

The Court also refused to review the $91,000 income tax evasion conviction of Washington business consultant Fred B. Black Jr., who figured prominently in the Senate investiga-

Search Abandoned For Missing Fliers

A two-week search for a missing airplane whose four passengers included two Corte Maderans was called off last night on Air Force orders. The plane is presumed crashed in rugged Colorado mountain country.

Riding in the plane, which disappeared on a flight from San Francisco to Denver on April 18, were Lee Levine of Corte Madera, and Wilson Tsang of Harbor Drive, Corte Madera.

Levine was president of Glacier Industries Inc., of San Francisco, and had recently moved to Corte Madera from Tiburon.

More than 500 persons took part in ground searches this weekend in the Sangre de Cristo mountains and the Wolf Creek Pass area of Colorado.

The Colorado Civil Air Patrol halted the massive search on Air Force orders last night, but said if further leads developed it would resume the search for the Cessna 210.

A CAP official said air and ground units covered more than 500,000 square miles in the search, which was hampered because the pilot did not file a flight plan for the hop from Durango to either Denver or Pueblo, Colo.

The plane was last heard from when the pilot radioed the Farmington, N.M., airport tower to ask for weather conditions.

Boat Destroyed At Pier By Fire

A 30-foot cabin cruiser, belonging to a San Rafael man, was completely destroyed last night when it caught fire while tied at a pier at McNear's Point off San Pedro Road.

According to the Marin County Fire Department, the fire started as the owner, Robert B. Moore of 136 San Rafael Avenue, San Rafael, was cleaning valves with solvent, and an electric light set the solvent on fire. The fire department was called at 10:20 p.m.

Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Wire Break Cuts Off Electricity

An electric wire broke at Millwood Street and East Blithedale Avenue in Mill Valley at 2:37 p.m., Saturday, knocking out electric power to about 1,000 homes in the central area of the city.

The loss of power was similar to that of last Tuesday when a wire fell and the same number of customers lost electric service. Cause of the broken wire, as last week's, was undetermined, reported Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electric superintendent, today.

Robertson said power was restored Saturday to 850 homes by 3:10 p.m. and to the remaining homes by 4:05 p.m.

Florida Kidnaper Contacts Rabbi; Club Operator, Wife Held, Robbed

Father Pleads For Answer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Aaron Goldman, wealthy Miami contractor, said today a man who may have been the kidnaper of his 18-year-old son, Daniel, had contacted a rabbi in New York.

Goldman appealed to the abductor to contact the rabbi again for "an important message from us" or to get in touch with a clergyman of any faith anywhere in the world.

"Once the clergyman has been able to identify our son, the ransom will be paid through the church in any manner you direct. It will be sent to any

Gunmen Get Mink, Cash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three gunmen kidnaped the son and daughter-in-law of wealthy restaurant operator Mel Weiss early today and robbed Weiss' Whisky A Go Go club of $3,500.

The robbers took the young couple back to their Diamond Heights apartment after the holdup and stole Mrs. Weiss' $950 mink stole. They overlooked $380 in cash.

Jewels Found In Canaries With Couple

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (UPI)—A San Francisco couple detained by police here last Friday in connection with the disappearance of jewels from a San Francisco store traveled erroneously to the Canaries instead of to the Balearic Islands, police sources said here today.

"They admitted they stole the jewels," a police spokesman said.

(Cross is a former resident of Corte Madera. He was injured in a fire at the house at 296 Summit Drive, Corte Madera, which he was renting, on April 11, 1962. He later moved to San Francisco.)

Police said the couple intended to go to Palma de Mallorca, instead of to Las Palmas, Canary Islands, where they arrived April 22.

"They said they planned to go to Palma de Mallorca and

Colombians Ballot

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The Colombian presidential election went off as expected yesterday with Sen. Carlos Lleras Restrepo voted in by a large margin. Lleras' opponent, attorney Jose Jaramillo Giraldo, drew more than 30 per cent of the vote, 565,168 to 1,327,320 for Lleras.

Reds' Sympathies

MOSCOW (UPI) — The U.S. government has sent a telegram to the Soviet government offering sympathies to the residents of Tashkent in Soviet Central Asia who suffered in last week's earthquake, the Communist party's newspaper, Pravda said today.

HERNING, Denmark (UPI)— A bus with 16 passengers aboard collided with an express train last night killing 10 persons and injuring about 60 others.

No Tax Hike Now?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor assured the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today he sees no need for an anti-inflationary tax increase now. He told the opening session of the chamber's 54th annual meeting that the economic signs are not cause for "undue alarm, any more than they are cause for complacency."

Sukarno Is Target

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— The long dormant Indonesian Parliament met today amid speculation that it would lay the groundwork for moves to curb President Sukarno's powers further.

Attorney Urges Encouragement Of Uprisings

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — An attorney who investigated incidents at Berkeley for the University of California Board of Regents said yesterday that similar student uprising should not only be expected but encouraged by trustees and regents of American colleges and universities.

Jerome C. Byrne of Los Angeles told the 44th annual meeting of the Capital Assn. of governing boards of universities and colleges that the students' energy can be converted into many worthwhile social and political changes.

"The dissatisfaction and the unrest of serious students, it seems to me, should correspondingly be the dissatisfaction and the unrest of the trustees."

Byrne said trustees in general should remove any university barriers to protests by students and faculty.

Fickle Hearted Friend Of LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the troops at his elbow, the commander in chief picked up his "favorite little girl friend" and confidently asked, "Who do you love?"

But yesterday was Courtenay's day to be fickle. Without hesitation she replied: "I love Pat," looking over the President's shoulder to Patrick J. Nugent, Johnson's future son-in-law.

The shift in affections by the young daughter of presidential assistant Jack Valenti touched off a round of laughter in Johnson's office in which the President, his daughter Luci—who will become Nugent's bride in August, and Nugent joined. It also drew laughs from the troops—13 wounded Viet Nam veterans who were getting a special tour of the White House at the time.

Protestants Ponder Union

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—On a note of high hope, representatives of an expanded array of American Christian bodies met today at a decisive crossroads on their way toward a unified church.

Before them, for the first time, was a specific outline for union.

The chairman of the commission which drew it up, Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterians, said he is "more optimistic" than ever before about the prospects.

With two additional denominations joining the talks for the first time, eight major communions now are involved with a total of more than 24 million members.

Also heightening the scope of the affair was the entry of the African Methodist Episcopal Church (predominantly Negro) and the Presbyterian Church U.S. (Southern and mainly white).

The proposed plan allows for wide diversity in worship forms but provides for linking of ministries and work. It would affirm the Apostles' and Nicene creeds and uphold the Bible as "the norm" of the church's total life and the yardstick of all its doctrines.

Singer, Author Farina Killed

Farina

Farina, brother-in-law of famed folksinger Joan Baez and a nationally acclaimed performer in his own rights, was killed Saturday two miles east of here after attending an autographing party for his first novel, "Been Down So Long It Looks Like Up To Me."

The highway patrol said that Farina, who was due in San Francisco for another autographing party that night, was riding on the back of a speeding motorcycle driven by a friend, William E. Hind, a marine biologist, when the crash occurred.

Farina suffered a depressed skull fracture and was dead before he could be removed from the accident scene. Hind, 27, of the Hopkins Marine Station, a Stanford University facility at Pacific Grove, was reported in good condition yesterday at Peninsula Community Hospital.

Precedent Said To Be Lacking In Dodd Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said yesterday the Senate Ethics Committee lacked precedent to deal with allegations Sen. Thomas J. Dodd improperly handled funds contributed to him.

But McCarthy, a member of the committee, said it "could take some action" on other charges that Dodd improperly represented the interests of Julius Klein, a lobbyist representing West German clients.

Dodd asked the committee and the FBI to investigate both allegations, raised in a series of articles by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

McCarthy, whose comments were made in a television interview, said he did not think "we ought to allow ourselves to be moved to judge the conduct of a senator by standards which have never been defined."

China Leader Absent In May Day Show; Vietnamese Demonstrate

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Russians showed no new military hardware at their Moscow parade. Mao Tze-tung did not appear in Peking. And 7,000 South Vietnamese staged an anti-American demonstration in front of the U. S. Embassy in Saigon.

Reviewing a military parade in Moscow's Red Square, Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky accused the United States of waging "a foul bandit war against the heroic Vietnamese people."

"Together with the other Socialist countries," Malinovsky said, "we support our Vietnamese brothers and are rendering them and will continue to render them all possible assistance."

Other Soviet leaders standing atop Lenin's Tomb in a cold rain reviewed the parade, which included floats denouncing the U. S. presence in Viet Nam.

Radio Peking said three million persons turned out for the celebrations in the Communist Chinese capital, but Communist party Chairman Mao was absent. Mao, 72, has not been seen in public for more than five months.

During the Peking rally, Premier Chou En-lai warned the United States that "even more disastrous defeats are in store" if the Viet Nam war is expanded. He said U. S. efforts to set up peace talks would fail.

In South Viet Nam, the chant "Da Dao My" — Down with Americans — resounded outside the U. S. Embassy in Saigon where Vietnamese troops faced 7,000 farmers, dockworkers and students demonstrating for peace. There was no violence.

ORIPNGTON, England (UPI) —Nudists at a nearby camp have asked police to help nab thieves who stripped them of their personal belongings while they were sunbathing.

Primary Interest High In Alabama

Wallace is barred from running for re-election but his wife, Lurleen, is seeking to turn aside anyone else at the statehouse door. She is one of 10 candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Governorships are up in all those states except Indiana. Two of the six — Alabama and Oklahoma — have contests over nominations for the Senate.

In Alabama, Mrs. Wallace, a 39-year-old blonde, generally is expected to top the field of 10 contenders. The big questions are whether she can get a majority of all the votes and who will be runner-up. If no one gets a majority, the top two candidates will be a runof May 31.

The other contenders are, former governors James E. Folsom and John Patterson, former Rep. Carl Elliott, State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, State Sen. Bob Gilchrist, Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd, Charles Woods, Sherman Powell and Eunice I. Gore.

Tomorrow's voting is the first preliminary balloting before next fall's general election when 435 House members, to sit during the last two years of President Johnson's present term, will be elected. Thirty-five governors and 35 senators also are to be elected in the fall.

It will be the first important voting in the South since extensive federal efforts under the new voting rights law in behalf of Negro voting rights.

The Justice Department plans to have 31 federal offices open in Alabama on election day to receive and investigate any complaints of voter intimidation.

Car Theft, Assault Are Charged

An 18-year-old Santa Rosa youth, Ronald Lee Germon, was booked in Marin County jail Saturday for alleged car theft, assault with the vehicle on a security guard, and being drunk.

He was then released on his own recognizance by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. and scheduled for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Sheriff's officers said Germon was passenger in a car owned and driven by John Daniel Howard Jr., 18, of 17 Kristin Lane, Novato.

They went to Burge's Drive-In Restaurant, Ignacio, about 11 p.m. Friday, according to the report, and Germon stole the vehicle after Howard walked away to talk with friends.

Felix Heredia, restaurant security guard, told deputies the speeding car almost struck him, forcing him to leap aside. Germon continued driving at high speed, Heredia said, until he smashed the car into a large tree. He was uninjured.

Morse Supported By Candidate For Congress

Phillip Drath of San Rafael, who is running for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First District, shared a San Francisco speakers platform with Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Friday, and charged that the war in Viet Nam is doing more harm than good to the state's economy.

Drath, who like Morse is highly critical of this country's role in the war, said it is "crippling and will continue to cripple every decent governmental program in California."

While he conceded the war has brought an "immediate but temporary shot in the arm to the state's economy," Drath said this was offset by employment instability and the drain of money from programs to set up redwood and seashore parks or to build homes.

The meeting was sponsored by the Californians for Liberal Representation.

fare Department to pay "the sum of $250, including tax, for each county burial of indigent death." This amount includes preparation for burial, clothing the body in "regularly manufactured cloth," and provides a committal service at the place of burial "in conformity with the apparent religious belief of deceased."

How much would it cost the county to buy markers?

Prices vary for monuments, and elaborate memorials can cost thousands of dollars, but one local cemetery official estimates that plain, flat markers could be bought in bulk for $30 to $50 each.

Last year the county paid for 43 indigent burials at $350 each, and estimates for the next fiscal year's budget ask for the same amount.

Four funeral directors undertake indigent burials on a monthly rotation basis, taking care of all county burials that occur in their month. They are Russell and Gooch, Mill Valley; Redwood Chapel, Novato; Chapel of Marin, Novato, and Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Committal services for these burials are supposed to be announced publicly, according to a stipulation of the county resolution, so that any friends of the deceased may attend the service. In practice the burials sometimes take place without announcement, with only the officiating minister, and sometimes a county social worker, present.

The Welfare Department (now called the Social Service Department) is obligated to pay for the burial of any indigent who dies within the county, even if not a Marin resident, so figures don't necessarily reflect the number of county residents who die penniless.

Yachtsmen Wax Hot Over Tangle

A prominent Piedmont builder yesterday was arrested by Marin County sheriff's deputies after he allegedly struck a Lafayette psychiarist with a boat hook during an argument over a near-ocllision near Angel Island.

Dr. Herbert C. Enos, 48, was reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with a concussion and scalp cuts.

The builder, Dean Morrison, 58, was booked in Marin County jail at 8:55 p.m. on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. He was released in his own recognizance by Judge Leonard B. Thomas pending court appearance at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Enos told Tiburon sheriff's substation officers that she and her husband were sailing near Hospital Cove on the opening day of yachting season when Dr. Enos tried to anchor his boat. Because the line was too short, Mrs. Enos said, his boat drifted near Morrison's boat.

Mrs. Enos told the deputies that Morrison became abusive and cut the Enos' line. He then stormed up to Enos and knocked him down with the hook, Mrs. Enos reported. Morrison then threw the hook at one of the Enos' daughters, she said. Also on board the Enos boat were his three daughters and a family friend.

Enos was taken into Tiburon by a sheriff's auxiliary boat at 2:50 p.m. Morrison was arrested later by Inspector A. V. Menjou of the sheriff's department.

Firm Again Sues Tiburon Over Permit

A new suit by Tiburon Tidelands Co. against the City of Tiburon in the company's long battle for use permits for a waterfront development has been filed in Marin Superior Court.

The complaint asks the court to rule that use permit ordinances upon which the city based its refusal be declared unconstitutional and invalid.

It also asksd that the court find no use permit is needed for the land uses sought by the plaintiffs, Robert and Nella Moor, president and secretary of the firm.

The couple's earlier suit was dismissed in Superior Court by Judge G. Wilson last Dec. 28 on their own motion. The action was in the face of a demurrer by the city alleging that Tiburon Tidelands Co. had not exhausted all administrative remedies before going to court.

The Moors, represented by attorney Frederick E. Watson, indicated at that time that the new complaint would be filed. They seek to construct and operate a yacht harbor, restaurant and boatel on leased shoreline and underwater acreage between Main and Mar West streets.

They have alleged harrassment by city officials, and charge that the latter seek to lower the value of thel and and acquire it by purchase or condemnation for the city at less than a fair market value.

Stucky, who lives with his wife, Lelah, at 177 Canal Street, San Rafael, said they have bought a small ranch in Ashland, Ore., and will move there. He said he is retiring to spend more time with his wife, who is ill.

President of the Corte Madera Merchants Council and a director of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, Stucky has worked for Montgomery Ward and Co. for 39 years, 36 of them as a store manager. He came to Corte Madera after opening a shopping center for the chain store in Minneapolis, Minn.

The Stuckys have two sons, both of whom work for Montgomery Ward and Co., in Grants Pass, Ore., and Oroville.

Togetherness Is A Fast, Fast Draw, Frontier Style

STANTON, Mo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Graham may be the fastest guns in the West — or anywhere else, for that matter.

The Houston, Tex., couple proved yesterday in the National Fast Draw Assn.'s world championship that they are the fastest guns around.

Graham, 31, a bespectacled bank-equipment salesman, won his second straight world championship. He averaged .45 of a second — drawing, shooting and hitting targets — in the contest's four classes.

His wife, Merrill, 21, a long-haired blonde who looks as good as she shoots, won the women's title with an average drawing and shooting time of .61 of a second. Her fastest was .44.

"I can give the average person a pistol, have him cock it and point it at me and draw and fire before he can," said Graham who uses a modern plastic-lined holster for the old Western sport of gunslinging.

Conference To Study Ship Fire Safety

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The United States is sending one of its top diplomats, W. Averell Harriman, to take part in a London conference opening tomorrow on improving fire safety of passenger ships.

The United States requested the special meeting of the Maritime Safety Committee on the intergovernmental maritime consultative organization because of the Yarmouth Castle disaster last December. The meeting opens Tuesday.

Electric Saw Stolen

Jothn Galow, Inverness carpenter working for Ira Coburn Co., reported to police Friday that between noon and 4:48 p.m. someone stole an electric saw valued at $150 from the new Mill Valley Public Library under construction at 375 Throckmorton Avenue.

Boys Take Balls

Corte Madera police Saturday reprimanded four Larkspur and Corte Madera boys, aged 12 and 13, found taking Union 76 balls off auto radio aerials in the Corte Madera Center parking lot. Police found 45 of the decorative balls in a paper bag carried by one of the boys.

Mother To Risk Heart Surgery Valve Attempt

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI) — An Illinois woman who needs two heart valves replaced was notified today to report May 19 to Houston, Tex., to see Dr. Michael DeBakey, the heart implant specialist.

"I have three boys to raise, so I have to get well," Mrs. Phyllis Wright told United Press International.

"If anybody can do anything for me, Dr. DeBakey, with God's help, can," said Mrs. Wright, 40.

Mrs. Wright returned to her home here about a week ago from Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago after a three-week examination. She originally was scheduled to undergo heart surgery there April 29, she said.

However, the hospital notified her doctor that the surgery was "too risky," she said, and her doctor then appealed to DeBakey.

She said she received confirmation this morning from DeBakey that she was to report to him May 19.

DeBakey April 21 implanted an artificial heart in a 65-year-old Illinois coal miner who staked his life on the historic medical breakthrough. The patient, Marcel L. DeRudder, died last week.

Boy Badly Hurt In Collision

A 6-year-old San Rafael boy was seriously injured Saturday when he was knocked from a bicycle by a car near his home at 78 Novato Street.

Lonnie Wilde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip L. Wilde, suffered a fractured skull and was listed in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital.

Police said the driver of the car was Lorrie Lyne Decker, 16, of 30 Novato Street.

Girl, 5, Bitten; Search Begins For Brown Dog

A dog that bit a five-year-old girl yesterday, was being urgently sought today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kung of 108 Blossom Court, San Rafael.

Unless the dog is found and tested for rabies, the child will have to undergo the painful Pasteur treatment which induces a milder and non-fatal form of the dread disease.

Diana Stephanie Kung was bitten outside her home at about 7 p.m. yesterday. The dog was described as brown with a white spot on each side of its body. It had pointed ears and a long brown nose, was about 14 to 18 inches high and about 2½ feet long. The dog had a fat stomach and weighed about 25 to 35 pounds.

Information about the dog may be given to San Rafael police, the Marin County Humane Society, or the Kung family.

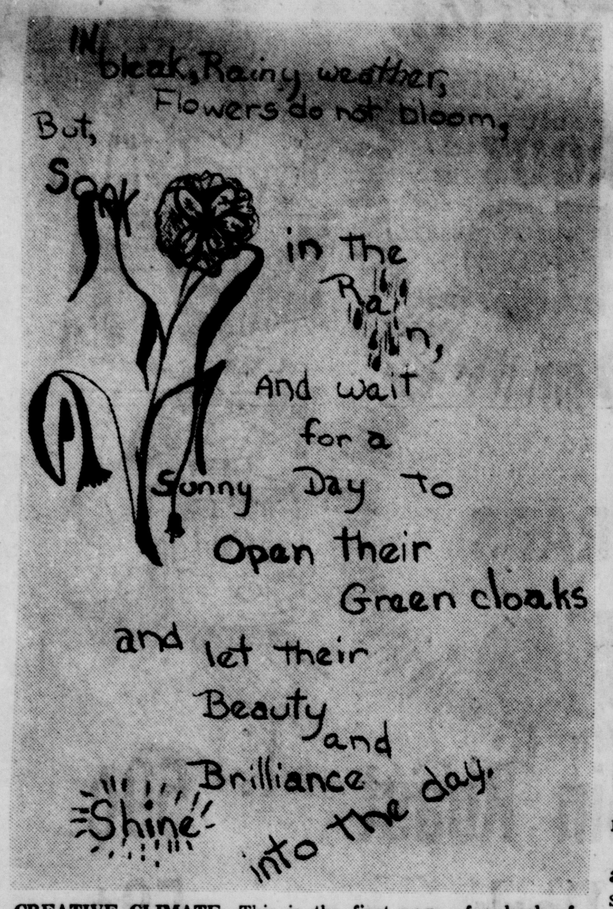
Creative Jottings By Juveniles



CREATIVE CLIMATE—This is the first page of a book of creative writing produced as a project by several "delinquent" teen-agers in the care of Marin County Rehabilitation Center in Lucas Valley. The book is being put on sale through county bookstores.

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

In this sterile language of the sweeping statement, this group of Marin County teen-agers could be dismissed as juvenile delinquents or crazy mixed-up kids."

a book of poems, jottings and drawings produced by four boys and girls in the care of the Marin County Family Rehabilitation Center in Lucas Valley is more than the exercise in English it set out to be.

It is a remarkable and literate plea for understanding to a world which must appear preoccupied by preconvieved conceptions. It provides, too, a medium for self expression leading inevitably to the start of the healing process.

A teen-age boy wrote these reflections:

"Restraining my affections against love and hate makes my soul seem to be on the verge of explosion. My mind is racked by grievances for past and present loved ones. Being loved and feeling myself not worthy of love, not even worthy of hate, has made my mind a turmoil of misinterpreted emotions."

Mrs. Barbara Ward, who teaches a class at the center, set her English students a creative writing project. So amazed was she with the results, she talked over with them publication of the work in booklet form. Several Marin bookstores have agreed to make it available to the public, with proceeds going to the center.

A new kind of program for older adolescents began in full operation with the opening of the center last January. Before that, a pilot program was in use at Juvenile Hall for three years.

David Fogel, director of institutions, explained: "Without this program, which substitutes individual care for the more impersonal treatment, the 20 youngsters here would have no alternative but to be committed to institutions of the California Youth Authority."

Many of the youngsters come from problem families and have, at some time in their lives, been in trouble with the law. They were accepted at the center only if the parents agreed and the child showed some degree of co-operation.

Writers of the book, called "Writty of We" (using a John Lennon-type word invention meaning writings), are aged from 15 to 18.

Like their age group anywhere, they know confusion as they wrestle with the emotional problems of the ill-defined no man's land between childhood and adulthood—between fantasy and reality.

"The Ocean and the Sun casts its glittering reflection upon the swaying sea, and people shield their eyes from the light which throws its glare onto the sand.

But, if I block out the sounds of the people, I am alone on the Beach. And, I am Me. And, I am Real."

The young people carried notebooks with them and jotted random ideas in their spare time. Mrs. Ward gave little help beyond spelling and helping rearrange a particularly stuborn phrase.

A boy named Ken made notes which grew into this definition of a poem:

"A good poem divides, subdivides
Brings and breaks man down to his bare, essential self;
Takes away the facades, covers the falsities of life,

"Neither to compete nor to confuse.
But to live as individuals one's own life and time on earth.
This is the way life should be lived.
Privately."

There are no barricades or fences at Lucas Valley to confine the bodies or the minds of these youngsters. The writings, however, reflect the cataclysm already experienced in their short lives.

Elizabeth wrote:

"As the tiny sparrow flies from his nest, so I flew from mine.
As the rain departs the clouds, so I departed you.
All things in nature and in life must one time say goodbye.
But parting is the act most difficult.
The sense of loss is overwhelming.
I wished only to leave, to break all ties.
They seem to go away but return en masse to pull tears
from my swollen eyes.
It is hard to say goodbye. So hard.
And now I feel the pain.
The difficult deed had to be done. We are apart.
I left you. I was wrong.
Please.
Accept my return."

Park Commission Hearing Set On Park Bond Measure

A public hearing on San Rafael's role in the proposed $4.3 million county parks bond issue will be held by San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

The bond issue will appear on the June 7 ballot and, if passed, will allocate San Rafael $511,738 on a population basis to acquire and develop park and recreation facilities.

Purpose of the hearing, the first of two in the area, is to test the public's reaction on the issue itself and the list of projects suggested for San Rafael, said Joseph D. Rodota, recreation director.

"We are open to any suggestions and comments for the citizens of San Rafael," he said. Another hearing will be held May 11 at Vallecito School at 8 p.m.

Passage of the bonds would add $3.11 a year in property taxes to the owner of a home with a market value of $30,000.

Also on the agenda for Wednesday's meetmg is a discussion of a proposed hike in fees for swimming tuition. It is also proposed to increase the car allowance for the recreation supervisor from $25 a month to $45 owning to the supervision of a larger area.

Marin Supervisors Slate Hearing On Gallinas Creek

Marin County Supervisors tomorrow will hold a public hearing on the proposed formation of Gallinas Creek special assessment district, which would underwrite $300,000 to finance dredging of the creek for small boat navigation.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. Hearing on the special assessment district is slated for 3 p.m.

Boundaries of the district would include lots bordering the southern bank and a strip about 175 feet back from the bank on the north, undeveloped side. Dredging the creek will allow boats from the bay to sail to the Marin County Fair Grounds at the Civic Center.

The county, under the Department of Public Works proposal, would contribute $22,800 as its share of the cost. Assessment on individual house lots will range from $700 to $850, according to the estimates.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is a proposal to establish a sheriff's substation in southern Marin, replacing the one in Marin City which was destroyed by fire.

The new station would be located in a building on Tennessee Valley Road on land acquired by the county for the Coyote Creek Flood Control Project.

The building has since been sold to Terry Wolohan, but he has not yet moved it and would lease it to the county for $60 a month. It will cost about $400 to refurbish the building.

Power Company Borrows Electricity

A weekend fire in an underground vault at the edge of the Little Rock business district knocked out two of seven 13,800 volt circuits and cut power to a 45-block area. The fire department then supplied power from a generator truck.

Bible Study Course

The first class in a new weekly study course by the Bible Study Fellowship will be held Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the First Baptist Church of Mill Valley, 285 Miller Avenue. The interdenominational classes will be directed by Miss A. Wetherell Johnson, a missionary in the China Inland Mission for 14 years.

Monte Cristo Will Have Tax Increase

Residents of the old Monte Cristo tract west of Fairfax and just off the Bolinas-Fairfax road are going to have a hefty increase in their tax rate next year to cover road improvements.

The Monte Cristo Permanent Road Division, formed by county supervisors last spring, will have taxing power for the first time in fiscal 1967 and its rate will be $2.49 per $100 of assessed valuation.

On April 12 residents of the district approved a $17,400 loan from the county treasury to cover improvements. This will be amortized over six years, County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost explained.

Next year's budget calls for a total $3,900 in expenditures, with $1,000 toward maintenance and $2,900 toward loan redemption. Assessed valuation in the area is $160,000, which explains why the rate has to be so high, County Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell said.

Frost said the 30 property owners in the division will indeed be paying higher taxes, but the improvements must be made and the permanent road division method is cheaper than formation of an assessment district.

Fighter, Bomber Flights May Boom

A joint training exercise of the Western North American Air Defense Region will bring increased air activity and possible sonic booms to Marin County Friday morning.

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base will participate in the interception of subsonic B-52 bombers and supersonic B-58 bombers which will fly over California cities in a simulated attack.

This is part of an exercise which is international in scope, with the western NORAD regions and the Strategic Air Command.

The bombers will fly over Alaska, British Columbia, Alberta, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah and Arizona, as well as California.

Fighters from other fighter bases in the region, both United States and Royal Canadian forces, will go to the defense of western North America in the mission.

The simulated attack will be tracked by United States and Canadian aerospace defense systems and reported to the headquarters of the Western NORAD Region at Hamilton.

The exercise, which will not last more than one hour over any area, will not disrupt normal civilion air traffic, the Air Force said.

Driver Suffers Severe Burns

A 19-year-old San Francisco man suffered severe body burns when his sports car overturned and burst into flames on Highway 101 at Alto at 1:20 a.m. yesterday.

The driver, Allen Blair, was reportedly in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Blair was southbound near the Strawberry frontage road offramp when his car rolled over and he was thrown to the pavement, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The car was registered to Robert Hill of San Francisco. Blair is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Blair of Daly City.

Reserve, Guard Drill Regulations Tightened

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, recently ordered demotion of any Reserve or National Guardsman ducking too many drills. The demotion would be for inefficiency.

Another part of Johnson's order provides that certain draftage guardsmen and reservists who fail to keep up their obligated drills may be referred to Selective Service for two years of active duty.

The order specified that three unexcused absences in any year "are considered excessive."

The new penalties are in addition to an existing requirement that any guardsman or reservist failing a drilling obligation may be called to active duty for 45 days of training.

Most National Guardsmen and Reserves in the ready reserve are required to drill with their units 48 times a year. Men serving in the highest-priority units must attend 72 drills a year.

The demotion in rank, according to Johnson's order, will be imposed before a man begins his 45-day active duty training penalty.

There is special emphasis on National Guard and Reserve training currently because of the Viet Nam situation and, particularly in the case of highest-priority units, because of a drive to get a 150,000-man "select force" in top readiness by July 1.

Food Locker Firm Ordered To Clean Up

The new manager of the Marin Frozen Food Lockers in San Anselmo has been ordered by the county to clean up unsanitary conditions at the lockers immediately and was given 30 days to correct several construction problems.

Arthur M. Martinson, principal sanitarian for the Marin County Health Department, said he inspected the lockers on an anonymous phone tip Thursday, and found rotten meat scraps and remains of what could have been maggots by the meat-cutting block, as well as building problems, including a broken window and a water heater in a room with no ventilation.

David Mortimer, manager of the lockers since April 1, said these conditions were the chief reason he replaced former manager Robert Harper. Mortimer said he immediately fired the remaining four employees at the lockers. He said the reason he had not corrected the conditions before Thursday's inspection is that he has spent the month training new personnel.

Martinson and Mortimer agreed that the conditions do not mean that meat taken from the locker has been unsanitary.

Disclosure Allowed On Induction Lists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System says lists of registrants ordered for induction can be made public at the discretion of state directors and local draft boards.

The Associated Press Managing Editors Association had asked that names of inductees be released to newspapers. The request was made to Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, by Hu Blonk of the Wenatchee (Wash.) Daily World.

WHAT MAKES A HAPPY FAMILY?

It's something we all want, for ourselves and for the world. But if we work within the limits of human frailties, a happy family may seem a difficult goal. What we need is a new approach . . . a spiritual dimension that puts God at the center of all family relationships. Hear this lecture "What Makes a Happy Family?" by HARRY S. You give up things when you buy the Mercedes-Benz 230S. Things like rattles, rust, and shabby workmanship.

A pox on the status symbol that's all glitter and no guts. At $4,900, the Mercedes-Benz 230S is an efficient machine, built to endure. Its body is welded 10,000 times—and painted with 7 enamel coats. A 24-pound layer of undercoating stifles rust. Read on for the full story of why the Mercedes-Benz 230S is a shrewd investment indeed.

Mercedes-Benz engineers refuse to make changes for the sake of change. Superficial styling changes don't make a car better—in fact, they often hinder real technical advances.

And the 230S body is advanced—it's arc welded at 10,000 points. After 50,000 miles, you may begin to wonder if it will ever rattle.

Nor is it likely to rust. The entire body is plunged out of sight in a primer bath before painting. A tough caulking coat swirls into every crevice, every pore. No sooner is the primer baked on than a 24-pound spraying of plasticized undercoat seals the car's underbody against the menace of road salt and rust.

Then comes paint—49 pounds of it, spread on in 7 careful layers. The final coat is hand sprayed, in a paint shop cleaner than a hospital operating room.

Note to nitpickers: You won't find lumpy "orange peel" flaws in the paint. And you won't find pits in the chrome. It's backed by two platings of copper and one of nickel over a steel base. Rust and rot are thwarted again.

The 230S' 6-cylinder engine is designed to last the life of the car. It is so perfectly balanced (engine tolerances are as fine as 4/10,000ths of an inch) that you can keep it humming almost endlessly at near maximum speeds—with no hint of strain.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785 to $4,065

Maybe you can afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Suggested retail prices* for a few popular models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
230SL Roadster	6,262
230S Sedan	4,900
230 Sedan	4,250
200 Diesel Sedan	4,280
200 Sedan	4,065

*West Coast ports of entry, exclusive of state and local taxes if any.

Sixty-minute engine test

Every 230S engine hums for an hour at the factory on a special test stand. To flush away every speck of dirt and debris, engine oil is changed 62 times during this trial run.

This engine measures about half the size of a domestic V8. Yet the 230S hits a peak speed of 109 mph and in normal driving squeezes over 20 miles from a gallon.

A lesson from racing

"Mercedes-Benz engineers know how to build sports car handling qualities into a family sedan—there's no doubt about that in our minds," comments CAR LIFE magazine.

With rear swing axle, wheels act independently.

The engineers learned how by building a world championship sports-racing car, the 300SLR. Then they adapted its suspension to Mercedes-Benz sedans.

All 4 wheels on the 230S are separately sprung. They soak up ruts and bumps without sending shivers through the whole body.

If this system weren't so costly to build, American cars might have it. No full-sized domestic car does.

European tourists: You'll see the 300SLR at the Daimler-Benz Museum in Stuttgart-Untertürkheim. You'll spot a few dozen other famous racing machines too; Mercedes-Benz has won 4,403 competitions and 5 world championships in the past 70 years.

Forget brake fade

The 230S weighs 1½ tons. Caliper-type, 9-inch disc brakes at front (where 70% of the car's weight is shifted in stopping) help supply braking ability adequate for twice this weight.

Disc brakes shrug off heat buildup in hard use. You can virtually forget the threat of fading (pass the good news along to your wife; it will do wonders for her driving morale).

Science defeats fatigue

Long trips are no ordeal in the 230S. Seats front and rear are almost chair height. They're deeply contoured and firmly padded (just like the doctor ordered—orthopedic physicians guided seat design).

You can tilt both individual front-seat backs to 4 reclining positions. On hot, humid days you'll feel the benefit of those thousands of miniscule air vents in the seat material. Your body won't seem as if it's plastered to a sheet of flypaper.

Comfort without trivia

Mercedes-Benz engineers waste no time on frivolous gadgets. No built-in record players, no card tables, no coffee urns. Yet sensible amenities abound. Item: Small nozzles at either end of the instrument panel. They shoot warm air to defrost the front side windows.

Purists: Note that wood-grain instrument panel trim. Contrary to a popular trend, it's real wood. Contrary to another popular trend, it fits. So does everything else on the 230S. One of every 11 Mercedes-Benz employees is an inspector to keep it that way.

Safety is an obligation

Mercedes-Benz considers safety a sober obligation—not a public relations problem. Safety starts with basic car design, not a few tacked-on afterthoughts.

The 230S body is a patented safety feature. Front and rear sections are designed to yield on violent impact, absorbing shock before it can reach the passenger area. Front disc brakes and a dual circuit brake system are standard equipment. The vital matter of tires—so often neglected in new cars—is solved with super premium-grade tires on every 230S. Door locks are designed to keep doors shut in collisions from any angle. Inside, there are no sharp edges. Safety padding extends even to the steering wheel hub—and the rear vision mirror is spring mounted, to break away on heavy impact.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

The Viruses Which Elude Most Germicides Can Be Inactivated

VAN DELLEN

Viruses elude most germicides, including the sulfonamides and antibiotics. Recently it was demonstrated that many are inactivated by a 90 to 95 per cent solution of ethyl alcohol, sodium hypochlorite (200 ppm.), or a five per cent concentration of carbolic acid.

Lord Lister selected the latter as a microbe killer 100 years ago. This English surgeon used remarkable judgment and became the first advocate of antiseptics in the operating room and for infections. He even sprayed carbolic acid into the air during surgery and whenever it was necessary to expose open wounds.

Dr. Morton Klein of Temple University conducted laboratory tests with these antiseptics and found that all had anti-viral powers in the concentrations mentioned.

IN HIS OPINION, ethyl alcohol should be standard equipment in every doctor's bag.

Sodium hypochlorite is an effective bactericide and virucide for cleaning equipment in medical offices and laboratories. It also inactivates viruses when used in the laundry of families with a viral illness.

He found that most germicides and detergents used as disinfectants in restaurants and the food industry were ineffective against many common viruses responsible for respiratory infections.

A PROTEIN jacket protects the active infectious genetic core of the virus and is essential to the life of the microbe. Anything that dissolves this coating destroys the virus unless the critter first enters a cell where it sheds its jacket and is capable of causing disease.

Each viral coating is composed of different chemicals and some are more difficult to inactivate than others. Those with fatty and protein coverings are more easily destroyed.

The body cells manufacture protective interferon in response to infection by a variety of viruses. The substance has been isolated and many interesting laboratory experiments have been conducted.

NONE HAVE proved practical but the potential is there. We need an internal remedy not only to destroy viruses that cause infection but to eradicate those responsible for certain cancers.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

GOOSE GREASE

Mrs. M. writes: Will rubbing goose grease on the chest do any good in the case of a cold?

REPLY

This remedy went out of fashion with the appearance of salicylates and the steam kettle. Youngsters of the goose grease era hesitated to admit to discomfort from a cold because the smell of the treatment was worse than the ailment.

NOT RELATED

K. S. D. writes: Could a slight trace of albumin in the urine be due to gall bladder disease?

REPLY

No. Our leaflet on albuminuria describes the various causes of albumin in the urine. It can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

RECOVERY PERIOD

Mrs. B. writes: How soon after gall bladder surgery is a woman healed enough to resume normal activities?

REPLY

Three weeks for a woman of leisure and three months for the janitress who does heavy work.

PROSTATE AND DIET

R. G. writes: Does prostate gland trouble call for a diet of any kind?

REPLY

No, except to avoid highly spiced foods and alcohol, which have a tendency to irritate the bladder wall.

BOTH ARE IN LUNGS

M. P. writes: Is emphysema a first cousin to tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. Both are chest diseases, but tuberculosis represents infection and emphysema, stretching and dilation of lung sacs along with partial obstruction of the bronchi.

CLEAR UP INFECTION

Mrs. S. M. writes: Is it safe for a person with a kidney infection to go on a reducing diet?

REPLY

Yes, but why not do one thing at a time? After the kidney infection is eliminated you can concentrate on your obesity.

Today's Health Hint—

L. T. writes: In your article on neurotics, I found an exact description of myself. What is the cure?

REPLY

See a psychiatrist if the condition interferes with your work, efficiency, happiness, or ability to get along with others. If the neurotic tendencies are not this extreme, try spending a little more time thinking about others rather than yourself.

MOUNTAIN VACATION

S. F. writes: Is it dangerous for a person who has recovered from a stroke to go to the Catskill mountains for a holiday? The altitude is higher than in Brooklyn.

REPLY

No, and the change may be greatly appreciated—especially when the weather is warmer.

Salesman Hit With Tire Iron On City Street

A 21-year-old television cable salesman was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after being attacked with a tire iron in San Rafael Friday.

According to San Rafael police, Walter Earl Cox of 15 Marion Court was partially paralyzed and suffered a head wound when assaulted somewhere on Fourth Street shortly after 7 p.m.

Cox told police he wasn't sure of the location because he is a recent arrival and not familiar with San Rafael streets. The attack occurred after two men in their mid-20s started making remarks about Cox's appearance, police reported. A fight began and one of the men hit Cox with the tire iron, police said.

Cox was treated at San Rafael General Hospital and then transferred to Marin General.

Planning Commission Undecided On Zone

The Marin County Planning Commisison today was unable to make a decision on proposed recreational zoning for 500 acres between the proposed new runway of the Marin County Airport and Petaluma River.

Mrs. Evelyn Allison, one of the owners (Bodkin Estate), protested that the change from the present agricultural zone would increase taxes on the land and make it hard to get a chance if some other use were more desirable.

Mrs. Allison and commissioners agreed that residences should not be allowed on the property because of its proximity to the airport.

Commisisoner Claude Stoller wondered if the balance was right between the proposed recreational zone and other lands around the airport zoned earlier for planned industrial use.

Commissioner Michael Praszker said economics were also a factor and it might not be feasible to do a great deal of filling of the low lands for such things as automobile racing, suggested by the planning staff as one of the recreational uses.

Commissioner William F. Upton moved adoption of the recreational zone, but his motion failed to get a second. The commission later voted 6-0, with Commissioner Hugh Dougherty absent, to continue consideration of the change until June 6.

Investment Plan Dies At Bridge Board Meeting

A motion to deposit its cash at higher interest rates died on the vine at Friday's meeting of the Golden Gate Bridge District directors.

Director Stephan Leonoudakis renewed the request he made at the March 25th meeting to change board policy and deposit the money in banks paying 5 per cent instead of the present 4⅞ per cent interest. The motion failed for lack of a second.

College Anniversary Will Stress Future

College of Marin is celebrating its 40th anniversary this week with an emphasis on the new, rather than the old.

The college, which opened in 1926 with 13 acres, a three-story, 40-year-old mansion and barn worth $26,000, will mark its anniversary by dedicating the new, million dollar college center.

Officially the college's birthday is recognized as May 7, the date in 1926 when voters elected the first board of trustees of the Marin Junior College District.

This year's celebration, though, will come Friday, May 6, when the Associated Students of the college host a dinner for 350 persons in the College Center to commemorate the anniversary and dedicate the building.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. with invocation by Rev. Surgit Singh, professor at San Francisco Theological Seminary. Master of ceremonies will be Michael Kawai, public relations commissioner for the Associated Students.

Eight selections will be sung by the College of Marin Madrigal Singers, who will perform a concert the following night in Olney Hall on the campus.

There will be brief talks by College President Stephen E. Epler, Associated Students President Allen Kelley, Alumni Assn. President Emerson Byrd, College Center Commissioner Donna Ryan, and Corwin Booth, of Falk and Booth Architects, designers of the building.

The junior college district board of trustees will be introduced and President Elizabeth M. Deedy will give a dedication speech and present a plaque for the building, which opened in February.

The dinner will close with benediction by Rev. Terrance McCabe, adviser to the Newman Club. Guests will tour the building, following which the Alumni Assn. will hold a reception in the student lounge of the College Center.

Park Bond Drive Planning To Begin

Planning the campaign for the $4.3 million county bond issue for purchase and development of parks will begin in a session at 8 p.m. today at the Civic Center.

County Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, co-chairmen of the bond drive, have called the meeting, requesting representation of all the cities and of special districts which are in the recreation business.

The issue will go to voters June 7.

Foundation Seeks Money For Seal

The Sausalito Foundation, short $475 for the recasting of the seal near Tiffany Beach along Bridgeway, today invited anyone interested to help cover the remainder of the cost by donations.

Alice T. Williams, foundation publicity chairman, said the foundation guaranteed to provide the needed money—to be added to $1,400 voted by the city council and $1,400 provided by the foundation—but was waiting for interested parties to come up with donations.

So far, there has been one contribution, that of $475 from Hilary Belloc. Another $475 is needed to get the seal recast in bronze. Tax-free donations may be sent to the foundation, post office Box 567, Sausalito.

Postal Branch Bids Requested

The Post Office Department has called for bids to operate two postal stations in San Rafael, one ine the Northgate-Terra Linda area, the other at the Montecito Shopping Center.

The facilities will offer money order, registry, parcel post and C.O.D. services and the sale of postal items, but no delivery of mail.

Bid forms, which must be submitted in quadruplicate by May 16, may be obtained at the San Rafael Post Office.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'Professor' Tells Intricacies Of Educanto By Educantists

The citizen interested in the public schools is often baffled by the langage spoken and written by teachers and school administrators.

He soon learns that it is not standard English, but an official language of the educational establishment — a strange neology which has been called by many names, but has been particularly aptly christened "educanto."

If the citizen wishes to understand the educators, then he must learn their language. Since there is no Berlitz course in educanto — and, indeed, not even a textbook on it — perhaps the few "ABCs of Educanto" which follow may help.

Although educanto sounds like a foreign language, it really isn't. It is achieved by mutilating English in accordance with a few relatively simple rules. Here are some of them:

A. Prolixity. Avoidance of brevity is a cardinal principle. The educantist never lets one word suffice where more can be used. It is never "reading," but always "reading skills"; never "learning," but always "learning experience."

Through diligent application, a teacher of median ability grouping as indicated by weighted results of empirical tests administered by qualified personnel can succeed in a significant number of instances in supplanting the simple noun with an erudite but nevertheless ambiguous phrase.

(That sentence constitutes a fair sample of beginner's educanto and is recommended for study.)

B. Indirection. Educanto is designed to enable the educator to state his arguments in language that may be variously interpreted. It therefore combines indirection with prolixity. Often, this so buries the point that none but the skilled educantist will ever find it.

For instance, a Bay Area Educational Research Service bulletin on "Prevention and Correction of Underachievement," published at Alameda in 1963, dealt largely with the dropout problem; but it should be noted that there was no mention of dropouts in either the title or this admirably indirect opening:

"Underachievement in the form of definite failure on the part of many elementary and secondary school students, of all levels of ability, to achieve reasonably well in relation to their potential is an increasingly serious educational problem in practically all schools and communities. Effective provisions for dealing with this problem are urgently needed in order to forestall the long-term ill effects which underachievement has upon the students themselves, their families, and their communities."

It might be well to mention that six and one-half pages later, this report observed that it may be regarded as a symptom of underachievement when a pupil is two years older than his classmates. This illustrates how ably educanto can embroider the obvious.

C. Antiphrasis. This is the use of words to mean something they do not mean. In educanto, the substitute must be one which by subtle distortion can be made to apear as a synonym (or even a refinement) for a word which actually has a very different meaning.

Thus the educator never refers to "dull children" when such words as "disadvantaged," "exceptional," etc., are available. Similarly, none would write of "bright children" when they can be referred to as "more able learners," gifted," etc. (I recently noted a particularly happy educantese phrase: "the reluctantly gifted.")

D. Obscurity. This is the cardinal requirement of educanto, attained by combining prolixity, indirection, and antiphrasis.

I found a beautiful example of how obscure the language can be rendered in a paper delivered at a symposium on "The Changing West: Implications for Higher Education," held in Boulder, Colo., in 1964 by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education. One paragraph of it will suffice:

"For some of us the faith in a homeostatic model of society with intrinsic and reliable self-regulatory stabilization, which must be vigilantly protected from the meddling of planners, is bright and hopeful. Others among us are both sobered and exhilarated by the scientific conceptualization of physical, biological, psychological and social orderliness and disorderliness—a conceptualization with the derivative directives for effective control and facilitation of human and natural happenings which are the constantly altering and augmenting heritage of the scientific age of western culture."

The author of that really had an unfair advantage. He was Prof. Edward Steinbrook of the department of psychology at University of Southern California School of Medicine — a man able to combine the obscure lexicons of psychology, medicine and education.

Anyone able to understand it certainly should be entitled to his Ed. D. in educanto.

Novato Police Praise Witness

"Bonomolo assisted the Novato Police Department voluntarily, without compensation and danger to life and limb because of his professed interest in eliminating the marijuana situation in Novato," the chief said. Arrested was John Rundle of 1363 Cambridge Street, Novato.

According to Chief Di Grazia, Bonomolo approached the police in February with his suspicions of marijuana sales in Novato and later, under police supervision, purchased marijuana through Rundle. The chief said Bonomolo had bought marijuana from three different sellers in Novato.

Quartermaster School

Seaman Apprentice Robert R. Bangs Jr. of 24 Oakdale Avenue, San Rafael, has been selected for training as a quartermaster and will attend Quartermaster's School in San Diego. Afterwards he will report for duty aboard the destroyer escort, Briston.

Angel Island Garrison Opens

The West Garrison of Angel Island, used by the Army almost continuously from 1863 through 1962, is now open to the public.

State park officials said that visitors may walk the parade grounds and view buildings in the garrison but will not be allowed to enter biuldings as many are in unsafe condition.

Up to now only the area around Hospital Cove (Ayala Cove) has been open to the walking public; an "elephant train" takes visitors on a ride around the island.

Bolinas Tour To Hunt Surf, Swim Sites

A tour is planned of Bolinas Beach to check the best places for surfers to surf and swimmers to swim.

Members of Bolinas Community Center Friday night decided Melton Ferris, a member of the parks and recreation commission as well as the community group, and sheriff's deputy Jack Santos should make a check of the beach to find out the best positions for notices to be erected this weekend.

Earlier the center had agreed areas of the beach should be designated for the different sports to avoid accidents and misunderstandings.

Marge Dougan, 17-year-old daughter of vice president James Dougan, was selected to be "Queen" of Bolinas at the West Marin Livestock Show. Sponsored by the center, Marge will be among four girls from West Marin communities who will line up to be judged as queen of the show June 26.

It was announced the bloodmobile from Irwin Blood Bank will be at the community center from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. May 28.

Submarine Orders

Home on leave until May 11, Seaman Apprentice Gregg E. Sparks of 227 Richardson Drive, Mill Valley, has orders to report aboard the submarine, Volador, as a quartermaster. The submarine is based at San Diego.

Bridging Generation Gap Is Parents' Aim

A group of southern Marin adults have formed an organization calling itself Sponsors for Teens in an attempt to "bridge the generation gap with love and understanding."

The parent members, centered in Corte Madera, Larkspur and Tiburon, have sponsored ice skating and roller skating parties for teen-agers and at 8 p.m. Monday will sponsor a public talk by James Soetaert, director of field services for the Marin County Probation Department, on "Juvenile Laws of Marin County."

Tour Of Six Belvedere Homes

By BETTY FROST

Six outstanding residences will be open to public view during the 16th annual Belvedere House Tour which will be given by St. Stephens Guild from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 11.

An addition to last year's tour proved so popular that it is being continued—the country picnic luncheon served at Whitaker Hall at noon. Tea will be served beginning at 2:30 p.m. at the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere, where the tour originates and concludes. Parking is available to tour guests at the Yacht Club and a shuttle system of station wagons driven by guild volunteers will take the visitors to three homes on the Belvedere hillside, one on the west shore and a home and a apartment on the Belvedere Lagoon.

ON DISPLAY will be the homes of Ernest Mendenhall Jr., Basil Knauth, E. Coleman Dick, Edwin Weed, H. Corwin Hinshaw and the apartment of Mrs. Noble Newsom.

Mrs. James Crittenden and Mrs. Robert W. Morrison are co-chairmen; Mrs. Mark Noble Jr., and Mrs. Willard Pittman, transportation chairmen; Mrs. Christopher Peacock and Mrs. Wililam Myers, luncheon chairmen; Mrs. Jack Welisch, table setting and flower arrangements; Mrs. Thomas Fleming Jr., reservations chairman, and Mesdames Bennett Wren, Robert Ingram, Walter P. Simi, Frank G. King, Dick De Berry, Gerald Stratford, Albert Harris Jr., Thomas Fleming and Dickerson McAfee, committee members.

Local artists Suzanne Himmelwright, Hazel Stitt and Nelcy Tarics will have paintings displayed at the San Francisco Yacht Club.

THE COMPACT and shipshape new home of Dr. and Mrs. H. Corwin Hinshaw designed by Allan Steinau on the west shore has an open feeling. From the broad deck on Richardson Bay they can cast their lines to bring in flounder, smelt and perch. The swimming pool is a step away from the living room with its small kitchen and dining room area. Sailboats offshore are well within the view of the living and bedroom decks. The Hinshaws' three years in Beirut yielded prayer rugs, copper and brass mosque candlesticks, dower crests intricately carved by the Druse tribes near Damascus combine with a Sylvia Fine painting, an Archipenko sculpture.

A LAGOON HOUSE designed by architect Adrian Malone for privacy and space through use of a courtyard garden into which all rooms open is the result of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Knauths' determination to use all of the property inside enclosing walls, according to the ancient Oriental concept. Decorator Hy Cook recently completed the interior, which is notable for the continuity of color. Each shade of the handblocked linen draperies and upholstery fabrics in the living room has been re-emphazised in the other rooms. The Oriental expression of the house is more Thai than Japanese.

MR. AND MRS. E. COLEMAN DICK'S Clarence Mayhew-designed house on a hilltop in Belvedere is an example of elegant perfection. Now that its owners have finished, it is hard to believe that this team of decorator-designers moved into the house only last September. In the slate-covered entrance hall, two black kid covered settees flank a hooded fireplace. Shelves of books line one wall and through the glass wall opposite one sees the formal pool area with its Chinese elm for shade. On the view terace are three new Chinese elms, and a walk around the grounds provides glimpses of Japanese maples, and a wide variety of rare botanical shrubs.

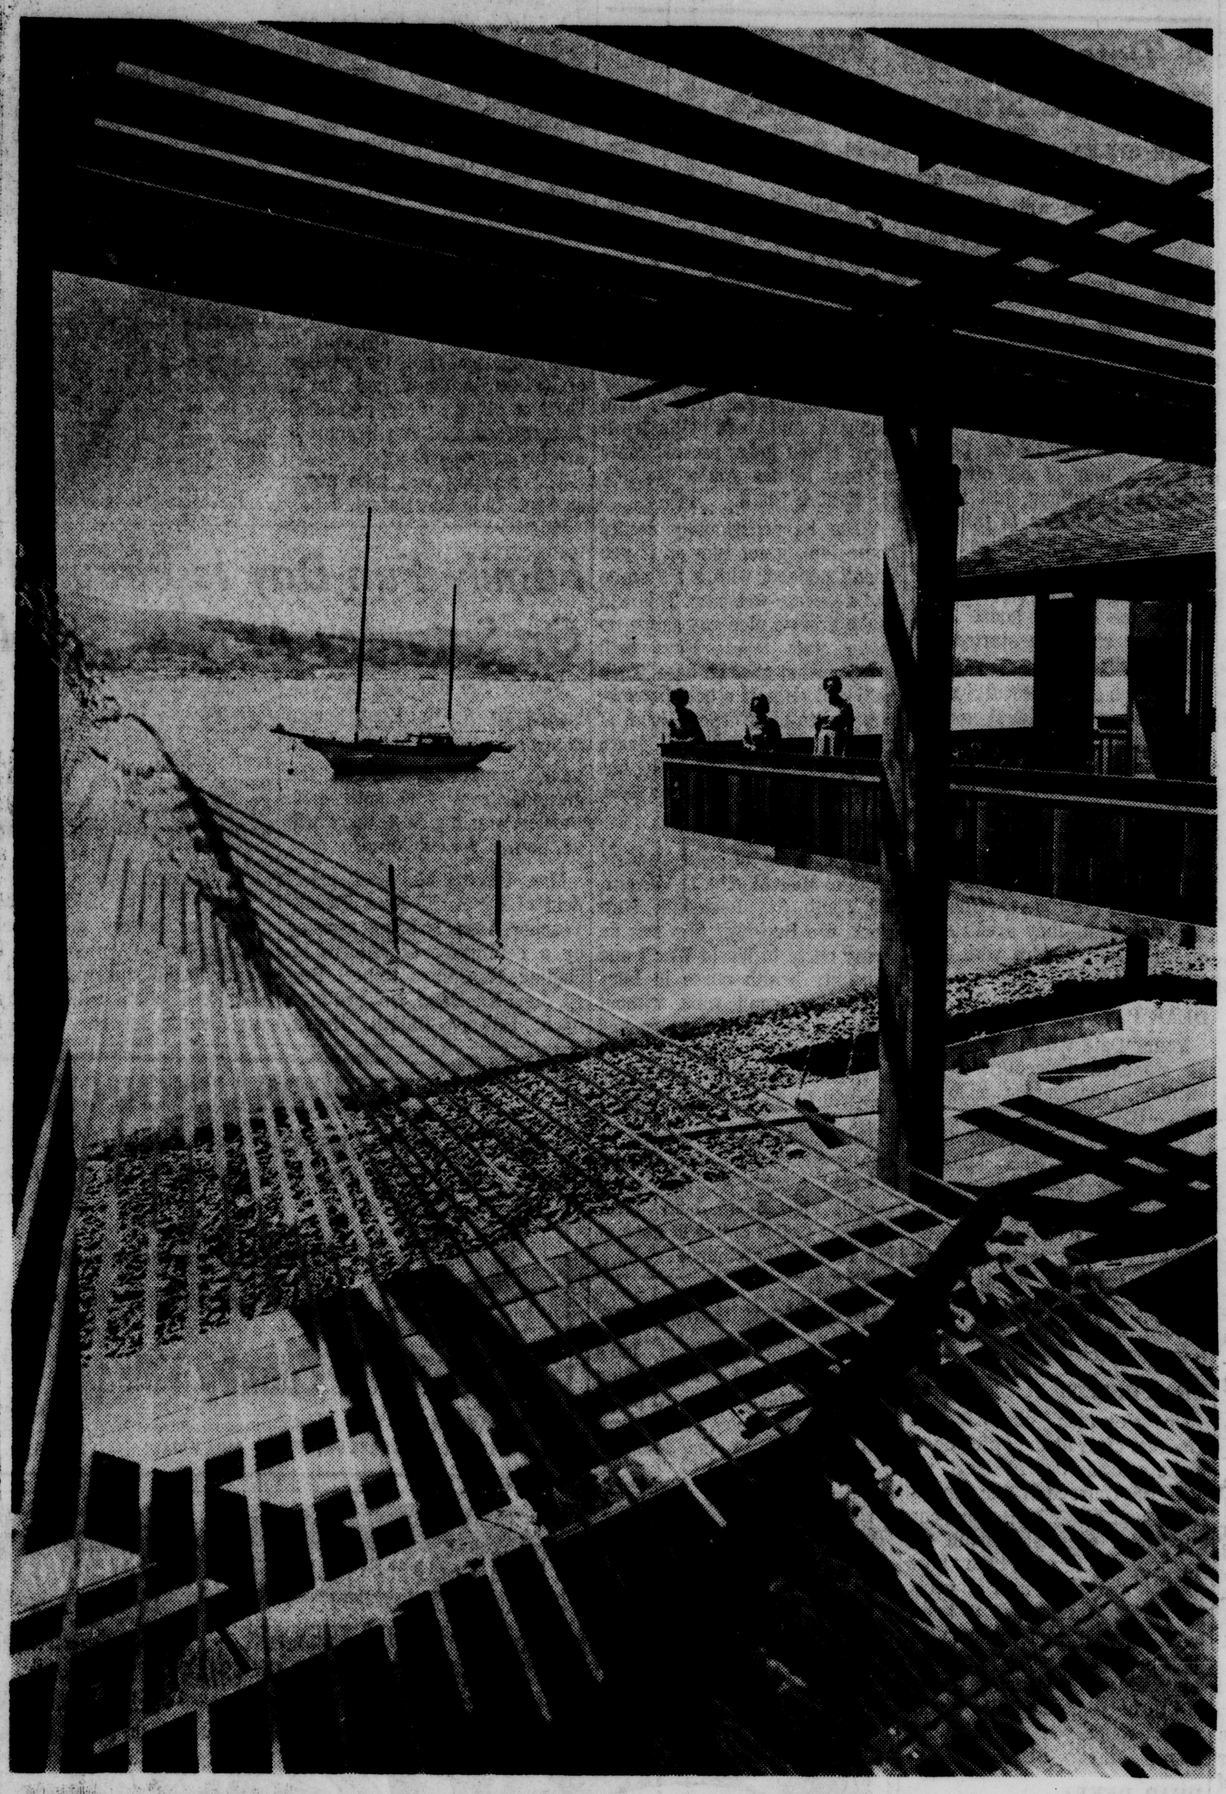
IT IS HARD to believe that Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Weed's home was built in 1964, so mellow is the light, so rightly evocative of a former era are the colors and design by Mrs. Weed and her decorator, Norma Lincoln. Especially effective is the wood paneling designed by the architects Charles Porter and Robert Steinwedell, who have provided an imaginative background for the owners' antique collection. Every room and the two balconies offer delightful views.

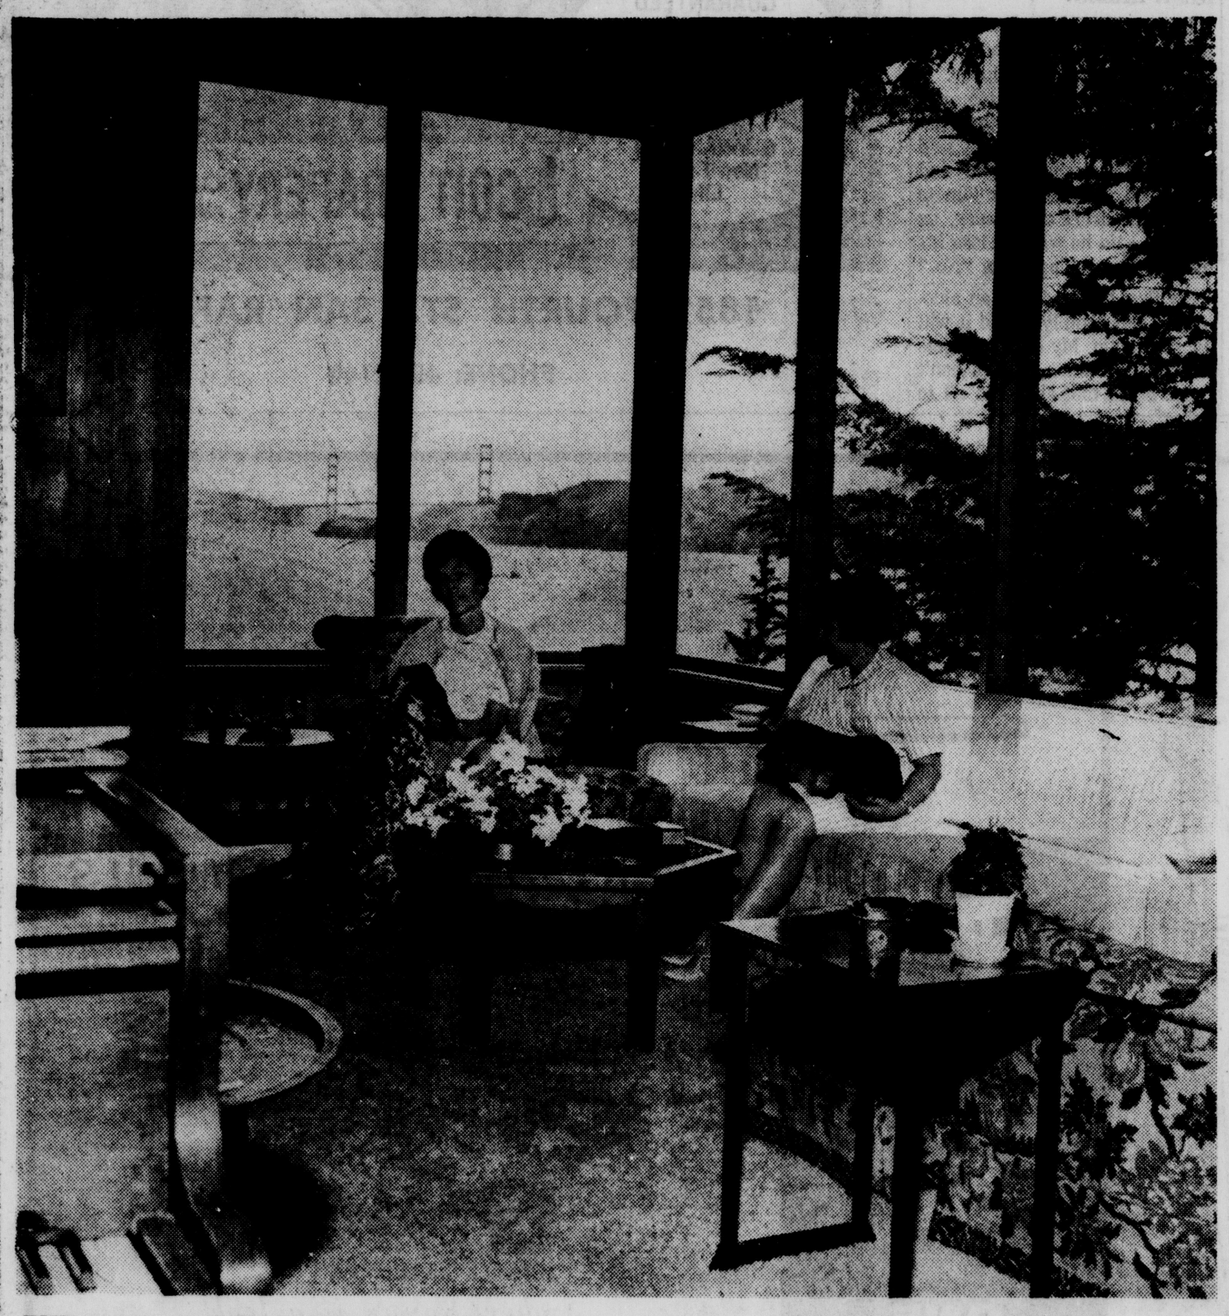
"I WANT A COUNTRY house with French provincial feeling on the west side of Belvedere," Mrs. Ernest D. Mendenhall Jr. said to her father, architect Ben W. Spaulding, "a house the children will enjoy" and then they went to work to produce a warm, friendly house, full of surprises: the 1915 gas stove in the kitchen for example. The brick-tiled kitchen with its cozy fireplace is the heart of the house. There are 'Salinas Gothic' schoolroom chairs where the children eat their suppers, and in the dining room a chandelier which Mrs. Mendenhall designed from an old San Francisco feed and grain company barrel. Mrs. Mendenhall's study, done in black and white, full of souvenirs, trophies, expresses his life-long interest in race-car driving — among the trophies are such rarities as the four decorated plates presented to him after he won the West Coast championship in the Porsche class.

THE RARE GIFTS and warm charm of a lady of the old school are apparent in the Lagoon apartment of Mrs. Noble Newsom, where she enjoys the furnishings and art objects she has been collecting all her life.

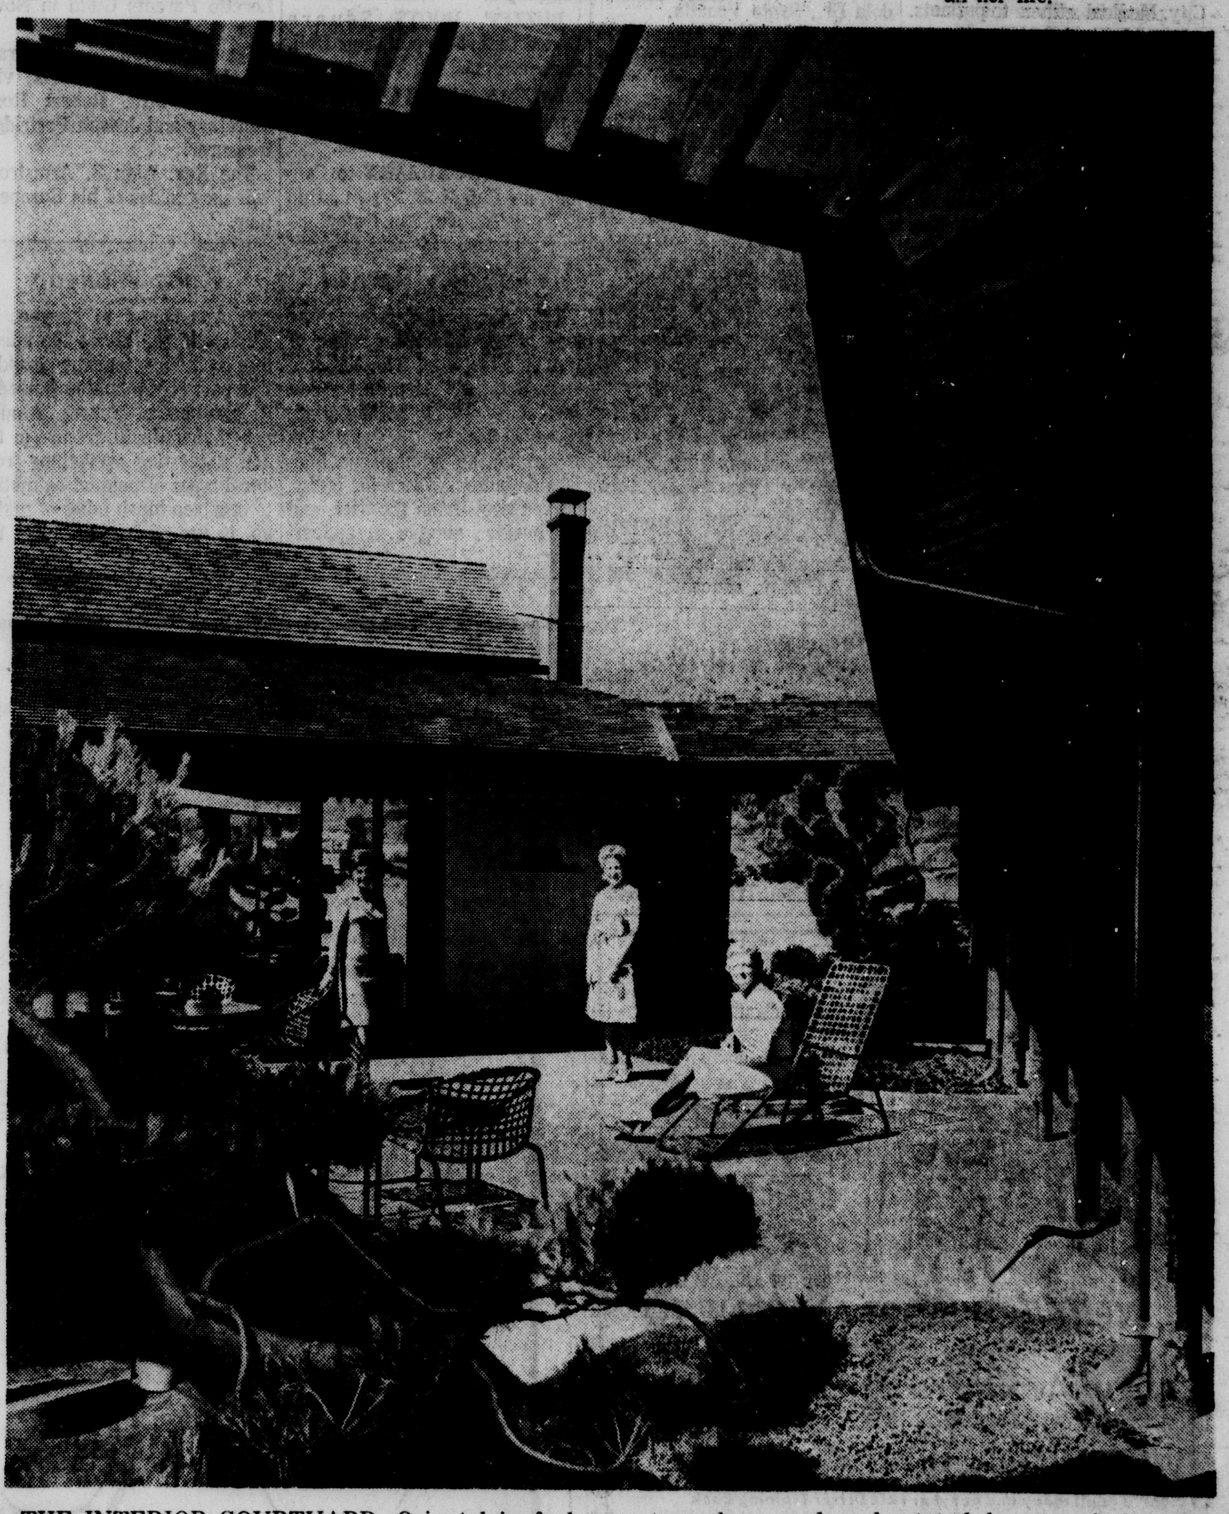


WITH THE HAMMOCK in the airy cabana inviting relaxation, Mesdames H. Corwin Hinshaw, Robert W. Morrison and John Wiley admire a motor sailer at anchor in Richardson Bay and the spectacular view from the Hinshaws' deck. The house will be on the 16th annual Belvedere house tour, to be held May 11, starting from the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

SEATED IN THE LUXURIOUS living room of the lavish E. Coleman Dick house atop Belvedere Island are Mrs. Christopher Peacock and Mrs. William Myers, luncheon co-chairmen, looking toward the pool area with its classic statues and marble bench, where Mesdames Robert W. Morrison, Robert Ingram and E. Coleman Dick are strolling. The home is one of six Belvedere dwellings to be displayed from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 11 during the Belvedere house tour.



THE WARM EARTH TONES, yellow, brown and orange used in the decor make the new home of the Edwin G. Weeds particularly inviting and hospitable. Mrs. Albert H. Harris Jr., with Hans, the German short hair pointer, and Margot Weed, with the dachsund Wunderbar, discuss plans for the Belvedere house tour May 11. The Weed home, built on three levels on a difficult and steep site, commands a breath-taking outlook of the Golden Gate Bridge.



THE INTERIOR COURTYARD, Oriental in feeling, is the heart of the Belvedere Lagoon home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Knauth. Enjoying the serene atmosphere and understated beauty of the enclosed courtyard garden are Mesdames J. P. Silvestri Jr., Walter Simi and Frank G. King.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

A 'Date With Dad' Program Should Be Standard Practice

DEAR HELEN:

So many times youngsters are super saturated with "Mama," but don't really get to know their Dads. For this reason, we've established a regular "Date With Dad" program at our house. Every week one of our children takes his turn for an all-alone trip with my husband. It can be a ride downtown, or a visit to the beach, maybe a tour of his office, a boat ride—anything, just so the child has a chance to talk and be friends with his father. Perhaps they don't even talk up a storm, but they're close. We've found the whole house runs smoother since we started our "Date With Dad."

Those quiet moments when each is an individual to the other make very strong ties. In the beginning the outings (with perhaps a soda and hamburger along the line) were for all the children, but we found one at a time is best. When all go, they compete for attention, or else they spend the time scuffling in the back seat—they aren't really with Dad, they're with each other.—PAT

DEAR PAT:

Your "Date With Dad" should be standard procedure in all families. Thanks for a lovely idea.—H.

P.S. Come to think of it, a weekly "Date With Mate"—minus offspring—puts the spring back in marriage. . .And it's important too, for children to spend alone-time with their mothers. Nothing makes a young person feel more important than to have a parent all to himself on a special occasion.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Do "Yes men" climb faster? The rest of us at the office don't make waves, but at least we have the courage of our convictions, and state 'em. This one guy won't open his mouth till he finds out what the boss thinks, and then he's a vocal carbon copy. I happen to know how he stood on things a year ago, in another job. It isn't like now, and if he switches bosses it will be something else again. What would you say about a man like that?—DEKE

DEAR DEKE:

He sounds like an opportunist who has the courage of his connections.

DEAR HELEN:

I am miserable. Last night my husband (of 10 months) did not come home for supper. It happened a week ago too, and a few other times in the past months, but not often. He said he is not wearing a ball and chain and if friends ask him to stop for a drink after work, he will. He said he will not lose his manhood by telling them "No."

My first husband was an alcoholic. I am deathly afraid it will happen again. My daughter gets so nervous when Bill doesn't come home that she goes all to pieces. She knows what it's like. So do I.

My husband says we are making a big thing of this. I don't want to lose him to the bottle. Whatever can I do?—BILL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

You should know that visible hand-wringing can turn a man stubborn. And you'd better learn soon: If you judge present mate by past failure you're bucking for Failure No. 2.

When he occasionally comes home late, greet him as if you hadn't noticed, with a big smile and a sincere welcome. This will make a basic nice guy shape up faster than tears: First he'll wonder what goes on here. Then he'll call himself a heel because you haven't. (Not out loud of course.) And thus he'll learn consideration—because he has a good teacher. You'll see.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would some of your readers write to Miss Martha D. Havens, 933 South St., Peekskill, New York, c/o Buckley? She was an Army nurse in World War I and a county health nurse in later years. She can't walk without help and even sitting up in bed is a treat. Cards and letters will do much to dispel her loneliness. She will be 80 in July.—NED

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

PLAY REVIEW

'Sound Of Murder' Exciting, Chilling

By KARL BARRON

"The Sound of Murder" is an exciting and at times chilling sound in the production by the Cove Players which opened Friday night at the Main Street Theater in Tiburon.

A British thriller staged by Dion Chesse, with his usual tightness, "The Sound of Murder" is not a who-done-it, but rather a you-know-who-done-it-but-how's-he-going-to-get-away-with-it. It will be repeated on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 through May 21.

It is the story of Charles Norbury, who writes Peter Wabbit type childrens' stories, and who is in real life—as described in the script—"a bahstud." His wife Anne, and her lover, Peter Marriott, plot to kill him. The plan is thwarted, temporarily by his secretary, Miss Forbes, but then the plot thickens, quickens and jells to a socko final curtain.

Playwright William Fairchild has used every trick in the bag to maintain suspense, but manages to disguise his unoriginal strategems well. The result is good theater.

Chesse's cast, with one exception, turns in a smooth performance, and by next weekend, should have picked up the first act, which lagged when I saw it.

Abe Kalish, as Norbury, turns in a first-rate characterization, making us dislike him utterly without ever resorting to overdoing the part. I'm sure that as you watch him, you'll find yourself saying, "I know a bahstud just like that!"

Miss Forbes, a love-lorn maiden lady who keeps repeating that she's 39 until she sounds like Jack Benny, is played with expert timing and deep feeling by Joan McKinney. Miss McKinney is a villainess, but we are never in doubt as to her logical motivation and the belated announcement of her refusal to follow through on her villainy is quite believable in light of what she has shown us of Miss Forbes during her time on stage.

As Anne Norbury, Sara Davis is required to strike an emotional peak from her initial entrance and maintain it to the final curtain. She does so convincingly, but could profit from some variation. For example, when Peter is detailing a seemingly ridiculous portion of the murder plot, he pauses and says, "It's nothing to laugh at." Miss Davis has been watching him with the tenseness of a trapped bird, and most certainly has not laughed. She might note that some laughter is heard at funerals, subdued, but nevertheless there.

Which brings us to the play's only weak link. Peter Marriott is a character who plots murder with the cool detachment of a tremendously strong intellectual, able to divorce emotion from clear thought. To be believable he must at all times carry an inner fire that puts across that detachment.

Peter Fitzhugh, unfortunately, is detached to the point of vacuity. He plots as though he were planning a tea with the vicar, who is often mentioned but never seen. I did not believed he loved Anne; I did not believe he hated Charles; I simply did not believe. If Fitzhugh can rescue a character from what he did the first weekend, it will be the play's biggest surprise.

However, the rest of the cast rescues him, and it's still a worthwhile production. Truly amazing is the technical excellence of the tiny playhouse above Tiburon Tommie's. Dorothy Carter's set is pleasantly functional, with room for the actors on stage, though I understand they have little back stage, and Mary Hueston's lighting design is unobstrusively excellent.

Journalist To Speak At College

John Peer Nugent, correspondent for "Newsweek" magazine who has covered the Congo, will talk on "Africa in Revolt—the Congo" Wednesday at the College of Marin.

Nugent opened the magazine's first African bureau in 1961 and remained in the country for three and one-half years, twice escaping death before firing squads while on assignment.

He will speak at 8 p.m. at Olney Hall as part of the college's spring concert-lecture series. His talk, which will replace a scheduled speech by "Saturday Review" television critic Robert Shayon, is free.

Nugent now works in the "Newsweek" Los Angeles office. He wrote of his experiences as a correspondent in "Africa 999." He was deported from South Africa once for his writings.

Novato Trustees To See Budget

Novato Unified School District trustees will receive the preliminary budget for the 1967 fiscal year at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

Subscriptions For Music Chest

Marin County Music Chest has extended its curren subscription drive for the summer concert series until May 14, Mrs. Samuel Archibald, president, announced today.

The chest's 32nd season opens June 19 at 3 p.m. with a concert given at Forest Meadows, Dominican College, San Rafael by William Warfield, bass-baritone. Warfield will star in "Show Boat" at Lincoln Center in New York this year.

Mrs. Archibald said the first two districts to exceed last year's quota of subscriptions were Hamilton Air Force Base, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Wayne Thurman, and Sonoma, with Mrs. Edgar Touraine as chairman. The chest's county headquarters are at 1133 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Margery Tede Lead Singer For Opera

Margery Tede, San Francisco mezzo-soprano, will sing the leading role of Susan B. Anthony in the Marin Symphony Guild production, "The Mother of Us All," next Sunday at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall at Dominican College.

Guild conductor Sandor Salgo and director Kermit Sheets have assembled a cast of singers from the Bay Area and Los Angeles for the Virgil Thomson-Gertrude Stein opera, in which nearly all of the roles are of equal importance and difficulty.

Other San Franciscans include Walter Matthes in the heavy role of Daniel Webster and Elizabeth Hinther, Edward Jameson, Marie Goff and Karen Paschke.

Fourteen members of the cast are from Marin and sing with either the College of Marin Opera Workshop or Marin Pro Musica. Sydney Peterzon of Sausalito, who is cast as Lillian Russell, was awarded a contract last month with the Metropolitan Opera National Co. for a tour of 49 weeks.

Other singers are Lorie Kutzko of Sausalito; Margaret Lee, Albert Hall and Wyn Brown of Mill Valley; Kenneth Rowland of Larkspur; Marjorie Broughton of Corte Madera; J. D. Nichols and David Wade of San Anselmo; George Baker of Fairfax; Anna Secrist of Novato; Byron Jones, Tom Ingraham and Walter M. Baird of San Rafael.

Richard Magpiong of Los Angeles will repeat the role of Jo the Loiterer which he sang in the UCLA production last year.

Also traveling to Marin for rehearsals are Mildred Owen of Pacifica, Arthur Holcomb of San Jose, and Carole Burch of Stanford.

The score will be played by 46 members of the Marin Symphony Orchestra conducted by Salgo.

Marin Museum Assn. To Acquire Painting

Formal presentation of the painting will be made by the donor, Ed Cory, at a luncheon Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. at the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club.

The $3,500 Cucaro painting has been donated by Cory, owner of the Cory Gallery in San Francisco. Titled "Ruth," the picture will be presented to Mrs. Edward Hayden, association president.

The occasion is the 1966 fund drive kick-off luncheon of the Marin Museum Assn., which hopes to build a museum on a site facing the Civic Center Lagoon. Architectural design of the museum will conform to the late Frank Lloyd Wright's master plan, and is being developed by Aaron Green, San Francisco architect affiliated with the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation. Target date for starting construction is 1969.

An acquisition committee led by chairman Mrs. Lothar Salin is currently seeking exhibit and storage space in the county.

Nationally known speaker Jack Wolfram is flying from his Michigan home to address the luncheon on "The Individual in a Changing Society." Recently retired as vice president of the Oldsmobile Division of the General Motors Corp., he is president of the Jack Wolfram Foundation, which emphasizes the need to develop more cultural and artistic opportunities as one of its main projects.

CONCERT REVIEW

Youths Show Talent In Spring Concert

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Year in and year out, Hugo Rinaldi never fails to turn out a first rate youth orchestra.

In its spring concert last night at the College of Marin gymnasium, more than 80 young people in the orchestra, 40 youngsters of the workshop for strings, and two talented soloists showed that youth today can do more than make negative headlines. This is truly one of the most worthwhile projects of the Symphony Guild of Marin, which sponsors the young musicians.

The orchestra was most impressive in the exhilarating final numbers of each half of the program. Concluding the first half was the fourth movement of Dvorak's Symphony in E Minor, op. 95, which had some particularly lovely passages by seven flutes and brilliant work by the brasses.

The second half finale fairly exploded with the vigorous rhythms of Smetana's "Dance of the Comedians."

It was a pleasure to see what progress Assistant Concertmaster Eden Vaning, a high school senior, has made since we first heard her several years ago. Innately musical, she gave a fine performance of the third movement of the Violin Concerto in C Minor by Max Bruch. She should be outstanding as soon as she gains the full self-confidence needed for perfect control of tempo.

One rarely sees such poise in a very young musician as that displayed by eighth grader Jean Franzini in the third movement of Mozart's Piano Concerto in B Flat K 450. Each note of her rippling runs was crystal clear, and her total performance was marked by a strong feeling for rhythm and expressive nuances.

Most unusual number, and very beautiful, was the opening Sontat Pian'e Forte by Gabrieli performed by antiphonal brass choir consisting of five players on one side and six on the other. When tonal quality is good, there is nothing more stimulating than mellow brass sonority.

The string orchestra was good in the propulsive motor rhythm characteristic of the Baroque slyle in J. S. Bach's Brandenburgisches Konzart Nr. 3, but it was the least successful number because of some faulty intonation.

Since the strings are the backbone of an orchestra, it was good to hear some of the work being done by members of the Workshop for Strings, many of whom will go on into the youth orchestra. Under the direction of Lucien Mitchell, after a warmup with a country dance by Mozart, they played a delightfully rollicking "Perpetual Motion" by Metcalf.

District Proposals To Go To Commission

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday will hold a hearing on the proposed formation of a new community services district and will discuss proposed creation of a new sanitary district.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

The Lucas Green annexation to San Rafael, continued by the commission last month, will not be on the agenda. Developers were to make a new application if they wanted the issue discussed again. They failed to apply for a spot on the agenda in time, according to commmission Executive Officer John F. Barrows.

The commission will hold a hearing on the proposed formation of the Tamalpais Community Services District. Barrows has recommended in favor of formation, but has urged that the portion of the proposed district on part of the Marincello community be excluded.

If the commission finds the proposal has merit, they must appoint a reorganization committee which will develop details on the proposal and report back to the commission.

The new sanitary district was first proposed as a sanitation district for the Mill Valley area. However, the proponents have since said the original proposal was in error.

A sanitation district could be an over-riding entity which would allow the city of Mill Valley sewer facilities and those of the Homestead Valley, Almonte, Alto and Kay Park sanitary districts to operate under it as separate entities.

A sanitary district, would consolidate the four districts and take over operation of the city facilities.

If the commission finds the proposal has merit, a hearing will be set, Barrows said.

Also on Thursday's agenda is the continuation of a hearing on the Miwok Corp.'s proposal to take its Seacape subdivision out of the Muir Beach Community Services District.

Lagunitas Budget Set For Discussion Meet

The Lagunitas School District will discuss the proposed 1966-67 school budget at tomorrow's meeting at 8 p.m. at the school.

Other items on the agenda include a fifth grade curriculum report, bills and warrants and enrollment.

West Marin Junior Livestock Contest

Four West Marin girls have begun selling tickets for the West Marin Junior Livestock Show next month in a contest to determine who will be queen of the show.

The show will be June 25-26 at Point Reyes Station. Candidates are Margaret Dougan of Bolinas, a Tamalpais High School student; Judy Giammona of Point Reyes Station; Mary Margaret Costa of Olema; Kathy McPherson of Tomales, all students at Tomales High School. The title will go to the girl selling the most tickets.

Corte Madera Blackouts Blamed On Junketing Junk

The yachting season opened this weekend, but for Mariner Cove residents in Corte Madera it was the opening of the junk junketing season.

Every time Wilfred Tsang sailed his Chinese junk down San Clemente Creek their lights went out.

And if Mariner Cove residents were mystified, PG&E technicians were even more puzzled.

Technicians were dashing back and forth to Mariner Cove to restore power. It wasn't until 10:40 p.m. yesterday, when the power went off for the third time, that the source of the trouble was located.

And then the source was eminently clear, for a flash and explosion illuminated the whole area. Tsang's junk had sliced a power cable in half.

Evidently each time the junk sailed through the creek, its 22-foot mast had nuged the line, cutting off power. Last night, with the tide higher, there wasn't any clearance.

Tsang, who owns a Chinatown cocktail lounge with his two brothers, was very annoyed about the whole thing.

"The wire wasn't there before," he said today. "I think I have the right of way. I'm going to continue sailing through anyway."

And where was he junketing to? "We were going to the opening of the yachting season, and with all this fuss we never got there."

Williams Named Job Supervisor In San Rafael

John K. Williams has been appointed new employment service supervisor at the San Rafael office of the state Department of Employment in place of Robert R. Souza of Fairfax, who has been transferred to San Francsico.

Souza has been promoted to veterans employment representative at the department's commercial office in San Francisco after holding the post of employment service supervisor at San Rafael since 1961. He is a member of Fairfax City Council.

Williams, 30, comes to San Rafael from Eureka where he was in the state employment office for fivey ears. He has also worked in Sacramento; in the California Department of Justice, Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation and in the Department of Motor Vehicles.

He and his wife, Jacqueline and sons, Michael, 10, Stephen 8, John, 6, and Gregory, 2, plan to move to San Rafael in June.

Guide Dogs Official Receives High Award

William F. Johns, executive director of Guide Dogs for the Blind in San Rafael, was honored with an outstanding achievement award by the Commission on Standards and Accreditation of Services for the Blind of New York Saturday.

During 1964 and 1965, he served as a member of the committee on standards for orientation and mobility services, appointed by the commission.

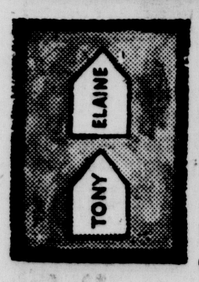
How Elaine Brinkman put Tony Lekas in his place:



Elaine's a defensive driver. So when she saw Tony following too closely in the car behind, she let up on the gas and slowed down. Then Tony had to pass, or be reminded that he was too close for comfort. And it was a good thing, because a few seconds later Elaine had to stop suddenly when a baseball bounced out into the street. Are you a defensive driver?

You May Be One Of Those In Line For Back Problems

One Of Two Americans Expected To Have Ache

Editor's Note: If you, or your uncle or your aunt, have an aching back, you couldn't do better—aside from consulting your own doctor—than to read these articles by an internationally known expert. Dr. Kraus was called in on the problem of President Kennedy's back trouble, and served later on the President's Council on Youth Fitness. His conviction is that proper exercise and learning to relax are the keys to good health.

By HANS KRAUS, M.D.

Perhaps it was an action as simple as opening the garage door, or bending over to pick up a piece of paper, or reaching for something on a high shelf.

But suddenly the pain struck—an excruciating, devil of a pain, one of the worst you've ever felt. It nearly drives you to the ground.

One out of every two Americans is a setup for such an experience for one sorry reason: He's under-exercised and overtense. And the parade of patients with severe backaches every year is testimony that this one ailment is among the most common chronic disabilities of our relatively easy life.

Progress brings benefits. It also brings perils.

Man has been on earth for more than 100,000 years, and yet in the last hundred years, a brief flash in the infinity of time, he has changed his world and his habits in revolutionary fashion.

Nowhere is this more true than in the United States. We are the most prosperous nation in the world. We have a superabundance of automobiles, appliances, and other labor-saving devices.

But we have also altered the physical balance of our lives—and we are now beset by a new wave of degenerative diseases. Under-exercise in partnership with over-irritation has become the most serious threat to the health of Americans, stirring up a witch's brew of trouble, from heart disease and stroke to the wracking pain and time-consuming healing of backaches.

Add to this the stiff neck and headache of tension syndrome, duodenal ulcers, diabetes, overweight and coronary heart disease.

These are the hypokinetic diseases—the sicknesses caused by insufficient exercise, by allowing our bodies and our vital functions to rust away, and torturing their weaknesses with the strain of tension.

But there is an antidote—and with some simple tests and your doctor's go-ahead you can do it yourself.

Even if you suffer from recurrent backaches now, there is good indication that you can correct them and guard against their ever occurring again. More than 8 out of 10 backache cases are caused by under-exercise or tension.

And back pain is often merely the first of the hypokinetic diseases to strike the under-exercised.

The pain can strike almost anywhere from the neck to the waist. It can be the pulsing throb of a tension headache so severe it is torture to try to focus your eyes. Tense neck muscles can cause this.

But the worst of all is low back pain. A bad case of low back pain may make you think you're crippled for life.

Suddenly all the tension that has been building up in your system seems to focus across the lower back, even with the hips. In an instant—as you go to turn or twist or to stoop, muscles go into wracking spasm. You can't move. You're locked in position. You wonder if you dare straighten up — and when you try, it feels as if someone had stuck a knife in your spine. You try to get to a chair. The pain increases even more. Finally you manage to lie down. When the pain is piercing, you can't get up, you can't move your legs. After a day or two, you manage to hobble out of bed. Gradually, the pain seems to go away.

But perhaps in a week, a month, or even two months later, the pain attacks again. This time, it's worse. You wonder what's wrong. Nothing seems to help.

It strikes both men and women without prejudice. It strikes young men who used to be athletes, and it strikes desk workers who never were. It hits young mothers and grandmothers.

I was interviewed by a writer—we'll call him Pete Hamilton—in 1955. He was interested in my exercise tests because of a report I had given to President Dwight Eisenhower. To get the real idea, he decided to take the Kraus-Weber tests. He had good strength, but he was tense. He was so tense in fact that he failed the floor-touch test—one of the six muscle measuring actions. Try as he might, he couldn't get his finger tips to within six inches of the floor, and his hamstring muscles were as unyielding as piano wire.

"If ever I saw a candidate for back pain, you're it," I told him. "You're simply too tense. Tell me, what do you do for exercise?

"Nothing," he said. He just didn't have time, was too rushed, and there weren't athletic facilities nearby.

Five years later he came to see me again. This time he limped in, bent over at the waist. There was agony on his face. He'd had a car accident and the next day had felt a little back pain—but when he bent over to pick up a piece of paper "it was as though someone had swung an ax into the base of my spine. I was flat on my face and I couldn't move my legs. I stayed there for a half hour until my wife found me."

His doctor prescribed a brace, and when the back failed to improve, decided surgery might be necessary. But first, the doctor said, try conservative treatment.

It took three months, relaxing exercises and finally some strengthening, stretching exercises, but Pete Hamilton recovered without surgery and he's still fine today.

In tomorrow's article, we'll look at the Kraus-Weber tests and you can find out for yourself whether you are a candidate for back pain.

If so, the time to protect against it is now.

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken led Saturday's rites dedicating new San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow. (Independent-Journal photo)

San Domenico Formally Dedicated

The new 537-acre campus of San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow was dedicated Saturday in religious ceremonies led by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco.

After blessing the new building, the archbishop conveyed the blessings of Pope Paul VI to the more than 500 students, parents and religious and educational leaders assembled at the sunny campus.

The occasion marked the fourth campus to be occupied by the 115-year-old school since its founding in Monterey. After some years in Benicia, where it was known as St. Catherine's, the school operated by the Dominican Sisters moved to San Rafael in 1889, where it was known until its most recent move as the Dominican Upper and Lower Schools.

The new $3.5 million school house some 154 resident upper school girls and has a total enrollment of 350 upper and lower day school students.

The dedication ceremonies included the blessing of the upper and lower school students.

Stalled Truck Snarls Novato Commuters

Southbound commuter traffic on Highway 101 in Novato was tied up for nearly an hour this morning, backing up from the light at Diablo Avenue north to San Marin Drive, according to Novato police.

The tieup started when a southbound lumber truck and trailer stalled in the slow lane at the traffic signal at Diablo Avenue about 7:25 a.m., police reported. Motorists whose way was blocked tried vainly to push the huge truck and trailer off the road, but were unable to do it.

A passing gravel truck was flagged down by the California Highway Patrol. It was able to pull the lumber truck off the road onto the shoulder just before 8 a.m.

The traffic was further tied up by motorists going down the shoulder and then trying to force their way into the right lane of traffic when they found the shoulder blocked by the truck, police reported.

Law Study Asked On Creek Lands

A study of special legislation that would allow the state to reimburse ark dwellers along Corte Madera Creek has been suggested by County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

In a letter to the county counsel's office, Kettenhofen said he believed that holding posessory interest in state lands had been reimbursed in other areas when leases were cancelled.

Owners who will lose state leases along Corte Madera Creek because of the flood control project have estimated their loss at a total $100,000, Kettenhofen said.

Two Marin Marines In Recruit Training

They are: Richard R. Ragland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rene C. Ragland of 69 Wellington Avenue, San Anselmo, and Roger D. Schlecht, son of Mr. anr Mrs. Elwin D. Schlecht, of 940 Bruno Street, Novato.

Marincello Suit Final Arguments

Final arguments in a suit to halt development of Marincello, have been scheduled for 10 a.m. May 9 before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

City of Sausalito and two couples—John P. and Constance L. Erickson, and Herbert and Frances M. Perkins—seek a preliminary injunction to prevent the County of Marin from adopting any more resolutions or ordinances enabling Marincello development.

Their suit, which also asks to have county rezoning for Marincello nullified, alleges the county illegally changed the 2,100-acre parcel from residential and agricultural zoning to planned community.

Youngsters Cited For Shoplifting

Corte Madera police cited two boys from that town, aged 14 and 13, for shoplifting Saturday after they were allegedly seen stealing a 66-cent bottle of suntan lotion from Montgomery Ward and Co. department store.

Later the same afternoon, police also cited two Sausalito girls, aged 12 and 13, after they were allegedly seen taking $7.92 worth of records from the same store.

Girls Admit Wholesale Shoplifting

Four little girls from Larkspur, Corte Madera and Greenbrae admitted to Corte Madera police yesterday that they went on a shoplifting spree in the Corte Madera Center Saturday, netting more than 100 pieces of merchandise.

The two Larkspur girls, aged 12 and 11, were caught stealing gum and other small items in Littleman Market in the center Saturday afternoon. They told police they had more stolen merchandise at home.

Talking with the girls, police learned the names of a 12-year-old Corte Madera girl and an 11-year-old Greenbrae girl who participated in the thievery. None of the girls had ever been in trouble with the law before, police said.

Stopping off at each girl's house, police recovered all the items stolen, including wallets, pens, rubber Batman emblems, sunglasses, address books and lipsticks. The girls were all cited to juvenile probation authorities for shoplifting. Police could not estimate the value of the stolen articles.

Waldo Grade Crash Hurts Fairfax Man

A 33-year-old Fairfax man suffered multiple injuries when his car struck the center divider on Highway 101 about a quarter-mile south of the Waldo Tunnel at 9:50 Saturday and overturned.

The driver, Ambrose J. N. Hollingworth of 31 Forrest Avenue, suffered a broken right leg, pelvis and back injuries. He was reported in fair condition at intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital today.

The California Highway Patrol reported Hollingworth was southbound when an unidentified car swerved in front of him causing him to swerve into the center divider.

Fire Fighter Quits Net Depot

Fire Fighter Frank J. Walsh of the Naval Net Depot at Tiburon has retired after 25 years of federal service.

After World War II service in the Marine Corps, he began his civilian career at the Naval Supply Depot, Oakland and was transferred to Tiburon in February 1955.

He and his wife, Tillie, intend to spend his retirement fishing and camping throughout California.

Election Tomorrow For Utility Board

Election will be held tomorrow in Bolinas to fill two seats on the Bolinas Beach Public Utility District Board. Polls will be open from 1 to 7 p.m. in the Mesa Clubhouse at Elm and Maple streets, reported Mrs. Jacque Gianola, board secretary.

Four persons are contending for the vacancies. They are Ernest Dix and James R. Alberigi Jr., incumbents, and Jose A. Silva, construction superintendent, and Fred Davis, handyman.

Hearing Is Set On Rezoning

Corte Madera Town Council will hold a public hearing on rezoning three acres on the southwest corner of Conow Street and Casa Buena Drive from administrative-professional to highway commercial when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall.

Applicant for the rezoning is Chrysler Motors Corp., which wants to construct a sales and service agency for new and used autos at the site. The application has been approved by the planning commission.

Councilmen will also receive the resignation from the planning commission of Harold B. Wagstaff, newly elected councilman will be asked to name a replacement.

San Rafael Army Officer Saves Korean Crash Victims

An Army second lieutenant from San Rafael has been credited with rescuing 30 Korean tourists whose bus lost a wheel and went over an embankment outside Seoul.

Lt. Jerry C. Williams, son of Carlyle R. Williams of 8 Alderwood Way, and volunteers from the artillery battery he commands came to the rescue moments after the bus careened down the 20-foot embankment and ended upside-down at the bottom.

An Army communique said, "Ignoring the danger of possible fire and gas explosions, Lt. Williams pulled victims from the wreckage, gave first aid and provided transportation to the hospital for the victims."

The Army said, "Several lives had been saved and more serious injuries prevented because of the skill and calmness with which Williams and the other soldiers reacted to the emergency."

Williams was graduated from Tamalpais High School in 1960 and from the University of California in 1964. He entered the Army last year.

Records, Clothes, Appliances Stolen

Thieves stole clothing, tools, appliances and records worth $1,005 from the home of Patrick G. Gleeson at 404 Summit Avenue, Corte Madera, during daylight hours Friday, Corte Madera police reported today.

Officers reported burglars entered through an unlocked sliding door. Missing, when Gleeson arrived home that night, were a tape recorder, television set, vacuum cleaner, 15 sweaters, a vest, a power saw, and 15 record albums.

Christopher Is Best Man For Republican Nomination

Least known of the five is Joseph R. Maxwell, who is listed as a management consultant from Pasadena. Maxwell can hardly be classified as a serious candidate.

William Penn Patrick of Tiburon, the young cosmetics manufacturer, is a local curiosity. From the outset, Patrick announced he was in the race all the way and apparently is taking his candidacy seriously. But he lacks the experience, either as a public officeholder or as a working member of his political party, to be considered a serious contender for the GOP nomination.

Warren M. Dorn, Los Angeles County supervisor, strikes us as a likable and able person. Dorn might not make a bad governor if he can get elected. But his chances are slim. His expression of interest in statewide affairs is of recent origin. Outside of Los Angeles, he is not too well known.

This leaves the two Republican heavyweights — George Christopher and Ronald Reagan.

Christopher, as mayor of San Francisco, was the outspoken, activist type who wanted to and did get things done. During his eight years as mayor, he was acclaimed for running one of the best-administered and corruption-free cities in the country.

Christopher's interest in statewide service is evidenced by his previous campaigns for U.S. Senate in 1958 and for lieutenant governor in 1962. In both of these campaigns Christopher was the victim of circumstances.

In 1958, his nomination was opposed by the then Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who ran for Senate to make room for William F. Knowland, who wanted the governorship.

Four years later, Christopher ran for lieutenant governor on the Richard Nixon ticket. Christopher expressed sound thinking and put up an effective campaign, but his expressions were overshadowed by Nixon. In that defeat, Christopher proved himself a vote-getter by outpolling Nixon, the head of the Republican ticket.

In popular appeal, Ronald Reagan probably rates as well as any other candidate. It's his administrative ability and statesmanship in handling a statewide office that are untested.

It is to Reagan's credit that he is a persuasive political speaker on TV, even though we do not often agree with the views he presents. Some of his opinions strike us as being too ultra-conservative to be practical today.

NEVERTHELESS, on the basis of proven administrative ability and statesmanship, George Christopher deserves to be the GOP standard bearer. We endorse Christopher as the Republican nominee for governor.

Congress No Longer Afflicted With Boredom On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — No more ho-hum.

Boredom used to be the response in Congress when anyone, including a president, proposed a civil rights bill. That seems ages ago.

Now President Johnson is handing Congress one of the toughest civil rights bills ever.

IT WILL be picked at, hacked at, and, no doubt, riddled. But the tide has turned. That alone should assure some kind of civil rights bill going through.

There's another reason. This is a congressional election year, which is all the more inducement for Johnson to put the pressure on for action.

Less than 20 years ago the house would overwhelmingly pass an anti-poll tax since the House ban on filibusters left the Southern Democrats practically speechless and certainly ineffective.

BUT ONCE the House-passed bill reached the Senate it was dead, killed by a combination of two things:

In the Senate there was no ban on a filibuster unless the Senate felt inclined to stop it, and not enough non-Southerners felt strongly enough about civil rights to do the stopping.

So the Southerners had it all to themselves from 1875, the last time a civil rights bill was passed, until mid-20th century.

Then the Supreme Court cut the ground from under Congress in 1954 by taking on civil rights a monumental stand which Congress continually failed to do: it outlawed segregation in public schools.

THAT BROKE the back of Southern resistance, for in 1957 —with Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate's Democratic majority leader, driving the Senate — Congress passed the first civil rights bill in 82 years.

The Southerners in the Senate were never able again to block civil rights legislation and Congress passed more civil rights bills in 1960, 1964 and 1965.

Johnson has, as president, asked for new legislation to fight discrimination in housing, state and federal juries, and schools, plus legislation to combat Ku Klux Klan type terrorism in the South.

He proposed a law to prohibit any interference with the "exercise of fundamental rights by threats or force, by any person—whether as an individual or in a group and whether privately or officially."

The President specifically named fundamental rights — voting, education, housing, employment, jury service and travel.

A CIVIL RIGHTS murder could mean a federal penalty of life imprisonment with lesser crimes bringing lesser penalties. The present law makes no distinction among such crimes, providing only a five-year penalty for conspiring to deprive others of their rights.

That there would be a fight became clear in a hurry.

Before the program could be formally submitted to Congress one of the leading opponents of civil rights bills in the past, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., described the housing section as unconstitutional and unenforceable.

And Republicans will have a say since the Democratic leadership will have to depend on their support to break any Southern attempt at a filibuster.

County Employee Questions Pay Hikes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I read with amazement, your story of April 20, of the two apprentices in Marin County government, who, after only six months in their jobs, were raised to salaries of $486 per month, on the recommendation of the county administrator.

These men were evidently hired under the program to train and give employment to school dropouts.

Aften ten and one-half years as an employee of Marin County government, my monthly gross pay is $419—I might add that these years have all been in one department.

I have been trying to analyze the situation in my own mind, and have reached the conclusion that I have too much education and initiative to qualify for a promotion and larger salary.

Mother's Plan For The U.S.A.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Yesterday, while ironing, I conceived a plan . . . for saving America against the onslaught of communism and socialism. If I were running for president, I'd implement this simple plan for ONE YEAR ONLY . . .

Running on the "Mother's Ticket," we would arouse the ladies . . . We would have two slogans: "America, Mighty Fortress Under God!" and, "Mothers, Unite! You have nothing to lose but your sons!"

Our platform: . . .

1. Declare again America's traditional dependence on God; but further, declare a month of prayer and penance throughout the nation to appease God's anger.

2. Bring back all our boys from every corner of the globe. Even Viet Nam.

3. Use our boys to protect America from any enemy; within and without, building America into a mighty fortress under God.

4. Cut out all foreign giveaways. . . . Tell all nations who owe us money to pay up in gold.

5. Quit trading with the enemy — even indirectly.

6. Do away with the income tax. We wouldn't need it.

7. Place in retirement all bureaucrats of the nation. The supreme court and McNamara would be the first to go.

8. Call for dedicated and patriotic men and women to serve our republic at a minimum salary.

9. Revoke tax exemption to any church meddling in politics.

10. Embark on a re-education program, selling the virtues of the U.S. Constitution and the horrors of slavery under communism . . .

11. Declare to the world we sympathize with their plight, but that the time has come for us to revitalize our national vigor, to be an effective instrument of peace in the world. We would extend the hand of brotherly love to all nations and peoples, but a hand sans cash, check or money order.

Details of implementation of this platform will have to wait until my next batch of ironing.

Are UFOs Ever Seen In Other Countries?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The question: Has any other country in the world, except the USA, seen any of these flying objects or saucers, which everyone seems to be getting a good look at now, plus camera shots. I'd like a reply in your What Our Readers Say column.

No Race Reporting In Case Of Rescue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We have Marin City, and you ask why; we have fear, prejudice, hate, yet you do not understand that you are furthering these ills:

Last Friday, your paper reported the courageous rescue of an injured elderly woman by a twelve-year-old Fairfax school boy, Stephen Ward. The article was correct, efficient, and just; it was not mentioned that Stephen is a Negro. This evening's paper reported the arrest of two college youths suspected of using marijuana; this article was correct, efficient, and unjust. For you were quick, eager to point out that those arrested were Negroes.

Why, sir, must this be? When a Negro is involved in your headlines, why is his race indicated only when the act has been one which presents his community in a bad light?

There is no need to label people by color; in doing so, and in doing so selectively and unfairly, your paper can do nothing more than breed intolerance.

Video Line A Doozy

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The small fry in the electronics game are on the launch pad again, to fire into orbit really a big one, on the public. This thing, is a gismo fantastic. It's a community TV hookup where antenna wires would be intrenched. This to a queer looking tower, atop a remote hill. If we let this go by, the skyline of beauty of the hills of Marin would resemble an ever expanding scene, of grotesque Texas oil derricks, in mad disarray . . .

This TV radio antenna gimmick is a genuine doozie. It could open the door of opportunity for the big spaces in the electronics field to take over. They would be free to tack a money meter on your glorified picture squawk box. Free TV would be gone forever, beyond recall. Viewers would be obligated to bounce 12 to 15 dollars per month to use their own property.

Now the hook line, the clincher of the promoter, a small city with a signup of 50 per cent for trench to tower antenna hookup could yield a taxable revenue of $8,000 per year.

The subscriber for this service would be nicked five bucks per month. This sparks some of our gullible councilmen. They see this as a new source of tax take for the city treasury. We taxpayers better wise up. This is risky business; legal entanglement could ensue, a least slip, could embroil us in lengthy litigation, to no avail. The taxpayers made patsies to foot a costly bill in the end.

We taxpayers in no uncertain but emphatic terms must tell our councilmen to keep their noses out of the electronics game gimmicks, a business they know not of, or any other deals, of this nature in city affairs, in our counties.

Farm State Demos Want Freeman Out

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — If agriculture-minded congressional Democrats have their way, Secretary Orville Freeman will be out of the Cabinet by the start of this fall's turbulent election battle.

The legislators are fighting mad at the Minnesotan, accuse him of deliberately depressing farm prices to combat inflation.

THE FEELING is widespread among them that it's either him or them. This irate attitude is especially pronounced among Democratic freshman from farm belt states.

All are carefully divorcing themselves from Freeman's widely and furiously denounced policies. Also all are eagerly looking forward to voting for the new $6.9 billion agriculture budget approved overwhelmingly by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee's huge money bill, restoring virtually all recommended slashes, is a stinging rebuff to President Johnson—and to Freeman.

Principal complaint against Freeman is that he is saddling the farmer with the brunt of the anti-inflation drive.

Caustically illustrative of this feeling is the irate view of Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., powerful veteran chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. Says Cooley: "Farmers are being made the scapegoats of the effort to halt inflation. Farm prices are being rolled back, while the best way to combat inflation is to reduce non-essential government spending on old and new programs heating up the economy that can wait until the Viet Nam conflict is settled."

Reason for these and numerous other angry blasts in and out of Congress is a long list of farm price-depressing moves, foremost among them the following:

GRAIN DUMPING: From Oct. 1, 1965, to April 8, 1966, the Commodity Credit Corporation sold 326,900,000 bushels of corn for domestic use, plus 53,758,000 for export. These sales, in direct competition with farmer sales, forced midwestern corn prices down 10 cents a bushel. Farm organization experts estimate this government dumping has cost growers $370 mililon.

Dumping is also being used to force farmer enrollment in the so-called voluntary feed grains program. Growers are paid a subsidy to reduce acreage, and enrollment this year is lagging. Lower market prices tend to induce farmers to sign up.

HIDE EXPORTS: In March the Commerce Department imposed export licenses and tight quotas on hide sales abroad, chiefly cattle, in an effort to reduce domestic prices and thus increase supplies for shoe manufacturers.

But manufacturers raised prices anyway—an average of $1 to $2 a pair. Enraged cattlemen claim the export controls will cost them an estimated $4 a head. They were particularly indignant because the Commerce Department acted without first holding the customary public hearings.

DAIRY AND PORK: School milk funds were slashed by 80 per cent, representing a cut of one billion half-pints a year. The House Appropriations Committee voted to restore the $103 million to maintain this program at the current level. It did the same with the school lunch program, providing $157 million for it.

But the Defense Department is substituting margarine for butter for the Army and Air Force, which means cutting butter purchases by 1.8 million pounds a month. On top of that, import quotas for cheddar cheese have been boosted by 926,700 pounds up to June 30 to hold down domestic prices. The Defense Department has chopped in half purchases of pork products—bacon, ham and chops.

SUGAR IMPORTS: Import quotas of sugar were raised in February by 100,000 tons and removed entirely for the month of March.

Lands Commission Is Pondering Corte Madera Creek Ark Sites

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Members of the state lands commission, who are Alan Cranston, state controller; Glenn M. Anderson, lieutenant-governor (both incidentally candidates for re-election); and Hale Champion, state director of finance, are confronted with a knotty situation at the present time.

This is the plight of the "ark-site" residents on Corte Madera creek, in Marin County.

CONGRESS HAS appropriated funds for the development of the creek as a flood control project and is ready to start work through the Army engineers as of June 30.

As a result, the residents will be dispossessed and stand to lose their residences as a result of the development.

An "ark-site" consists of a plot of state land along the creek, for the most part submerged, and leased for purposes of occupancy by barges, boats, or other floating establishments which have been converted into living quarters.

About 20 sites are involved. Representatives of the holders have advised the commission they are not opposed to the development of the creek as a flood control project, which means most of the sites will be dredged out, but they are concerned over timing of the project, and also over possible compensation for the monies they have invested in personal property which cannot be removed from the sites.

REASON THE ARKS can't be taken out, they explained, is the fact that after they were located, a bridge was constructed across the creek and the arks can't be towed out.

The commission is highly sympathetic to the plight of the lessees, but is in a position where not much can be done about the matter. The state cannot recompense the leaseholders for personal property. Attorneys pointed out if it did, there would be a violation of the constitution in the matter of giving away public funds.

The commission already has granted right-of-way easements to the federal government and has issued a dredging permit to commence the work.

AT A RECENT meeting, it instructed F. J. Hortig, executive officer, to issue vacating notices in a time less than 60 days if necessary to assure the beginning of the project, but to confer with the attorney general's office to determine whether ways could be found to secure some recompense to the site lessees.

The lessees claim they are citizens and taxpayers, and should have similar rights to their property as other citizens who have located on similar sites owned by private interests; in other words, they are denied the process of condemnation proceedings and recompense for their losses which cannot be avoided.

Consequently, they want to stay in their homes as long as possible. A suggestion by Hugo Fisher, state resources agency director, proposed the intervention of the attorney general into the picture to determine whether the County of Marin and its flood control district might be responsible for recompense.

Quail Are Nesting Now

The quail usually travel in large groups. Now we see them together much less frequently. The males scurry singly around the neighborhood, trying out various fences and shrubs as lookout posts.

A large covey that used to roost each night in the live oak overhanging our back sidewalk has split up and dispersed. And a few extra males appear to be singing, "Wedding bells are breaking up that old gang of mine.'

The obvious conclusion is that it is quail nesting time in Marin.

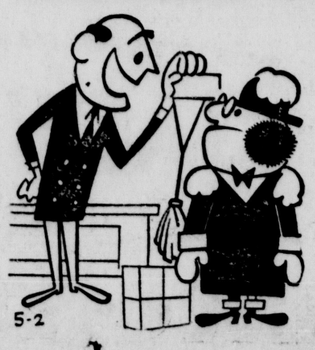
BENNETT CERF

AT THE HEIGHT of one of the worst blizzards in the history of New York, a solitary customer huffed and puffed his way through the snow, entered the premises of a virtually deserted men's furnishings emporium of note—and bought himself a pair of white flannel pants. What's more, just as he was preparing to sally forth again into the storm he called back to the clerk who had attended him, "By the way, you might include a new nightcap with those pants." "Certainly, sir," answered the clerk without the flicker of a smile. "I presume you'll want one with a tassel, sir." The manager thought this might be a good moment to close shop for the day. (It couldn't be reopened until the following Monday).



"YOU ADMIT you put a lead slug in the complainant's cigar vending machine," rumbled a judge. "Don't you know that's cheating?" "Your Honor," answered the defendant, "I can see you never smoked one of the cigars in that machine!"

THANK HEAVEN for sets and numbers and all that other new math they're teaching kids these days, rejoined a suburbanite. "Now my own children will never find out I didn't know the old!"

Perhaps Bremond Had To Resign Six Times To Different Bosses

Certainly, we all have too many bosses. One is too many, but six bosses is way too many. And when six bosses start fighting over which has the right to fire you first, that's a superfluity.

What would you do in such a case? What Walter Bremond did was resign. You might think he enjoyed it, but he did not. You might think walking out on six bosses would be six times more fun, but the majority of his bosses were committees, or commissions, or boards.

HOW DO YOU tell a committee where to get off?

Bremond's prime duty as director of community relations services was to run the war-on-poverty program in Marin. His prime worry must have been trying to keep a majority of his bosses happy.

His bosses were County Administrator Alan Bruce; Betty L. Presley, director of the department of public social services; the Marin City Community Action Committee, the county-wide advisory committee, the human rights commission and the board of supervisors.

IT WAS BRUCE who first asked for Bremond's resignation and it was Miss Presley who actually fired him.

Bruce's action was first challenged by the human rights commission and the action committee. Shouldn't they be consulted?

Bruce agreed to a closed meeting with the action committee, presumably to tell what he had on Bremond, but before that meeting could take place, supervisors called a hurry-up closed session, cancelled the action committee meeting, scolded Bruce and asked Miss Presley to fire Bremond.

This inane scuffle points to one clear reality in the war-on-poverty program. That is this:

NO ONE KNOWS who has the right to do what to whom.

Bremond said supervisors accused him of a lack of administrative ability. But maybe administrative ability should be a little like charity and begin at home.

By the end of the week when Bremond finally decided to resign, it was pretty clear that administrative and other kinds of ability were lacking in other quarters.

This is not in defense of Bremond. It is pretty hard to justify his failure to push through a neighborhood job corps application without consulting at least one of his bosses. Perhaps he simply did not know which boss to consult first.

IF BREMOND had fought his dismissal as originally intended, the dispute would have further illuminated the need for clarity in the war-on-poverty administration, but he feared it might also cause a truce in the war.

Now we have a promise from Rogers Jones of the action committee, from supervisors and from Bruce that a Friday meeting between the committee and supervisors will achieve this needed clarity.

But you might want to worry about that meeting a little bit. Usually in such a session some well-meaning soul suggests that the very thing that is needed to solve the problem is a committee.

Let's see, that would make seven bosses, one for every day in the week.

Organize A Testimonial Dinner And Get Yourself Out Of Debt

WASHINGTON—It's springtime in Washington and the question of ethics can be heard throughout the land. The question has been raised over disclosures that Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., received $100,000 from two testimonial dinners held in his honor in 1961 and 1963.

The money was used, it was said by Drew Pearson and affirmed by a member of Dodd's staff, to pay the senator's personal bills. The Internal Revenue Service said that the Dodd money was not subject to tax if it was given "from a detached and disinterested generosity and out of affection, respect, admiration, charity and the like impulse and is a gift according to the law."

THE REVELATION of how Senator Dodd found a painless way to pay off all his debts has been a great inspiration to every debt-ridden person in the United States, and as soon as I read about it I decided to have a testimonial dinner in my honor. My personal debts are in the neighborhood of $60,000, if you don't count what I owe the newspaper boy, so I decided not to charge more than $50 a plate for the dinner.

First, I had tickets printed up.

Then I called up the Georgetown Pharmacy, where I owe $130, and asked Harry Dalinsky, the druggist, if he wanted to take a table.

"What for?"

"Well, if I can pull this dinner off, I'll have enough money to pay your bill."

"Put me down for half a plate."

"How can I pay you off if you only take half a plate?"

"I'm on a diet."

I then called the president of the Perpetual Building Assn. which holds the mortgage on my house.

"I KNOW you people hold me in great admiration and affection because you keep calling me every month. I'm giving a testimonial in honor of myself and I thought you'd like to take a table."

The president said, "We never attend dinners of people who owe us money."

"Well, would you take an advertisement in the souvenir program? Say something like 'Good luck to a friend who needs it, from a friend who doesn't.'"

Perpetual took a full page.

I CALLED the Calvert Market, Towne Wine and Liquor Store, Best's, Lord and Taylor, General Heating, Stohlman's Chevrolet, Karl's Caterers, Hechinger Hardware, and everyone else I owed money to. When I explained to them that, if they showed a detached and disinterested generosity by coming to my dinner as interpreted by the IRS, they might get paid, everyone agreed to take a table.

I then called my Uncle Oscar in New York, to whom I owed $500, and asked him to come.

"Who are you getting for your main speaker?"

"I'M TRYING to get Senator Dodd," I told him. "But he's not answering the phone."

"I hear Dodd is dead."

"No, Uncle Oscar, that's God, not Dodd."

"I'm sorry, I have a cold."

In a week I managed to sell out the dinner and we're going to hold it next week if I can find a room.

It seems everyone in Washington has decided to have a testimonial dinner for himself since he read about Senator Dodd and all the big hotel ballrooms in Washington are booked solid. This may be the big break the poverty program has been looking for.

10 YEARS AGO

Marin County officials began cracking down on dairymen who let refuse from barns wash into creeks and kill fish, especially in Papermill Creek and its tributaries.

J. G. Stevens, legislative representative for the Bolinas Harbor District, reported that dredging of Bolinas Harbor and its approach was scheduled to get underway.

The 700-acre Pacheco ranch west of Hamilton Air Force Base, one of Marin's oldest and best known dairy ranches, was sold for residential development.

Super Agency Plan Means More Workers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Winifred S. Frederick need not have limited her remarks about the proposed super agency to the situation in Marin County. This is the same process used by civil administrative bodies everywhere to develop more jobs at higher salaries to be paid for by taxes.

Mr. Bruce's proposal for a limited agency group starting July 1 means that a group with a vested interest (jobs) will be spending tax money to find a politically acceptable way to make the project permanent without offending any of the present job holders.

The Probation Department is already part of the courts and should remain so. I am a veteran myself, but I can see no reason for such a department at the county level. If legislative changes are needed to combine the Health, Medical and Mental Health departments, that should be done by our elected representatives. The Welfare Department has enough problems to solve now without getting them lost in another administrative agency.

The taxpayer can be sure that any transfer of duties from the present department to the new agency will be mostly offset by the need for coordinators and report compilers necessitated by the super agency.

Any private industrial engineer could work out a more efficient and cheaper operation of these departments but he could never get the legislation to put it into effect nor could he withstand the storm of disapproval that would be mounted by the departments and the employee organizations.

The best that the taxpayer can hope for is that the Supervisors do not approve the proposal and the only thing they can do if it is approved is to vote against the incumbents at subsequent elections.

Column On Teacher Salaries Draws Ire

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: The People's Schools Article in April 25, 1966 issue.

Your view of teacher groups playing salaries against other districts is a typical one evidenced many times by people who really have not informed themselves of all the facts. . .

First . . . the children of our great country should have the advantage of the finest minds available, and industry could then have second choice. I am afraid that too many times education gets the second choice and it will become more so as time goes along if more people continue to think as you do.

Now, I know what you are thinking, which is the old cliche of "Well, what about dedication?" All I can say is try to buy some groceries with it, and is it a guarantee of intelligence? My son recently turned down a job because of his draft status, however the pay was $225 per week which is over $11,000 per year with The Arlene's Cake Shop in Lafayette, Calif., and by the way, the pot washer's salary is over $8,000.

If you just stop and think a little farther than your nose, you can see why an intelligent youngster, the kind you should want in teaching, could not justify five years of college work to be eligible for a PhD., will reach a maximum of around $10,000. No, from what you have said, I can only surmise that you prefer more of the unthinking type evidenced in your column as this keeps away any serious competition for the time being at least and until we have lost our very valued place in the sun.

For people like you, it is very lucky that the teachers haven't wised up and started comparing their salaries with other occupations, but sand-by, the day is coming!

Mention Of Race Draws Criticism

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Concerning your article on Page 1 of the Tuesday, April 26, Independent-Journal, I note that under "POT PARTY ARREST OF COLLEGE YOUTHS, HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS", the first three lines read: "Three Tamalpais High School girl students and two College of Marin Negro youths were arrested last night . . ."

From these three lines I gather that the girls involved were other than Negro. This, I felt, was an unimportant bit of reporting, inasmuch as the article had nothing to do with race, creed or color, but rather about something illegally done by members of the community.

Having reviewed the rest of the newspaper I cannot find any other article that mentions a person's color, whether it be green, blue or chartreuse . . .

I called the Independent-Journal this morning and was connected with a gentleman who identified himself as "Editor," and I asked him if it was important that it be mentioned that the College of Marin youths were Negro, and that I gathered the girls were of another color (perhaps purple?). He informed me: "Yes, they felt it was important to some people to know the color of the parties involved." By "they" I gather he meant the Independent-Journal.

At this point, I must admit, I was dumbfounded. I did not realize until that very moment that the Independent-Journal held such viewpoints and am wondering if perhaps their reporting has not contributed to the difficulties of minority groups in their attempts to have equal rights.

I must read the Independent-Journal more carefully in the future to see if I can discover that perhaps my neighbors are of a hue other than the Independent's accepted color.

Questions Raised On Golf Course Gift

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding the San Geronimo Golf Course "offer," I find the following points confusing, and would appreciate their clarification.

If Supervisor Kettenhofen's "good friend, Robert Roumiguiere" and his San Geronimo Valley Properties are going to make a gift of a golf course to the people of Marin, why must bonds be sold to "reimburse the original owners"?

Because a "non-profit organization" will lease the course to National Golf Courses, Inc., to operate it, does that mean that National will not make a profit from it? Do they, as present operators, make a profit from it now?

How can these arrangements be considered "non-profit and tax-exempt" when "an annual possessory interest tax" will be paid to the County?

SPECIALIST!

Properly defined, the word specialist means one who specializes or pursues a particular kind of vocation.

Doctors, lawyers and watchmakers are specialists. The word also applies to a Realtor. His specialty is real estate. He must know the various trends that influence the real estate market. When dealing with a Realtor, you benefit from his knowledge and experience. And you have the added assurance of knowing that a Realtor is bound by a strict code of ethics laid down by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Unless you are a real estate specialist, take this suggestion and trade with a Realtor.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Television Could Aid Understanding

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —I had a curious reaction while watching NBC-TV's documentary, Mississippi: A Self-Portrait." I wondered how it was generally received in that state. I really had no idea. And suddenly it occured to me that my very puzzlement was a form of condemnation of network television's effectiveness over the years as a communicator in essential areas:

For here we are in the same nation, and yet—as the sometimes fascinating one-hour documentary pointed up in key moments—we often do not even begin to understand each other in some of the most crucial problems we share.

I do not mean to blame television's failure for all our woes, as some lazy academicians are apt to do, yet it is a fact that video's most significant job is to help people understand each other and know each other, and it is in this area, above all, that the network's have failed miserably.

It might not be a bad idea for the video hucksters to remember occasionally that if various peoples of the world fail eventually to understand each other, there might come a day when there will be no more homes in Scarsdale, or skyscrapers in which to decide on prime time schedules, or even Batmen.

They might, in short, recall their own often-repeated words that television is the most massive communications device ever to have an audience at its

"Mississippi, a Self-Portrait" offered views by various residents of that state on changes there, with the race issue quite naturally being dominant. There was no question where NBC-TV stood on the subject, yet the program, with Frank McGee as reporter, seemed to try to keep in mind the compassion that is necessary to solve all such entangled human dilemmas.

CBS-TV last night presented a one-hour "entertainment documentary" called "The Magic of Broadcasting," which tried in part to recall oldtime favorites of radio and television, and also to give a behind-the-scenes look at video today.

In brief, the less said about the whole endeavor, the better. The recollections were offered in a tepid manner, perhaps to suit the ancient audience CBS-TV is supposed to be very big with. The "inside" show business touches were naive.

Radio and television news and documentary history was summed up in about one minute. And Rod Serling managed to appraise the decline of video drama without ever once mentioning ratings.

Fairfax School Campaign Slated

Seven Fairfax residents, members of the Committee for the Fairfax Schools, met Friday night to plan a telephone campaign, printing of brochures and posters to support a school tax increase which voters will decide on June 7.

Mrs. Frank E. Sheets of Fairfax was elected treasurer at the meeting, said Leonard A. Weiss, chairman of the group.

Voters will decide whether to approve a proposed rise in the school district general operating tax rate from $2.05 to $2.70 per $100 assessed valuation.

Marin City's Riot Case A Precedent?

A ruling by Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, possibly without precedent in Marin County, came today in discovery of evidence matters in the April 4 riot in Marin City.

Attorney Richard Breiner, representing one of two 17-year-old Marin City youths charged in the fracas, had subpoenaed four sheriff's officers for depositions of their intended testimony for the May 23 hearings.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, however, filed a motion with Judge Gardiner to quash the effort. Judge Gardiner, in granting the motion, said he based his decision on the only case he could find, a New Jersey court ruling that such depositions "would detract, formalize, and complicate" juvenile proceedings, which are designed to be otherwise.

One of the youths is charged with felony assault on Sheriff's Deputy Fred Garrison. The other is accused of three misdemeanors—throwing a rock at a sheriff's car, and twice ostructing officers in performance of their duties.

Three other youths face charges in the riot.

Students, Faculty To Discuss Drugs

Representing the faculty will be Samuel Schwartz, John Gillin, Pauline Toschi, Norma O'Hair, David Dunlap and Robert Justice. Students will be Hal Aigner, Jerrod Dreyfus, Luisa Sofaer, John Larson, Dennis Gilardi, Jody Angel, and Terry Stehlin.

Reagan, Brown Endorsed At Conventions

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two big volunteer political groups at opposite ends of the liberal-conservative spectrum wound up their state conventions this weekend.

Gov. Brown was unofficially endorsed for a third term by the California Federation of Young Democrats. And Ronald Reagan received the official backing of the United Republicans of California for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

The Young Democrats Federation, holding its statewide convention in Sacramento, doesn't endorse candidates, but took a straw vote anyway. Eighty-six delegates supported Brown 15 backed Carleton Goodlett, a San Francisco Negro newspaper publisher.

The militantly liberal organization, which has about 7,000 members, adopted a platform calling for an end to bombing raids in Viet Nam and the announcement of a unilateral cease fire to be broken only under attack.

Reagan, meanwhile, received the overwhelming endorsement of the United Republicans at its Bakersfield convention. The vote was 761 for Reagan and 28 for the only other candidate placed in nomination, William Penn Patrick, Tiburon businessman.

The 7,600-member group also tangled with an internal argument over whether the organization is too conservative in its stands.

Rus Walton, former executive director of UROC, said irresponsible extremists led by the John Birch Society were attempting to control the group.

However, Joseph Crosby, a Pasadena businessman who was elected new chairman of UROC, said the organization supports "moderate, responsible men." Crosby said the Birch Society was not an issue.

The city of Darwin, capital and chief port of Australia's Northern Territory, was founded in a gold rush in 1869.

Expansion Of Rent Subsidy May Be Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congress may be asked to expand the controversial rent subsidy program to help families too well off for public housing but too poor for decent private accommodations.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the new department of Housing and Urban Development, told UPI yesterday there was "a very, very strong possibility and probability" that the administration would ask Congress to extend rent aid to lower middle income families."

The move is sure to arouse strong opposition in Congress. An appropriation measure to get the program going squeaked through the Senate by only one vote last week. And, despite heavy White House lobbying, the lawmakers gave President Johnson less than half the money he asked.

Under the rent supplement program, the government pays the difference between 25 per cent of a poor family's income and their rent in a decent home.

Lynch Declares Dorado Case Awakens Public

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The interest in the law created by the U. S. Supreme Court Escobedo and Dorado decisions can be used as a long-delayed first step in awakening the public to the meaning of the legal system, state Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch said today.

The legal profession can "show people that the controversy of Escobedo-Dorado is essentially a struggle between two competing manifestations of the law's respect for its citizens," Lynch told members of the University of Southern California Law School Alumni Assn. at their annual Law Day luncheon.

The decisions show the law's respect "for each man's right, as a member of society, to live free of crime, and its respect for each man's right, as an accused, to remain silent and to have the assistance of counsel when charged with a criminal offense," Lynch said.

The attorney general said that through popularizing the meaning of these decisions, the legal profession could encourage appreciation of the law and correct the current situation in which the law is generally held in disrespect.

Redwood Junior Picked For Meet

Jan Troppmann, a Redwood High School junior, has been chosen to represent the school at this summer's 23rd annual Girls' State at the University of California's Davis campus.

Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Troppmann of 6 Key Largo Court, Corte Madera.

Jan Pedersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Pedersen of 11 Mann Drive, Kentfield, was chosen alternate delegate. She is also a junior at Redwood.

Lawmakers Wearily Meet Again

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Weary legislators, anxious to return home and campaign for the June 7 primary, convened for their 13th week today—fingers crossed this might be the lucky one.

Key developments were assured on the session's two major issues: a $4.6 billion state budget and Gov. Edmund G. Brown's accrual accounting plan. The latter would permit Brown to balance a record budget without raising taxes as he ran for a third term.

The Senate Finance Committee was scheduled to meet behind closedd oors late today to hammer out its version of a budget, to take effect July 1.

Assembly Republicans, who on April 4 blocked passage of the first budget proposal, meanwhile promised to take a carving knife to the spending program and recommend specific cuts.

Perry Gives Giants Big Lift For Dodgers Series

Gaylord Perry has some new tricks for 1966 as the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers may know by the time they leave San Francisco.

The Dodgers start a three-game series at Candlestick Park Tomorrow night with Juan Marichal slated to hurl for the Giants against Don Drysdale.

The last time the teams met in Candlestick Park was Aug. 22, 1965, the day Marichal bounced a bat off catcher John Roseboro's skull. So this reunion should be interesting, although all parties met again in spring training.

Perry, who beat the St. Louis Cards 2-0 yesterday on four singles, possibly will pitch for the Giants Thursday. He took the afternoon off today as the Giants went down the road a piece for their annual exhibition against the University of Santa Clara.

Manager Herman Franks said yesterday that Bob Shaw probably would be the first of four or five pitchers to work against the collegians.

This would seem to rule out Shaw for starting roles against the Dodgers. The right-hander has been unimpressive in his four starts.

"We were just throwing in the outfield," said Perry yesterday after he brought his record to 3-0. "And then the hard slider first broke for me."

Perry had been relying on his fast ball and a big breaking slider. These two pitches were not good enough in 1965 when he posted an 8-12 record and fell out of the starting rotation.

Perry's 1965 efforts went something like this: A couple of infield hits on topped grounders followed by a home run. He has yet to give up a homer this year.

Two of the singles off Perry yesterday never left the infield, but he never let it bother him and never let a Card get past first all day, striking out seven and walking none.

The Giants managed only three hits, all off starter and loser Bob Gibson. The third hit was a seventh-inning homer by Len Gabrielson.

The first hit, in the fourth inning, led to the Giants' initial run and to some anxious moments for the 31,273 Candlestick fans.

Dick Schofield opened the inning with a single. Willie Mays, with one out, then hit a grounder toward left that third baseman Charley Smith threw into the dirt at first for an error, Schofield going to third.

But Mays tripped over the glove of rookie first baseman George Kernek and did a complete flip in the air. Mays slightly bruised his left knee and had to leave the game. The team trainer said he should be ready tomorrow.

Good And Bad Trout Opener; Game Wardens Get Their Man

OPENING OF trout season Saturday was described as "good and bad" in Marin County with mixed results at the numerous fishin' holes.

The same description was particularly true at Lake Lagunitas: Good for the fishermen and bad—extremely bad—for the fish.

An army of some 1,000 anglers, including a great many children, stormed that Marin Municipal Water District lake and faster than you can look up Salmo irideus in the dictionary, approximately 7,000 of same were transferred from their natural habitat into creels via hook, line and sinker.

SINCE THE benevolent State Department of Fish and Game planted 10,000 catchable-sized Rainbow trout at Lagunitas only four months ago, the lake's population took one helluva beating in one day. If you hanker for a mess of trout, I'd suggest you hurry.

Also fitting into the "good" category for fishermen on opening day was the creek just below Nicasio Dam. The state planted silver salmon there during the winter and about 30 fishermen camped overnight for first crack at dawn Saturday. They limited out in short order, the fish measuring about nine inches in length.

ALPINE LAKE was not stocked with trout, so the few fish taken out of there were leftovers from previous years, measuring up to 12 inches.

Those who tried their luck at Bon Tempe reservior were disappointed. The state planted sub-catchables (about four-inchers) there four months ago, but the little fellers just weren't cooperating, although by now should have grown big enough to get their mouths around a hook.

GAME WARDEN Al Giddings, who along with fellow warden Russ Ild patrolled Marin shores all day, said Papermill Creek yielded mostly small fish, hardly worth while.

Nicasio Lake drew a crowd of about 150 fishermen in search of the 55,000 sub-catchables planted there four months ago, but very few trout were taken. Wardens saw two black bass and lots of blue gills taken there instead.

AT DRAKE'S Beach Estates in the National Seashore about 25 fishermen took about 100 fish, including Rainbows leftover from previous years and some of the 20,000 silver salmon planted there four months ago. Giddings suggests the silvers might provide some action when they return to the lagoon in October or November.

The game wardens did not issue a single citation over the weekend, proving once again that our sportsmen are extremely honest—or clever.

THE WARDENS, however, did engage in a Keystone Kop adventure at Tomales Bay. Standing there chatting, Giddings and Ild noticed a man carring a heavy-looking sack and decided to check him out.

However, the suspect spotted the wardens coming his way and took off on the run, leading them on a merry chase through blackberry bushes and over fences, all the while disposing of evidence along the way, which the wardens gathered in their pursuit.

WHEN THEY finally caught up with the suspect, Giddings and Ild had collected plenty of evidence. One pot, one potato, one onion, one spoon and approximately 200 cockles, half of which were undersized.

Confessed the culprit, "I was gonna have me a nice clam feed down on the beach."

1,500 YACHTS IN OPENING DAY BAY PARADE

San Rafael Skippers Steal The Show

San Francisco Bay looked more like Highway 101 during rush hour traffic yesterday as an estimated 1,500 boats—power, sail and row—helped open the 1966 yachting season.

Oyster Point Yacht Club of South San Francisco and North Bay Y.C. of San Rafael took most of the honors in the parade that was sponsored by the Pacific Inter-Club Yacht Assn.

The North Bay club won both power and overall division top awards in decorated boat competition and the Oyster Point sailors won first prize in the sail division.

Although appearing as a promotional ad for the San Francisco newspaper which sponsored the boat decoration contest, T. H. Chapman's Tootom III was judged the outstanding entry of the whole fleet. Champan, out of North Bay Y.C., had his 38-foot Chris-Craft cruiser decked out in a "Happiness is Boating" theme, with animated reproduction of Charles Schultz' "Peanuts" cartoon characters.

Doug Ordahl of Oyster Point Y.C. had his 24-foot sloop, "Valkyrie," decorated in a reproduction of an ancient Vikings boat, with a bright red overlay snaking the Scandinavian high gooseneck bow and transom. Oyster Point Y.C. won 6 of the 19 decoration prizes and North Bay Y.C. took home 5.

Bill Ryan of Sausalito, his 29-foot Columbia sloop adorned with gals in bikinis, tied for third place in the sailing division.

HANNUM IS HIRED

'Coach Of Year' Fired By 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dolph Schayes, the National Basketball Assn.'s Coach of the Year, was fired today as coach of the Philadelphia 76ers and replaced by Alex Hannum.

Irv Kosloff, owner of the club which won the Eastern Division title only to be eliminated in the recent playoffs by the champion Boston Celtics, said he made the coaching change for one reason, "to bring the NBA championship to this city (Philadelphia)."

Kosloff said Hannum, released at the end of the season after three years as coach of the San Francisco Warriors, "is familiar with the style of our club as he coached it when it was the Syracuse Nationals before moving to Philadelphia."

Hannum signed a two-year contract.

Kosloff said he notified Schayes, who had coached Philadelphia the past three years, last week that he would not be retained.

Of the 43-year-old Hannum, who has been coaching in the NBA about eight years, Kosloff said:

"He is a dynamic, strong, take-charge type of coach. His winning record speaks for itself . . . Alex is the only man to beat Boston for the NBA title in the past 10 years. His record of three divisional titles and an NBA championship team has produced a winning attitude among his players. He knows the NBA game thoroughly."

Hannum won national recognition as 6-foot-8 center for the University of Southern California. He became a pro in 1948 and played in the NBA with Baltimore, Syracuse, Rochester, Milwaukee, amd St. Louis and Fort Wayne, scoring 3,443 points with those teams.

In 1956-57 he was named coach of the St. Louis Hawks and led them to two Western Division titles and to the NBA championship in 1958. He also coached San Francisco to a Western title.

Despite winning at Philadelphia this season, Schayes had been criticized by some for alleged failure to exercise strong control of his team, particularly Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-1 super star who frequently missed practice sessions.

Stretching their win-loss record to 9-2, Sohner Tree Service softballers swept a pair of doubleheaders over the weekend, winning four games in two days.

Saturday the defending district champions beat Harpo's of San Francisco, 9-0 and 3-1, at Albert Park in San Rafael, and then whipped Santa Rosa's Windsor Merchants 8-0 and 4-3 yesterday in Memorial Park in San Anselmo.

Morey Swarm, in addition to pitching in two of the games, hit two three-run homers. Milt Hain collected nine hits in the four games and Ed Schulze had five.

DODGERS, BUCS, ASTROS CUBS WIN

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants have transformed possible liabilities into bonafide assets.

The very thing that worried Dodger Manager Walt Alston and Giant pilot Herman Franks most during spring training, the extended holdouts of Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw, has enabled Don Sutton and Gaylord Perry to step into the spotlight.

Both Sutton and Perry won shutouts for their third victories of the season yesterday as the Dodgers and Giants remained a half game behind league leading Pittsburgh.

Sutton worked eight innings and scattered five hits as the Dodgers blanked Cincinnati 3-0 and Perry limited St. Louis to four singles in a 2-0 San Francisco victory.

In other N. L. games, Pittsburgh smothered New York 8-0; Houston tripped Atlanta 7-1; and Chicago defeated Philadelphia 6-1.

In the American League, Sam McDowell pitched a one-hitter as the Cleveland Indians nipped Chicago 1-0; Baltimore tripped Detroit 4-1; Kansas City edged New York 1-0 in the first game of a twinbill and then lost the nightcap 10-4; Washington took the opener from Minnesota 5-3 and dropped the second game 3-1; California beat Boston 6-1 and then lost 9-1.

He Showed Alston yesterday

Sutton, the Dodgers' best pitching find in years, might have received an extra year of minor league experience at the tender age of 21, were it not for the spring training pitching crisis created by Koufax and Drysdale.

He showed Alston yesterday that he's ready right now by baffling the Reds. He did need relief help in the ninth from Ron Perranoski, however, marking the first time in the last six games that Los Angeles has had to call on its bullpen.

The Pirates scored single runs in the first and fourth and then exploded for five in the fifth to back Bob Veale's four hit pitching. The big rally was highlighted by doubles from Matty Alou, Roberto Clemente and Jim Pagliaroni, a triple by

TEXAS..OPEN

Foreigners Top U.S. Golf Tour

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) —Harold Henning of Johannesburg, South Africa, made it two tournaments in a row yesterday for foreigners to beat out United States pros by dragging off first place by three strokes in the $80,000 Texas Open.

Playing the final round on a rain-soaked Oak Hills Country Club course, the 31-year-old slim South African fired a two-under-par 68 yesterday to go with his previous rounds of 72-67-65 for a final score of 272 and eight under for the tournament.

Last week Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo won the twice-delayed by rain Dallas Open to give him $15,000 in prize money to take out of the country.

For Henning, it was his first tournament win in this country. But he has been red hot during the past year, winning about 10 tournaments in Europe, Africa and Asia. Some of his recent wins include the Malaya Open, the Canada Cup and the South African PGA crown, where he nudged out fellow countryman Gary Player.

The $13,000 first prize Texas Open money was the biggest official prize purse ever earned by Henning. However, he won $28,000 on a single shot in London in 1962 when he got a hole-in-one with a nine iron on a short hole.

Three strokes behind Henning for second place money of $5,433.33 each yesterday were Gene Littler of La Jolla, Calif., the first and third round leader, local pro Wes Ellis and Ken Still of Tacoma, Wash.

Bunched at 276 and four strokes off the lead were Jay Hebert of Lafayette, LA., Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., and Dave Marr of Litchfield Park, Ariz. Each netted $3,333.33 for their fifth-place tie.

HEAP BIG SMOKE, NO FIRE ON CEPEDA-SADECKI TRADE TALK

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was no action but a lot of talk yesterday about a trade that would send Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants to the St. Louis Cards for left-handed pitcher Ray Sadecki.

Newspaper reports about a possible swap developed when Cardinal general manager Bob Howsam was seen talking Saturday with San Francisco owner Horace Stoneham.

The Cards could use a slugging first baseman. Rookie George Kernek has only one extra base hit and three runs-batted-in so far this season.

St. Louis has six left-handed pitchers on a 13-man staff. And the Giants have no southpaw starters in a ball park where winds blowing to right field favor left-handed pitchers.

"Why should we relieve the Giants of their biggest problem," said a Cardinal spokesman. "They've got a stationary ball player they can't play."

Actually, Cepeda started in left field for two of the three games against the Cards and hit a homer Saturday. But his surgery-scarred right knee still makes him limp badly. The Giants have a full crop of outfielders without Orlando and Willie McCovey took over first base last year when Cepeda hardly played at all because of his 1964 knee operation.

Cepeda's incapacity to run was shown yesterday in the fourth inning when he hit a shot deep behind the bag at third and failed to beat the throw.

It Was A Bad Week For Mays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays went into his second week today in his jinxed pursuit of the National League home run record.

Since tying Mel Ott's mark of 511 in Houston on Sun., April 24, Mays has gone 2-for-18 as the plate and has failed to bat in a single run for the San Francisco Giants.

Mays has managed to pick up a good case of the stomach flu, a bruise on his right palm and a bruise on his left knee. The flu made him miss the last three innings of two games and an entire contest Thursday.

The latest mishap occurred yesterday as Candlestick Park on a play that started the second-place Giants on their way to a 2-1 victory over St. Louis.

In the fourth inning with Dick Schofield on first, Mays hit a slow grounder to third that Charley Smith threw into the dirt at first base for an error. Cardinal rookie first baseman George Kernek was groping for the ball on the baseline when Mays stumbled over his glove.

Mays turned a complete somersault in the air and landed on his back. He got up limping.

Schofield, the runner at first, ended on third and scored the Giants' initial run on a sacrifice fly.

Mays is expected to play tomorrow night when the Los Angeles Dodgers come to Candlestick Park. He also may see limited action today when the Giants play their annual benefit exhibition contest against the University of Santa Clara.

The bruise on Mays' right hand obviously has hampered his swing. Twice the past week, he lost the bat after missing a pitch, something that rarely ever happens to Mays. Only one hit this week has had the loft needed to get over the fence. It was a 410-foot out. The two hits have been doubles cracked on a low trajectory.

Willie Will Beat Ruth Mark—Kiner

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ralph Kiner, who slugged 54 homers while playing with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1949, says Willie Mays will break Babe Ruth's major league home run total of 714 "within the next five or six years."

"Unless he gets a severe injury or decides to quit, I think Willie can go on to hit more than 714," Kiner was quoted as saying today in a column by Al Abrams, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette sports editor.

Kiner said he believed that Ruth's home run total was unapproachable "until Mays started walloping homers at an average of 40 or better."

Mays' recent homer tied Mel Ott's National League homer mark of 511. The San Francisco outfielder would have to hit 40 home runs or better for the next five seasons to crack Ruth's mark.

Asked if age might hinder the 34-year-old Mays' drive on Ruth's record, Kiner, a sportscaster with the New York Mets, said, "I don't care how old he is.

"Mays seems to get better and stronger with age. Forget about the rests he takes now and then. They don't mean a thing. Willie is good for five or six more years.

"I think Willie can go at top speed until he is 40, perhaps a little longer. That's why I think he can break Ruth's mark. The longer he goes, the better shot he has," said Kiner.

Kiner said it was his belief Hank Aaron, outfielder for the Atlanta Braves, will wind up No. 3 in career home runs.

Tars Win, Lose In Twin Bill

College of Marin's baseballers hit and scored like big leaguers Saturday, but had to settle for a split in a Golden Valley Conference twin bill with Shasta, winning the first one, 10-5, and losing the second, 10-9, at Redding.

Jim Timmel went the distance for the Tars in the first game, was clipped for 2 runs in the first inning, but then stiffened the rest of the way, scattering 14 Shasta safeties.

Ray Valconesi homered with one aboard in the fourth inning and the Mariners forged ahead for keeps in the seventh, supporting Timmel with 12 base hits.

Despite homers by Jerry Daniele in the first and Lorrie Galassi in the fourth—both with one on—and a solo shot by Valconesi in the fifth, the Tars still came an eyelash from victory in the second game.

Marin now has a 4-6 GVC record.

Knopf Stars, Tars 8th In Norcal Swim

Led by butterfly artist Tom Knopf who virtually clinched All-American recognition in a brilliant 100-yard performance, College of Marin's swimming team placed eighth in an 18-team field Friday and Saturday at the Northern Junior College Championships at Visalia.

With Knopf's first place in the 100 fly and second in the 200-yard event leading the way, the Tars of Coach Bob Justice tallied 89 points. Foothill College of Los Altos Hills won the title with San Mateo second and College of the Sequoias (Visalia) third.

Knopf's 53.9 seconds clocking for the century was, according to Justice, "the fastest time in the state this year, as far as I know. He should make the All-American J.C. team on the strength of it."

Knopf was timed in 2:05.8 for his second place in the 200, about a length behind the winner.

Marin's 800-yard relay team of Bill Anderson, Steve Hoxie, Knopf and Dean Ferrandini placed fourth in 7:50.6 and the 400-yard medley quartet of the busy Knopf, Ferrandini, Anderson and Bill Pandiani was sixth in 3:55.4.

Chicago took advantage of six Philadelphia errors as Bill Faul stopped the Phils on six hits. A total of 10 errors were committed in the loosely played game but Faul managed to overcome his team's miscues to beat former teammate Larry Jackson and turn in the Cubs' first complete game performance of the year.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Special Meeting On Braves' Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee-Atlanta situation will be discussed at a special meeting of the National League late this afternoon, a day before the two major leagues hold a joint session.

Although Wisconsin circuit court judge Elmer Roller ordered the Braves to return to Millwaukee May 18 if league had not made expansion plans for 1967, including Milwaukee, by May 16, there was no indication of any immediate expansion.

"Expansion will be discussed," said league president Warren Giles before leaving his Cincinnati home. "I do not anticipate any action will be taken at this meeting.

"We will hear the report of our counsel on the Wisconsin case. It may be necessary to have another meeting before May 16."

Giles said the league would consider the report of the players' association and other matters, such as a proposed trip to Japan by the Los Angeles Dodgoner which will come up for discussion at the joint meeting tomorrow morning, called by Commissioner William Eckert.

It had been reported that the state of Georgia is considering filing suit directly to the U.S. Supreme Court against the state of Wisconsin to expedite a final decision on the Braves.

The Wisconsin court ruled April 13 that the Braves and the National League had violated Wisconsin's antitrust laws and their refusal to issue a franchise to Milwaukee County was restraint of trade and commerce.

However, a Georgia court has issued a permanent injunction calling on the Braves and the league to fulfill a 25-year contract for use of the new stadium in Atlanta.

The entire matter almost certainly will wind up in the U.S. Supreme Court sooner or later.

Strange Home Ice Jinx In Stanley Cup Battle

DETROIT (UPI) —The Montreal Canadiens have evened the Stanley Cup series at 2-2 but now they have to face the strangest hex of the season—the home ice disadvantage.

The Canadiens squeezed past Detroit here yesterday, 2-1 on Ralph Backstrom's third period goal and for the fourth time in as many games the home team lost.

The Red Wings had taken a 1-0 lead midway in the second period yesterday on Norm Ullman's goal and for a while it looked as if relief goalie Hank Bassen, playing for injured Roger Crozier, could make the Detroit lead stand up.

With just nine seconds left in the middle session, however, big Jean Beliveau fired a sizzler that beat the plucky substitute net-minder on Montreal's power play.

In the last period both Bassen and Montreal goaltender Gump Worsley made brilliant saves before Ralph Backstrom shot the winner for the Canadiens with just 6:23 remaining to play.

"I thought we played well," Abel said. "I don't think we can play better than that."

Bulls Go For Youth In Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chicago Bulls, the latest entry in the National Basketball Assn., don't expect much help in the draft and probably will go with the players they plucked off the rosters of the existing clubs last weekend.

"This is what we bought," Bulls general manager Dick Klien said yesterday after he had culled 18 players from the rosters of the present teams.

"These 18 players are our team."

Klien went for youth, taking Jerry Sloan, Nate Bowman and Jim Washington, all first round draft choices from last year. Other first year men selected were Keith Erickson, 6-foot-6 from San Francisco, and Barry Clemens, 6-7 from New York.

Sloan is a 6-6 forward-guard from Baltimore, Bowman a 6-10 center from Cincinnati and Washington a 6-7 forward from St. Louis.

Klein has not yet named the coach for the team that begins NBA play next season, but said he might make an announcement in Chicago tomorrow. Speculation centers around Kerr, a 33-year-old veteran of 12 years in the league.

The Bulls don't figure to pick up much in the May 11 draft. They pick last on the first round, third and fourth on the second and last the rest of the way.

Their selections Saturday and yesterday were made from a pool of 40 players made available by the other clubs. They named 10 from the Eastern teams Saturday and eight from the Western squads yesterday.

The total cost for the selections and the franchise was $1.6 million, with no breakdown on how much what went for what.

FAVORED GRAUSTARK IS INJURED

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—With Graustark sidelined by a broken bone, Saturday's running of the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby shaped up today as a wide-open scramble with at least four colts vying for the favorite's role.

There are about 20 3-year-olds either at Churchill Downs or en route who can be listed as possible starters in the 1¼-mile race. However, the list may be trimmed to 14 or even 12 by the weather Tomorrow's Derby Trial and owners' unwillingness to part with the $1,500 necessary to get a horse into the starting line-up.

Entries for the first of the Triple Crown series, which also includes the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, will be made Thursday morning. Post time Saturday is 2:45 p.m., PDT.

PROBABLY FOREVER

"He is through racing for the season and probably forever," said Gentry after listening to the report of Dr. Alex Harthill—the veternarian who had nursed the Darby Dan Farm colt through a series of ailments, including bucked shins last year and a sprained ankle early this season.

The colt, still in intense pain, will be sent to the farm at Lexington, Ky., within a few days and is expected to enter the stud there. The final decision will be up to owner John Galbreath.

Graustark's failure to make the Big One also did away with any possibility of a clash between the two most talked of horses of 1965.

Buckpasser, the other, is convalescing from a quarter-crack. He took the Flamingo this year following a 2-year-old campaign which carried him to the juvenile title.

Graustark was unbeaten in his first seven races, three last year, but was beaten by Abe's Hope in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland last Thursday.

The Derby Figger Filberts lost no time going to work on the remainder of the field. They came up with Abe's Hope, owned by John Bartell and Robert Byfield of Chicago, as the probable 5-2 choice.

Abe's Hope has not run abad race this year. The Illinois-bred son of Better Bee had Buckpasser beaten in the Flamingo only to lose in the final stride. He finished first in the Florida Derby but was disqualified and placed fourth.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

Bill Shoemaker, winner of three Derbies, will ride Abe's Hope —a factor that figures to draw financial support from the usual crowd of more than 100,000.

Michael Ford's Kauai King, rated by Gentry as good enough to beat Buckpasser, is the probable second choice at 3-1. Gentry trained the son of Native Dancer last year. He wound up his Derby prep with a victory in Bowie's Governor's Gold Cup.

Stupendous gets into the Derby because of a second thought. Trainer Eddie Neloy announced nearly two weeks ago that the Wheatley Colt would not be a Derby starter. But Mrs. Phipps had a change of mind three days ago and the son of Bold Ruler arrived late yesterday afternoon as rain pelted the Downs for the 14th straight day.

The forecast, however, called for clearing skies by tomorrow and fair weather the remainder of the week.

William G. Helis Jr.'s Sky Guy, who has showed little except speed, was listed as a probable starter when Trainer Jimmy Combest asked for stall space. He is due from New York within a day or so.

Today is Monday, May 2, the 122nd day of 1966 with 243 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Jupiter.

Bing Crosby was born on this day in 1904.

On this day in history:

In 1865, President Andrew Johnson offered a reward of $10,000 for the capture of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

In 1933, Adolf Hitler abolished labor unions in Germany and created a "labor front" to control all workers.

In 1945, the Allies announced surrender of Nazi troops in Italy and southern and western Austria.

In 1960, Caryl Chessman, who had won eight stays of execution since his 1948 conviction on robbery, kidnapping and attempted rape charges, was put to death in the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison.

A thought for the day—St. Thomas Aquinas: "Three things are necessary for the salvation of man. To know what to believe, to know what he ought to desire and to know what he ought to do."

Opening lead — ♠ 6

South drew three rounds of trumps and led the ten of clubs, relying on his ability to guess the right play.

Weep only a few tears; South played the king of clubs from dummy, and the opponents took two club tricks in a hurry.

NOT A HERO

"I'd have been a hero if I'd played the jack of clubs, "South remarked dolefully.

He was wrong.

He'd have been lucky, but no hero.

The club guess should be South's third line of attack.

He should make a heart play first and a diamond play second.

If both fail, he should try to guess the right play in clubs.

QUEEN DROPS

South should draw three rounds of trumps, discarding a club from dummy. Then he should cash the top hearts and ruff a heart.

When the queen of hearts fails, South gets to dummy with a diamond and discards a club on the jack of hearts.

This guarantees the slam.

If the queen of hearts fails to drop South should lead out the three top diamonds.

If each opponent holds three diamonds, South can discard a club on dummy's last diamond.

If both red suits fail to produce the twelfth trick, South ruffs dummy's last diamond and leads a club.

Only now it is necessary for South to put himself to the guess.

The big advantage of playing the red suits first in this hand is that each attempt costs nothing and leaves you in position for the next attempt.

School Construction Seminar To Emphasize Use Of Glass

SAN FRANCISCO — Use of glass to improve a school's design will be discussed by San Francisco area architects, engineers and school officials at a special school construction seminar, May 4, at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel here.

The effectiveness of daylight from a side window wall in illuminating visual tasks, as well as the types of glass which increase comfort within a school, will be shown by Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. as part of this program on current school building trends.

A model classroom will be used to show that schools using daylight from a side window wall as primary light source, and artificial lighting as a supplement, have more effective illumination than buildings with overhead lighting only.

Sponsoring the local school construction seminar is the San Francisco chapter of the Producers Council, Inc., a national organization of manufacturers of quality products and equipment.

Participants will include Otto F. Wenzler, architectural consultant, from the company's home office in Toledo, Ohio, and A. C. Anderson, of San Francisco, field representative in the company's local office. Wenzler will moderate a panel discussion on school trends and Anderson will be in charge of the company's exhibit.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Richard Turner, Wife, To Run New Lake County Radio Station

Lake County's first radio station, KBLC, scheduled to sign on the air the first week of June, will be managed by a young Novato man whose ambition has been to "be on his own" in the broadcasting business.

Richard Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Turner of Marin radio station KTIM, will move with his wife Elizabeth to Lakeport about the middle of this month to get ready for the station's opening. Young Turner, a product of Novato grade schools, San Rafael High School and a business administration course at College of Marin, has been working recently in assistant managership jobs in local markets. Most recent of these has been at the Novato Jolly Market.

But during these years he has spent some time getting experience at KTIM, and wife Elizabeth has been working there for the past two years — so the new station will be a team effort.

KBLC, said to stand for "Keep Boosting Lake County," will be a 1,000-watt station at 1270 on the AM dial, broadcasting from sunup to sundown. Studios will be at 405 North Main Street, Lakeport; aerial tower is now under construction three miles south of Lakeport and just north of Mt. Konocti.

"The community is anxious to have us get started," Turner said. "It should be a catalyst to draw many different elements in the county together."

ANOTHER, UNRELATED, Lake County-Marin County tie-in is the recent opening in San Anselmo's Essex Buildings of Clear Lake Riviera, real estate development firm specializing in recreation homesites on 1,300 acres of property at the southwest side of Clear Lake about two miles from Konocti Harbor Inn (no connection with Don Emerson, mentioned above). Mrs. Codee Ainsworth is San Anselmo manager.

Clear Lake Riviera is headquartered in San Francisco and has other branch offices in Palo Alto and Burlingame. The company conducts a weekly bus tour to its Lake County properties on Sundays.

NEW TECHNIQUES and the fundamentals of investing will be covered in a new course by Bache and Co., Inc. to be held Thursday evenings at 7:30 in the Manor School, 150 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax. Sessions will be for three successive weeks starting May 5 — this week. David Witthoft of Greenbrae, a Bache representative of the San Francisco office, will conduct the course. To reserve seats, call the Bache office at 120 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

HERBERT C. HELLER of Terra Linda, vice president and treasurer of the 23-store Baby News Center, has announced the signing of a lease for a 24th store at 353 University Avenue, Palo Alto. San Rafael store is located at 514 Fourth Street. Combined gross sales of all Baby News stores last year were $3.68 million.

ADOLPH MUELLER II of Belvedere has been promoted to assistant vice president in Wells Fargo Bank's national division.

PAUL E. NIELSEN of East San Rafael is the first Marin resident to win the big $500 prize in Tidewater Associated Oil's contest in matching two halves of a check since the drawings started last February, although several lesser prizes have been won here. Nielsen picked up both sections of the winning ticket at Fredieu's Flying A Service, 167 Third Street, San Rafael. Anyone can participate at Flying A Stations without making a purchase.

BRAIN DAMAGE—Rescue workers uncouple the parachute of Nick Piantanida after he landed on Minnesota farm land yesterday with serious injuries resulting from lack of oxygen. It was his third attempt at the world's free fall record. (UPI Telephoto)

Sky Diver 'Critical' From Lack Of Oxygen

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (UPI) —Sky diver Nick Piantanida, foiled in his third attempt to set a world's free fall record when a freak accident cut off his oxygen while aloft in the earth's stratosphere, fought for his life today.

Piantanida was rushed to a hospital here after suffering brain damage in a heart-stopping, 10-mile plunge to earth yesterday in his gondola suspended from a balloon. Hospital officials said he remained unconscious and in critical condition today.

Less than half way to his planned altitude of 124,000 feet, the face visor on Piantanida's spacesuit cracked and released his vital supply of oxygen. He had time to gasp only a few hoarse words on the radio to his ground controllers before lapsing into unconsciousness.

The ground crew immediately released the gondola from a giant helium-filled balloon, and Piantanida plunged earthward. He was taken to the hospital moaning and sucking on an oxygen tube.

The Bricktown, N.J., father of three had hoped to ride the balloon to the planned height and then jump overboard, falling more than 20 miles before opening his parachute. The current free fall record of 83,523.41 feet is held by Russian Eugene Andreev.

Taped transcripts of the conversation between Piantanida and the ground crew indicated the sky diver blacked out almost immediately after his face visor cracked. He apparently was without oxygen for about three and one-half minutes as the gondola zoomed toward the ground.

Twice before, Piantanida failed to accomplish his mission. In October, 1965, his balloon burst and he was dropped on Pig's Eye dump in St. Paul, Minn. In January of this year, he set an unofficial altitude record by riding his balloon to 123,800 feet, but he was unable to disconnect his main oxygen line and could not jump from the gondola.

French Climbers Conquer Peak And Gain Water

YOSEMITE (AP) — Two French mountain climbers who scaled Yosemite's sheer El Capitan peak made it a day ahead of schedule after they got thirsty.

Jacques Dupont and Andre Gauci, both 28 and of Grenoble, told a friend that they would have waited until daylight yesterday to complete the last 500 feet but they were out of water. The climbers said that forced them to press on to the top Saturday night.

The climb took six days. It was the first time a team of Europeans had scaled the peak, although several American teams have done it since El Capitan first was conquered in 1958.

Hub Chamber Seeks Eatery

That was the decision reached by directors of the San Anselmo chamber of commerce Friday. What is more, they said, they know the perfect spot for one—the long-empty ground floor of the Cheda Building at San Anselmo and Tunstead Avenues.

Directors voted that their business committee seek to interest a restaurant in the corner shop, which last housed Jack's drug store.

Chamber directors also voted to hold a general membershap breakfast meeting once a month(starting in May.

By PAT PERRY

If you should have the misfortune to die penniless in Marin County, you will be buried at public expense—but it will be in an unmarked grave.

The county will pay $250 for your funeral, and $100 for cemetery costs—but will not pay for a marker or headstone.

One of the county's longest lived residents, Mrs. Catherine Washington of Marin City who died last year at 104, is among many buried in unmarked graves at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

"Mother" Washington's grave can be located only by consulting a map in the cemetery office. There is no marker, no headstone. Widow of a methodist minister, she outlived six of her seven children, and her only survivor, Juanita, lives in Europe. She was given a pauper's burial on April 6 last year at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

SAVINGS CLAIMED

Her life savings, $583.44, in a bank savings account and Christmas Club at Sausalito, were forfeited in probate to defray creditor's claims by the County of Marin for medical and hospital costs.

The county never has paid for markers in indigent burials. Until the last decade, indigents who died in the county were buried in a Potter's Field on the county farm in Lucas Valley. There are 284 graves there now, identified only by numbers set in five-inch concrete discs. Wooden boards that once bore names on the graves have long since disappeared, and the cemetery has disintegrated into a weed-strewn patch behind a garage. Cattle are driven across is. Straw, lumber and old brick lie on the concrete numbers.

CHANGE IN POLICY

Indigent are no longer buried in a Potter's Field. (The term derives from an old burial place for strangers at Jerusalem.) They are buried at Mount Olivet Cemetery if Catholic, or at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery if Protestant. Nor are they buried in a special section; but there is no form of identification whatsoever on their grave.

Why doesn't the county pay for markers?

Because the cost of a marker isn't covered in the sum alloted for indigent burials.

County resolution 6557, dated Dec. 27, 1960, requires the Wel-

THIS IS A CEMETERY — From the late 19th Century until the 1950's the County of Marin buried indigents in this Potter's Field on the county farm in Lucas Valley. Today the cemetery is a patch of weeds; the only intimation that graves are located there are 284 concrete discs, each bearing a number. The County Social Service Department maintains a file identifying the numbers and names.

Bombs, Infantry Pound Viet Cong

COMBINED UPI & AP

SAIGON — Giant B-52 bombers struck at Viet Cong retreating before doggedly pursuing U.S. infantrymen today in a jungle sanctuary near the Cambodian border where the GIs cut down 131 guerrillas in a weekend fight.

Troops of the 1st Infantry Division, literally hacking their way through the soggy, stiffling jungle pushed through War Zone C which intelligence officers call one of the key guerilla havens in the south.

VINH RAID

The area, about 75 miles northwest of Saigon, is a main southern terminal for the Ho Chi Minh supply trail from North Viet Nam and is said to contain the headquarters of Viet Cong chieftan Nguyen Huu Tho.

PLANES LOST

Although weather curtailed air missions over the Communist North, A-4 Skyhawks and F-8 crusaders from the carrier Hancock saturated the missile site 34 miles northeast of Vinh, on the North Vietnamese coast, with Bullpup air-to-surface missiles and 500- and 600-pound bombs. A spokesman said they destroyed everything within a 400-foot-square area, including two Soviet-built missile launchers.

U.S. spokesmen reported the loss of two more planes over North Viet Nam, raising the total shot down there to 227, but the pilots of both were rescued by helicopters. Four U.S. planes were lost over the North Friday.

Oregon's U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse says the United States could find itself at war with Red China if a slight error occurred while American planes bombed North Viet Nam.

WAR PERIL

"Out of bombers traveling 1,500 miles an hour, we are dropping bombs that are falling 30 miles from the Chinese border," Morse told a news conference here Sunday.

"Take out your pencils and see how much miscalculation (it would take) . . . and you're at war with Red China," he said.

Morse urged that the United States stop th bombing and pull American forces back to selected enclaves, then begin an "all-out peace effort . . . within the framework of the Charter of the United Nations."

The Democratic senator said he opposed sending American troops to South Viet Nam, but that "I have never been for complete withdrawal. That would result in the worst bloodbath in history."

Very Private Talk For Pope, Lodge

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI discussed the Viet Nam crisis today in a 40-minute meeting with Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to Saigon.

The Pope and the ambassador conferred in the privacy of the library in the pontiff's apartment. Not even interpreters were present. They spoke in French.

The audience lasted five minutes less than the 45-minute audience in which Pope Paul and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko discussed peace problems just a week ago.

The Italian press had speculated that Lodge was calling on the Pope in part to balance with the U.S. view whatever Gromyko may have told him about Viet Nam.

Some expressed belief the pontiff and the ambassador discussed the Roman Catholic situation in Viet Nam. Lodge has been accused by some Viet Nam Catholics of favoring the Buddhists in the Viet Nam political struggle.

Hearing Refused In Obscenity Case

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its March 21 decision affirming conviction of publisher Ralph Ginzberg for obscenity.

Ginzburg was convicted in federal court in Philadelphia of violating federal obscenity law, sentenced to five years' imprisonment, and fined $28,000.

Publisher of Eros magazine, Ginzburg said neither a nine-year-old obscenity standard set by the Supreme Court nor the court's later rulings gave him warning that the manner in which a publication is advertised could establish the material as being obscene.

Justice William J. Brennan, author of the court's majority opinion, said "Eros was created, represented and sold solely as a claimed instrument of the sexual stimulation it would bring." The court's vote was 5 to 4.

The Court affirmed a lower tribunal's ruling that Texas may not make payment of a $1.05 poll tax a condition to voting in local elections.

A three-judge U.S. District court in Austin, Tex., on Feb. 9 ruled the annual Texas levy violated the U.S. Constitution's due process of law garantee. On March 24 the Supreme Court ruled that imposition of poll taxes as prerequisite to voting in state and local elections violates the Constitution.

Waggoner Carr, Texas attorney general, in an April 14 appeal to the Supreme Court said he believed the issue was settled by the high tribunal's March 24 decisions, in two Virginia cases. But he said the state's attorneys did not agree with the legal principles announced March 24, and if the Supreme Court did not act on their appeal Texas would be without a valid voter registration system for the 1967 election unless a special session of the Legislature is called before Oct. 1.

The Court also refused to review the $91,000 income tax evasion conviction of Washington business consultant Fred B. Black Jr., who figured prominently in the Senate investiga-

Jewels Found In Canaries With Couple

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (UPI)—A San Francisco couple detained by police here last Friday in connection with the disappearance of jewels from a San Francisco store traveled erroneously to the Canaries instead of to the Balearic Islands, police sources said here today.

"They admitted they stole the jewels," a police spokesman said.

(Cross is a former resident of Corte Madera. He was injured in a fire at the house at 296 Summit Drive, Corte Madera, which he was renting, on April 11, 1962. He later moved to San Francisco.)

Police said the couple intended to go to Palma de Mallorca, instead of to Las Palmas, Canary Islands, where they arrived April 22.

"They said they planned to go to Palma de Mallorca and

Search Abandoned For Missing Fliers

A two-week search for a missing airplane whose four passengers included two Corte Maderans was called off last night on Air Force orders. The plane is presumed crashed in rugged Colorado mountain country.

Riding in the plane, which disappeared on a flight from San Francisco to Denver on April 18, were Lee Levine of Corte Madera, and Wilson Tsang of Harbor Drive, Corte Madera.

Levine was president of Glacier Industries Inc., of San Francisco, and had recently moved to Corte Madera from Tiburon.

More than 500 persons took part in ground searches this weekend in the Sangre de Cristo mountains and the Wolf Creek Pass area of Colorado.

The Colorado Civil Air Patrol halted the massive search on Air Force orders last night, but said if further leads developed it would resume the search for the Cessna 210.

A CAP official said air and ground units covered more than 500,000 square miles in the search, which was hampered because the pilot did not file a flight plan for the hop from Durango to either Denver or Pueblo, Colo.

The plane was last heard from when the pilot radioed the Farmington, N.M., airport tower to ask for weather conditions.

Boat Destroyed At Pier By Fire

A 30-foot cabin cruiser, belonging to a San Rafael man, was completely destroyed last night when it caught fire while tied at a pier at McNear's Point off San Pedro Road.

According to the Marin County Fire Department, the fire started as the owner, Robert B. Moore of 136 San Rafael Avenue, San Rafael, was cleaning valves with solvent, and an electric light set the solvent on fire. The fire department was called at 10:20 p.m.

Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Wire Break Cuts Off Electricity

An electric wire broke at Millwood Street and East Blithedale Avenue in Mill Valley at 2:37 p.m., Saturday, knocking out electric power to about 1,000 homes in the central area of the city.

The loss of power was similar to that of last Tuesday when a wire fell and the same number of customers lost electric service. Cause of the broken wire, as last week's, was undetermined, reported Leonard O. Robertson, Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electric superintendent, today.

Robertson said power was restored Saturday to 850 homes by 3:10 p.m. and to the remaining homes by 4:05 p.m.

Florida Kidnaper Contacts Rabbi; Club Operator, Wife Held, Robbed

Father Pleads For Answer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Aaron Goldman, wealthy Miami contractor, said today a man who may have been the kidnaper of his 18-year-old son, Daniel, had contacted a rabbi in New York.

Goldman appealed to the abductor to contact the rabbi again for "an important message from us" or to get in touch with a clergyman of any faith anywhere in the world.

"Once the clergyman has been able to identify our son, the ransom will be paid through the church in any manner you direct. It will be sent to any

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three gunmen kidnaped the son and daughter-in-law of wealthy restaurant operator Mel Weiss early today and robbed Weiss' Whisky A Go Go club of $3,500.

The robbers took the young couple back to their Diamond Heights apartment after the holdup and stole Mrs. Weiss' $950 mink stole. They overlooked $380 in cash.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor assured the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today he sees no need for an anti-inflationary tax increase now. He told the opening session of the chamber's 54th annual meeting that the economic signs are not cause for "undue alarm, any more than they are cause for complacency."

Attorney Urges Encouragement Of Uprisings

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — An attorney who investigated incidents at Berkeley for the University of California Board of Regents said yesterday that similar student uprising should not only be expected but encouraged by trustees and regents of American colleges and universities.

Jerome C. Byrne of Los Angeles told the 44th annual meeting of the Capital Assn. of governing boards of universities and colleges that the students' energy can be converted into many worthwhile social and political changes.

"The dissatisfaction and the unrest of serious students, it seems to me, should correspondingly be the dissatisfaction and the unrest of the trustees."

Byrne said trustees in general should remove any university barriers to protests by students and faculty.

Fickle Hearted Friend Of LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the troops at his elbow, the commander in chief picked up his "favorite little girl friend" and confidently asked, "Who do you love?"

But yesterday was Courtenay's day to be fickle. Without hesitation she replied: "I love Pat," looking over the President's shoulder to Patrick J. Nugent, Johnson's future son-in-law.

The shift in affections by the young daughter of presidential assistant Jack Valenti touched off a round of laughter in Johnson's office in which the President, his daughter Luci—who will become Nugent's bride in August, and Nugent joined. It also drew laughs from the troops—13 wounded Viet Nam veterans who were getting a special tour of the White House at the time.

Protestants Ponder Union

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—On a note of high hope, representatives of an expanded array of American Christian bodies met today at a decisive crossroads on their way toward a unified church.

Before them, for the first time, was a specific outline for union.

The chairman of the commission which drew it up, Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterians, said he is "more optimistic" than ever before about the prospects.

With two additional denominations joining the talks for the first time, eight major communions now are involved with a total of more than 24 million members.

Also heightening the scope of the affair was the entry of the African Methodist Episcopal Church (predominantly Negro) and the Presbyterian Church U.S. (Southern and mainly white).

The proposed plan allows for wide diversity in worship forms but provides for linking of ministries and work. It would affirm the Apostles' and Nicene creeds and uphold the Bible as "the norm" of the church's total life and the yardstick of all its doctrines.

Singer, Author Farina Killed

Farina

Farina, brother-in-law of famed folksinger Joan Baez and a nationally acclaimed performer in his own rights, was killed Saturday two miles east of here after attending an autographing party for his first novel, "Been Down So Long It Looks Like Up To Me."

The highway patrol said that Farina, who was due in San Francisco for another autographing party that night, was riding on the back of a speeding motorcycle driven by a friend, William E. Hind, a marine biologist, when the crash occurred.

Farina suffered a depressed skull fracture and was dead before he could be removed from the accident scene. Hind, 27, of the Hopkins Marine Station, a Stanford University facility at Pacific Grove, was reported in good condition yesterday at Peninsula Community Hospital.

Precedent Said To Be Lacking In Dodd Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said yesterday the Senate Ethics Committee lacked precedent to deal with allegations Sen. Thomas J. Dodd improperly handled funds contributed to him.

But McCarthy, a member of the committee, said it "could take some action" on other charges that Dodd improperly represented the interests of Julius Klein, a lobbyist representing West German clients.

Dodd asked the committee and the FBI to investigate both allegations, raised in a series of articles by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

McCarthy, whose comments were made in a television interview, said he did not think "we ought to allow ourselves to be moved to judge the conduct of a senator by standards which have never been defined."

China Leader Absent In May Day Show; Vietnamese Demonstrate

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Russians showed no new military hardware at their Moscow parade. Mao Tze-tung did not appear in Peking. And 7,000 South Vietnamese staged an anti-American demonstration in front of the U. S. Embassy in Saigon.

Reviewing a military parade in Moscow's Red Square, Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky accused the United States of waging "a foul bandit war against the heroic Vietnamese people."

"Together with the other Socialist countries," Malinovsky said, "we support our Vietnamese brothers and are rendering them and will continue to render them all possible assistance."

Other Soviet leaders standing atop Lenin's Tomb in a cold rain reviewed the parade, which included floats denouncing the U. S. presence in Viet Nam.

Radio Peking said three million persons turned out for the celebrations in the Communist Chinese capital, but Communist party Chairman Mao was absent. Mao, 72, has not been seen in public for more than five months.

During the Peking rally, Premier Chou En-lai warned the United States that "even more disastrous defeats are in store" if the Viet Nam war is expanded. He said U. S. efforts to set up peace talks would fail.

In South Viet Nam, the chant "Da Dao My" — Down with Americans — resounded outside the U. S. Embassy in Saigon where Vietnamese troops faced 7,000 farmers, dockworkers and students demonstrating for peace. There was no violence.

Primary Interest High In Alabama

Wallace is barred from running for re-election but his wife, Lurleen, is seeking to turn aside anyone else at the statehouse door. She is one of 10 candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Governorships are up in all those states except Indiana. Two of the six — Alabama and Oklahoma — have contests over nominations for the Senate.

In Alabama, Mrs. Wallace, a 39-year-old blonde, generally is expected to top the field of 10 contenders. The big questions are whether she can get a majority of all the votes and who will be runner-up. If no one gets a majority, the top two candidates will be a runof May 31.

The other contenders are former governors James E. Folsom and John Patterson, former Rep. Carl Elliott, State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, State Sen. Bob Gilchrist, Agriculture Commissioner A. W. Todd, Charles Woods, Sherman Powell and Eunice I. Gore.

Tomorrow's voting is the first preliminary balloting before next fall's general election when 435 House members, to sit during the last two years of President Johnson's present term, will be elected. Thirty-five governors and 35 senators also are to be elected in the fall.

It will be the first important voting in the South since extensive federal efforts under the new voting rights law in behalf of Negro voting rights.

The Justice Department plans to have 31 federal offices open in Alabama on election day to receive and investigate any complaints of voter intimidation.

Car Theft, Assault Are Charged

An 18-year-old Santa Rosa youth, Ronald Lee Germon, was booked in Marin County jail Saturday for alleged car theft, assault with the vehicle on a security guard, and being drunk.

He was then released on his own recognizance by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. and scheduled for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Sheriff's officers said Germon was passenger in a car owned and driven by John Daniel Howard Jr., 18, of 17 Kristin Lane, Novato.

They went to Burge's Drive-In Restaurant, Ignacio, about 11 p.m. Friday, according to the report, and Germon stole the vehicle after Howard walked away to talk with friends.

Felix Heredia, restaurant security guard, told deputies the speeding car almost struck him, forcing him to leap aside. Germon continued driving at high speed, Heredia said, until he smashed the car into a large tree. He was uninjured.

Morse Supported By Candidate For Congress

Phillip Drath of San Rafael, who is running for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First District, shared a San Francisco speakers platform with Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Friday, and charged that the war in Viet Nam is doing more harm than good to the state's economy.

Drath, who like Morse is highly critical of this country's role in the war, said it is "crippling and will continue to cripple every decent governmental program in California."

While he conceded the war has brought an "immediate but temporary shot in the arm to the state's economy," Drath said this was offset by employment instability and the drain of money from programs to set up redwood and seashore parks or to build homes.

The meeting was sponsored by the Californians for Liberal Representation.

BURIALS

fare Department to pay "the sum of $250, including tax, for each county burial of indigent death." This amount includes preparation for burial, clothing the body in "regularly manufactured cloth," and provides a committal service at the place of burial "in conformity with the apparent religious belief of deceased."

How much would it cost the county to buy markers?

Prices vary for monuments, and elaborate memorials can cost thousands of dollars, but one local cemetery official estimates that plain, flat markers could be bought in bulk for $30 to $50 each.

Last year the county paid for 43 indigent burials at $350 each, and estimates for the next fiscal year's budget ask for the same amount.

Four funeral directors undertake indigent burials on a monthly rotation basis, taking care of all county burials that occur in their month. They are Russell and Gooch, Mill Valley; Redwood Chapel, Novato; Chapel of Marin, Novato, and Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Committal services for these burials are supposed to be announced publicly, according to a stipulation of the county resolution, so that any friends of the deceased may attend the service. In practice the burials sometimes take place without announcement, with only the officiating minister, and sometimes a county social worker, present.

The Welfare Department (now called the Social Service Department) is obligated to pay for the burial of any indigent who dies within the county, even if not a Marin resident, so figures don't necessarily reflect the number of county residents who die penniless.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini dedicated a new San Rafael city park, a five-acre neighborhood park adjacent to Santa Margarita School at the end of De La Guerra Road, on Saturday, and school pupils used the occasion for a festival. They're dancing on the school grounds, as recreational facilities have not yet been installed on the park, which will be developed by the San Rafael Park and Recreation Department.

Yachtsmen Wax Hot Over Tangle

A prominent Piedmont builder yesterday was arrested by Marin County sheriff's deputies after he allegedly struck a Lafayette psychiarist with a boat hook during an argument over a near-ocllision near Angel Island.

Dr. Herbert C. Enos, 48, was reported in fair condition today in Marin General Hospital with a concussion and scalp cuts.

The builder, Dean Morrison, 58, was booked in Marin County jail at 8:55 p.m. on charges of assault with a deadly weapon. He was released in his own recognizance by Judge Leonard B. Thomas pending court appearance at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Mrs. Enos told Tiburon sheriff's substation officers that she and her husband were sailing near Hospital Cove on the opening day of yachting season when Dr. Enos tried to anchor his boat. Because the line was too short, Mrs. Enos said, his boat drifted near Morrison's boat.

Mrs. Enos told the deputies that Morrison became abusive and cut the Enos' line. He then stormed up to Enos and knocked him down with the hook, Mrs. Enos reported. Morrison then threw the hook at one of the Enos' daughters, she said. Also on board the Enos boat were his three daughters and a family friend.

Enos was taken into Tiburon by a sheriff's auxiliary boat at 2:50 p.m. Morrison was arrested later by Inspector A. V. Menjou of the sheriff's department.

Firm Again Sues Tiburon Over Permit

A new suit by Tiburon Tidelands Co. against the City of Tiburon in the company's long battle for use permits for a waterfront development has been filed in Marin Superior Court.

The complaint asks the court to rule that use permit ordinances upon which the city based its refusal be declared unconstitutional and invalid.

It also asksd that the court find no use permit is needed for the land uses sought by the plaintiffs, Robert and Nella Moor, president and secretary of the firm.

The couple's earlier suit was dismissed in Superior Court by Judge G. Wilson last Dec. 28 on their own motion. The action was in the face of a demurrer by the city alleging that Tiburon Tidelands Co. had not exhausted all administrative remedies before going to court.

The Moors, represented by attorney Frederick E. Watson, indicated at that time that the new complaint would be filed. They seek to construct and operate a yacht harbor, restaurant and boatel on leased shoreline and underwater acreage between Main and Mar West streets.

They have alleged harrassment by city officials, and charge that the latter seek to lower the value of thel and and acquire it by purchase or condemnation for the city at less than a fair market value.

Howard Stucky Tells Plans For Retirement

Howard A. Stucky, 60, manager of the Montgomery Ward and Co. department store in the Corte Madera Center for the last year, announced to employees this morning that he is retiring, effective May 30.

Stucky, who lives with his wife, Lelah, at 177 Canal Street, San Rafael, said they have bought a small ranch in Ashland, Ore., and will move there. He said he is retiring to spend more time with his wife, who is ill.

President of the Corte Madera Merchants Council and a director of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, Stucky has worked for Montgomery Ward and Co. for 39 years, 36 of them as a store manager. He came to Corte Madera after opening a shopping center for the chain store in Minneapolis, Minn.

The Stuckys have two sons, both of whom work for Montgomery Ward and Co., in Grants Pass, Ore., and Oroville.

Togetherness Is A Fast, Fast Draw, Frontier Style

STANTON, Mo. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Graham may be the fastest guns in the West — or anywhere else, for that matter.

The Houston, Tex., couple proved yesterday in the National Fast Draw Assn.'s world championship that they are the fastest guns around.

Graham, 31, a bespectacled bank-equipment salesman, won his second straight world championship. He averaged .45 of a second — drawing, shooting and hitting targets — in the contest's four classes.

His wife, Merrill, 21, a long-haired blonde who looks as good as she shoots, won the women's title with an average drawing and shooting time of .61 of a second. Her fastest was .44.

"I can give the average person a pistol, have him cock it and point it at me and draw and fire before he can," said Graham who uses a modern plastic-lined holster for the old Western sport of gunslinging.

Mother To Risk Heart Surgery Valve Attempt

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI) — An Illinois woman who needs two heart valves replaced was notified today to report May 19 to Houston, Tex., to see Dr. Michael DeBakey, the heart implant specialist.

"I have three boys to raise, so I have to get well," Mrs. Phyllis Wright told United Press International.

"If anybody can do anything for me, Dr. DeBakey, with God's help, can," said Mrs. Wright, 40.

Mrs. Wright returned to her home here about a week ago from Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago after a three-week examination. She originally was scheduled to undergo heart surgery there April 29, she said.

However, the hospital notified her doctor that the surgery was "too risky," she said, and her doctor then appealed to DeBakey.

She said she received confirmation this morning from DeBakey that she was to report to him May 19.

DeBakey April 21 implanted an artificial heart in a 65-year-old Illinois coal miner who staked his life on the historic medical breakthrough. The patient, Marcel L. DeRudder, died last week.

Boy Badly Hurt In Collision

A 6-year-old San Rafael boy was seriously injured Saturday when he was knocked from a bicycle by a car near his home at 78 Novato Street.

Lonnie Wilde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip L. Wilde, suffered a fractured skull and was listed in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital.

Police said the driver of the car was Lorrie Lyne Decker, 16, of 30 Novato Street.

Girl, 5, Bitten; Search Begins For Brown Dog

A dog that bit a five-year-old girl yesterday, was being urgently sought today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kung of 108 Blossom Court, San Rafael.

Unless the dog is found and tested for rabies, the child will have to undergo the painful Pasteur treatment which induces a milder and non-fatal form of the dread disease.

Diana Stephanie Kung was bitten outside her home at about 7 p.m. yesterday. The dog was described as brown with a white spot on each side of its body. It had pointed ears and a long brown nose, was about 14 to 18 inches high and about 2½ feet long. The dog had a fat stomach and weighed about 25 to 35 pounds.

Information about the dog may be given to San Rafael police, the Marin County Humane Society, or the Kung family.

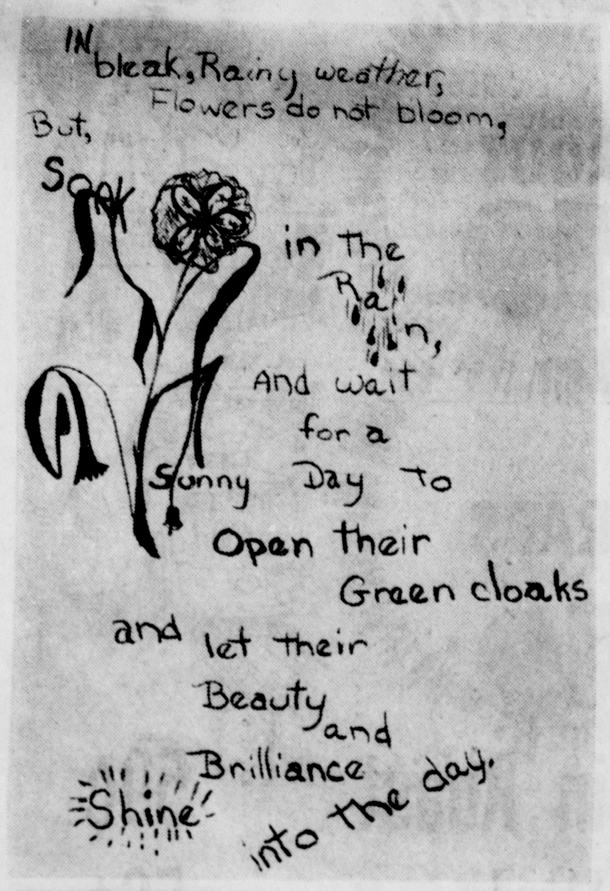
Creative Jottings By Juveniles



CREATIVE CLIMATE—This is the first page of a book of creative writing produced as a project by several "delinquent" teen-agers in the care of Marin County Rehabilitation Center in Lucas Valley. The book is being put on sale through county bookstores.

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

In this sterile language of the sweeping statement, this group of Marin County teen-agers could be dismissed as juvenile delinquents or crazy mixed-up kids."

a book of poems, jottings and drawings produced by four boys and girls in the care of the Marin County Family Rehabilitation Center in Lucas Valley is more than the exercise in English it set out to be.

It is a remarkable and literate plea for understanding to a world which must appear preoccupied by preconvieved conceptions. It provides, too, a medium for self expression leading inevitably to the start of the healing process.

A teen-age boy wrote these reflections:

"Restraining my affections against love and hate makes my soul seem to be on the verge of explosion. My mind is racked by grievances for past and present loved ones. Being loved and feeling myself not worthy of love, not even worthy of hate, has made my mind a turmoil of misinterpreted emotions."

Mrs. Barbara Ward, who teaches a class at the center, set her English students a creative writing project. So amazed was she with the results, she talked over with them publication of the work in booklet form. Several Marin bookstores have agreed to make it available to the public, with proceeds going to the center.

A new kind of program for older adolescents began in full operation with the opening of the center last January. Before that, a pilot program was in use at Juvenile Hall for three years.

David Fogel, director of institutions, explained: "Without this program, which substitutes individual care for the more impersonal treatment, the 20 youngsters here would have no alternative but to be committed to institutions of the California Youth Authority."

Many of the youngsters come from problem families and have, at some time in their lives, been in trouble with the law. They were accepted at the center only if the parents agreed and the child showed some degree of co-operation.

Writers of the book, called "Writty of We" (using a John Lennon-type word invention meaning writings), are aged from 15 to 18.

Like their age group anywhere, they know confusion as they wrestle with the emotional problems of the ill-defined no man's land between childhood and adulthood—between fantasy and reality.

"The Ocean and the Sun casts its glittering reflection upon the swaying sea, and people shield their eyes from the light which throws its glare onto the sand.

But, if I block out the sounds of the people, I am alone on the Beach. And, I am Me. And, I am Real."

The young people carried notebooks with them and jotted random ideas in their spare time. Mrs. Ward gave little help beyond spelling and helping rearrange a particularly stuborn phrase.

A boy named Ken made notes which grew into this definition of a poem:

"A good poem divides, subdivides
Brings and breaks man down to his bare, essential self;
Takes away the facades, covers the falsities of life,

"Neither to compete nor to confuse.
But to live as individuals one's own life and time on earth.
This is the way life should be lived.
Privately."

There are no barricades or fences at Lucas Valley to confine the bodies or the minds of these youngsters. The writings, however, reflect the cataclysm already experienced in their short lives.

Elizabeth wrote:

"As the tiny sparrow flies from his nest, so I flew from mine.
As the rain departs the clouds, so I departed you.
All things in nature and in life must one time say goodbye.
But parting is the act most difficult.
The sense of loss is overwhelming.
I wished only to leave, to break all ties.
They seem to go away but return en masse to pull tears
from my swollen eyes.
It is hard to say goodbye. So hard.
And now I feel the pain.
The difficult deed had to be done. We are apart.
I left you. I was wrong.
Please.

Marin Supervisors Slate Hearing On Gallinas Creek

Marin County Supervisors tomorrow will hold a public hearing on the proposed formation of Gallinas Creek special assessment district, which would underwrite $300,000 to finance dredging of the creek for small boat navigation.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. Hearing on the special assessment district is slated for 3 p.m.

Boundaries of the district would include lots bordering the southern bank and a strip about 175 feet back from the bank on the north, undeveloped side. Dredging the creek will allow boats from the bay to sail to the Marin County Fair Grounds at the Civic Center.

The county, under the Department of Public Works proposal, would contribute $22,800 as its share of the cost. Assessment on individual house lots will range from $700 to $850, according to the estimates.

Also on tomorrow's agenda is a proposal to establish a sheriff's substation in southern Marin, replacing the one in Marin City which was destroyed by fire.

The new station would be located in a building on Tennessee Valley Road on land acquired by the county for the Coyote Creek Flood Control Project.

The building has since been sold to Terry Wolohan, but he has not yet moved it and would lease it to the county for $60 a month. It will cost about $400 to refurbish the building.

Power Company Borrows Electricity

A weekend fire in an underground vault at the edge of the Little Rock business district knocked out two of seven 13,800 volt circuits and cut power to a 45-block area. The fire department then supplied power from a generator truck.

Bible Study Course

The first class in a new weekly study course by the Bible Study Fellowship will be held Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in the First Baptist Church of Mill Valley, 285 Miller Avenue. The interdenominational classes will be directed by Miss A. Wetherell Johnson, a missionary in the China Inland Mission for 14 years.

Monte Cristo Will Have Tax Increase

Residents of the old Monte Cristo tract west of Fairfax and just off the Bolinas-Fairfax road are going to have a hefty increase in their tax rate next year to cover road improvements.

The Monte Cristo Permanent Road Division, formed by county supervisors last spring, will have taxing power for the first time in fiscal 1967 and its rate will be $2.49 per $100 of assessed valuation.

On April 12 residents of the district approved a $17,400 loan from the county treasury to cover improvements. This will be amortized over six years, County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost explained.

Next year's budget calls for a total $3,900 in expenditures, with $1,000 toward maintenance and $2,900 toward loan redemption. Assessed valuation in the area is $160,000, which explains why the rate has to be so high, County Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell said.

Frost said the 30 property owners in the division will indeed be paying higher taxes, but the improvements must be made and the permanent road division method is cheaper than formation of an assessment district.

Park Commission Hearing Set On Park Bond Measure

A public hearing on San Rafael's role in the proposed $4.3 million county parks bond issue will be held by San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

The bond issue will appear on the June 7 ballot and, if passed, will allocate San Rafael $511,738 on a population basis to acquire and develop park and recreation facilities.

Purpose of the hearing, the first of two in the area, is to test the public's reaction on the issue itself and the list of projects suggested for San Rafael, said Joseph D. Rodota, recreation director.

"We are open to any suggestions and comments for the citizens of San Rafael," he said. Another hearing will be held May 11 at Vallecito School at 8 p.m.

Passage of the bonds would add $3.11 a year in property taxes to the owner of a home with a market value of $30,000.

Also on the agenda for Wednesday's meeting is a discussion of a proposed hike in fees for swimming tuition. It is also proposed to increase the car allowance for the recreation supervisor from $25 a month to $45 owning to the supervision of a larger area.

TB Test Discussion

Trustees of Fairfax School District will consider requiring annual tuberculosis tests of all district personnel during their meeting beginning at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday at Manor School.

Fighter, Bomber Flights May Boom

A joint training exercise of the Western North American Air Defense Region will bring increased air activity and possible sonic booms to Marin County Friday morning.

The 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base will participate in the interception of subsonic B-52 bombers and supersonic B-58 bombers which will fly over California cities in a simulated attack.

This is part of an exercise which is international in scope, with the western NORAD regions and the Strategic Air Command.

The bombers will fly over Alaska, British Columbia, Alberta, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Utah and Arizona, as well as California.

Fighters from other fighter bases in the region, both United States and Royal Canadian forces, will go to the defense of western North America in the mission.

The simulated attack will be tracked by United States and Canadian aerospace defense systems and reported to the headquarters of the Western NORAD Region at Hamilton.

The exercise, which will not last more than one hour over any area, will not disrupt normal civilion air traffic, the Air Force said.

Driver Suffers Severe Burns

A 19-year-old San Francisco man suffered severe body burns when his sports car overturned and burst into flames on Highway 101 at Alto at 1:20 a.m. yesterday.

The driver, Allen Blair, was reportedly in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Blair was southbound near the Strawberry frontage road offramp when his car rolled over and he was thrown to the pavement, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The car was registered to Robert Hill of San Francisco. Blair is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Blair of Daly City.

Reserve, Guard Drill Regulations Tightened

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, recently ordered demotion of any Reserve or National Guardsman ducking too many drills. The demotion would be for inefficiency.

Another part of Johnson's order provides that certain draftage guardsmen and reservists who fail to keep up their obligated drills may be referred to Selective Service for two years of active duty.

The order specified that three unexcused absences in any year "are considered excessive."

The new penalties are in addition to an existing requirement that any guardsman or reservist failing a drilling obligation may be called to active duty for 45 days of training.

Most National Guardsmen and Reserves in the ready reserve are required to drill with their units 48 times a year. Men serving in the highest-priority units must attend 72 drills a year.

The demotion in rank, according to Johnson's order, will be imposed before a man begins his 45-day active duty training penalty.

There is special emphasis on National Guard and Reserve training currently because of the Viet Nam situation and, particularly in the case of highest-priority units, because of a drive to get a 150,000-man "select force" in top readiness by July 1.

Food Locker Firm Ordered To Clean Up

The new manager of the Marin Frozen Food Lockers in San Anselmo has been ordered by the county to clean up unsanitary conditions at the lockers immediately and was given 30 days to correct several construction problems.

Arthur M. Martinson, principal sanitarian for the Marin County Health Department, said he inspected the lockers on an anonymous phone tip Thursday, and found rotten meat scraps and remains of what could have been maggots by the meat-cutting block, as well as building problems, including a broken window and a water heater in a room with no ventilation.

David Mortimer, manager of the lockers since April 1, said these conditions were the chief reason he replaced former manager Robert Harper. Mortimer said he immediately fired the remaining four employees at the lockers. He said the reason he had not corrected the conditions before Thursday's inspection is that he has spent the month training new personnel.

Martinson and Mortimer agreed that the conditions do not mean that meat taken from the locker has been unsanitary.

Disclosure Allowed On Induction Lists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System says lists of registrants ordered for induction can be made public at the discretion of state directors and local draft boards.

The Associated Press Managing Editors Association had asked that names of inductees be released to newspapers. The request was made to Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, by Hu Blonk of the Wenatchee (Wash.) Daily World.

WHAT MAKES A HAPPY FAMILY?

It's something we all want, for ourselves and for the world. But if we work within the limits of human frailties, a happy family may seem a difficult goal. What we need is a new approach . . . a spiritual dimension that puts God at the center of all family relationships. Hear this lecture "What Makes a Happy Family?" by HARRY S. You give up things when you buy the Mercedes-Benz 230S. Things like rattles, rust, and shabby workmanship.

A pox on the status symbol that's all glitter and no guts. At $4,900, the Mercedes-Benz 230S is an efficient machine, built to endure. Its body is welded 10,000 times—and painted with 7 enamel coats. A 24-pound layer of undercoating stifles rust. Read on for the full story of why the Mercedes-Benz 230S is a shrewd investment indeed.

Mercedes-Benz engineers refuse to make changes for the sake of change. Superficial styling changes don't make a car better—in fact, they often hinder real technical advances.

And the 230S body is advanced—it's arc welded at 10,000 points. After 50,000 miles, you may begin to wonder if it will ever rattle.

Nor is it likely to rust. The entire body is plunged out of sight in a primer bath before painting. A tough caulking coat swirls into every crevice, every pore. No sooner is the primer baked on than a 24-pound spraying of plasticized undercoat seals the car's underbody against the menace of road salt and rust.

Then comes paint—49 pounds of it, spread on in 7 careful layers. The final coat is hand sprayed, in a paint shop cleaner than a hospital operating room.

Note to nitpickers: You won't find lumpy "orange peel" flaws in the paint. And you won't find pits in the chrome. It's backed by two platings of copper and one of nickel over a steel base. Rust and rot are thwarted again.

The 230S' 6-cylinder engine is designed to last the life of the car. It is so perfectly balanced (engine tolerances are as fine as 4/10,000ths of an inch) that you can keep it humming almost endlessly at near maximum speeds—with no hint of strain.

Sixty-minute engine test

Every 230S engine hums for an hour at the factory on a special test stand. To flush away every speck of dirt and debris, engine oil is changed 62 times during this trial run.

This engine measures about half the size of a domestic V8. Yet the 230S hits a peak speed of 109 mph and in normal driving squeezes over 20 miles from a gallon.

A lesson from racing

"Mercedes-Benz engineers know how to build sports car handling qualities into a family sedan—there's no doubt about that in our minds," comments CAR LIFE magazine.

With rear swing axle, wheels act independently.

The engineers learned how by building a world championship sports-racing car, the 300SLR. Then they adapted its suspension to Mercedes-Benz sedans.

All 4 wheels on the 230S are separately sprung. They soak up ruts and bumps without sending shivers through the whole body.

If this system weren't so costly to build, American cars might have it. No full-sized domestic car does.

European tourists: You'll see the 300SLR at the Daimler-Benz Museum in Stuttgart-Untertürkheim. You'll spot a few dozen other famous racing machines too; Mercedes-Benz has won 4,403 competitions and 5 world championships in the past 70 years.

The 230S weighs 1½ tons. Caliper-type, 9-inch disc brakes at front (where 70% of the car's weight is shifted in stopping) help supply braking ability adequate for twice this weight.

Disc brakes shrug off heat buildup in hard use. You can virtually forget the threat of fading (pass the good news along to your wife; it will do wonders for her driving morale).

Science defeats fatigue

Long trips are no ordeal in the 230S. Seats front and rear are almost chair height. They're deeply contoured and firmly padded (just like the doctor ordered—orthopedic physicians guided seat design).

You can tilt both individual front-seat backs to 4 reclining positions. On hot, humid days you'll feel the benefit of those thousands of miniscule air vents in the seat material. Your body won't seem as if it's plastered to a sheet of flypaper.

Comfort without trivia

Mercedes-Benz engineers waste no time on frivolous gadgets. No built-in record players, no card tables, no coffee urns. Yet sensible amenities abound. Item: Small nozzles at either end of the instrument panel. They shoot warm air to defrost the front side windows.

Purists: Note that wood-grain instrument panel trim. Contrary to a popular trend, it's real wood. Contrary to another popular trend, it fits. So does everything else on the 230S. One of every 11 Mercedes-Benz employees is an inspector to keep it that way.

Safety is an obligation

Mercedes-Benz considers safety a sober obligation—not a public relations problem. Safety starts with basic car design, not a few tacked-on afterthoughts.

The 230S body is a patented safety feature. Front and rear sections are designed to yield on violent impact, absorbing shock before it can reach the passenger area. Front disc brakes and a dual circuit brake system are standard equipment. The vital matter of tires—so often neglected in new cars—is solved with super premium-grade tires on every 230S. Door locks are designed to keep doors shut in collisions from any angle. Inside, there are no sharp edges. Safety padding extends even to the steering wheel hub—and the rear vision mirror is spring mounted, to break away on heavy impact.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

The Viruses Which Elude Most Germicides Can Be Inactivated

VAN DELLEN

Viruses elude most germicides, including the sulfonamides and antibiotics. Recently it was demonstrated that many are inactivated by a 90 to 95 per cent solution of ethyl alcohol, sodium hypochlorite (200 ppm.), or a five per cent concentration of carbolic acid.

Lord Lister selected the latter as a microbe killer 100 years ago. This English surgeon used remarkable judgment and became the first advocate of antiseptics in the operating room and for infections. He even sprayed carbolic acid into the air during surgery and whenever it was necessary to expose open wounds.

Dr. Morton Klein of Temple University conducted laboratory tests with these antiseptics and found that all had anti-viral powers in the concentrations mentioned.

IN HIS OPINION, ethyl alcohol should be standard equipment in every doctor's bag.

Sodium hypochlorite is an effective bactericide and virucide for cleaning equipment in medical offices and laboratories. It also inactivates viruses when used in the laundry of families with a viral illness.

He found that most germicides and detergents used as disinfectants in restaurants and the food industry were ineffective against many common viruses responsible for respiratory infections.

A PROTEIN jacket protects the active infectious genetic core of the virus and is essential to the life of the microbe. Anything that dissolves this coating destroys the virus unless the critter first enters a cell where it sheds its jacket and is capable of causing disease.

Each viral coating is composed of different chemicals and some are more difficult to inactivate than others. Those with fatty and protein coverings are more easily destroyed.

The body cells manufacture protective interferon in response to infection by a variety of viruses. The substance has been isolated and many interesting laboratory experiments have been conducted.

NONE HAVE proved practical but the potential is there. We need an internal remedy not only to destroy viruses that cause infection but to eradicate those responsible for certain cancers.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

GOOSE GREASE

Mrs. M. writes: Will rubbing goose grease on the chest do any good in the case of a cold?

REPLY

This remedy went out of fashion with the appearance of salicylates and the steam kettle. Youngsters of the goose grease era hesitated to admit to discomfort from a cold because the smell of the treatment was worse than the ailment.

NOT RELATED

K. S. D. writes: Could a slight trace of albumin in the urine be due to gall bladder disease?

REPLY

No. Our leaflet on albuminuria describes the various causes of albumin in the urine. It can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

RECOVERY PERIOD

Mrs. B. writes: How soon after gall bladder surgery is a woman healed enough to resume normal activities?

REPLY

Three weeks for a woman of leisure and three months for the janitress who does heavy work.

PROSTATE AND DIET

R. G. writes: Does prostate gland trouble call for a diet of any kind?

REPLY

No, except to avoid highly spiced foods and alcohol, which have a tendency to irritate the bladder wall.

BOTH ARE IN LUNGS

M. P. writes: Is emphysema a first cousin to tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. Both are chest diseases, but tuberculosis represents infection and emphysema, stretching and dilation of lung sacs along with partial obstruction of the bronchi.

CLEAR UP INFECTION

Mrs. S. M. writes: Is it safe for a person with a kidney infection to go on a reducing diet?

REPLY

Yes, but why not do one thing at a time? After the kidney infection is eliminated you can concentrate on your obesity.

See a psychiatrist if the condition interferes with your work, efficiency, happiness, or ability to get along with others. If the neurotic tendencies are not this extreme, try spending a little more time thinking about others rather than yourself.

MOUNTAIN VACATION

Salesman Hit With Tire Iron On City Street

A 21-year-old television cable salesman was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after being attacked with a tire iron in San Rafael Friday.

According to San Rafael police, Walter Earl Cox of 15 Marion Court was partially paralyzed and suffered a head wound when assaulted somewhere on Fourth Street shortly after 7 p.m.

Cox told police he wasn't sure of the location because he is a recent arrival and not familiar with San Rafael streets. The attack occurred after two men in their mid-20s started making remarks about Cox's appearance, police reported. A fight began and one of the men hit Cox with the tire iron, police said.

Cox was treated at San Rafael General Hospital and then transferred to Marin General.

Planning Commission Undecided On Zone

The Marin County Planning Commisison today was unable to make a decision on proposed recreational zoning for 500 acres between the proposed new runway of the Marin County Airport and Petaluma River.

Mrs. Evelyn Allison, one of the owners (Bodkin Estate), protested that the change from the present agricultural zone would increase taxes on the land and make it hard to get a chance if some other use were more desirable.

Mrs. Allison and commissioners agreed that residences should not be allowed on the property because of its proximity to the airport.

Commisisoner Claude Stoller wondered if the balance was right between the proposed recreational zone and other lands around the airport zoned earlier for planned industrial use.

Commissioner Michael Praszker said economics were also a factor and it might not be feasible to do a great deal of filling of the low lands for such things as automobile racing, suggested by the planning staff as one of the recreational uses.

Commissioner William F. Upton moved adoption of the recreational zone, but his motion failed to get a second. The commission later voted 6-0, with Commissioner Hugh Dougherty absent, to continue consideration of the change until June 6.

Investment Plan Dies At Bridge Board Meeting

A motion to deposit its cash at higher interest rates died on the vine at Friday's meeting of the Golden Gate Bridge District directors.

Director Stephan Leonoudakis renewed the request he made at the March 25th meeting to change board policy and deposit the money in banks paying 5 per cent instead of the present 4⅞ per cent interest. The motion failed for lack of a second.

Foundation Seeks Money For Seal

Alice T. Williams, foundation publicity chairman, said the foundation guaranteed to provide the needed money—to be added to $1,400 voted by the city council and $1,400 provided by the foundation—but was waiting for interested parties to come up with donations.

So far, there has been one contribution, that of $475 from Hilary Belloc. Another $475 is needed to get the seal recast in bronze. Tax-free donations may be sent to the foundation, post office Box 567, Sausalito.

College Anniversary Will Stress Future

College of Marin is celebrating its 40th anniversary this week with an emphasis on the new, rather than the old.

The college, which opened in 1926 with 13 acres, a three-story, 40-year-old mansion and barn worth $26,000, will mark its anniversary by dedicating the new, million dollar college center.

Officially the college's birthday is recognized as May 7, the date in 1926 when voters elected the first board of trustees of the Marin Junior College District.

This year's celebration, though, will come Friday, May 6, when the Associated Students of the college host a dinner for 350 persons in the College Center to commemorate the anniversary and dedicate the building.

The program will begin at 7 p.m. with invocation by Rev. Surgit Singh, professor at San Francisco Theological Seminary. Master of ceremonies will be Michael Kawai, public relations commissioner for the Associated Students.

Eight selections will be sung by the College of Marin Madrigal Singers, who will perform a concert the following night in Olney Hall on the campus.

There will be brief talks by College President Stephen E. Epler, Associated Students President Allen Kelley, Alumni Assn. President Emerson Byrd, College Center Commissioner Donna Ryan, and Corwin Booth, of Falk and Booth Architects, designers of the building.

The junior college district board of trustees will be introduced and President Elizabeth M. Deedy will give a dedication speech and present a plaque for the building, which opened in February.

The dinner will close with benediction by Rev. Terrance McCabe, adviser to the Newman Club. Guests will tour the building, following which the Alumni Assn. will hold a reception in the student lounge of the College Center.

Park Bond Drive Planning To Begin

Planning the campaign for the $4.3 million county bond issue for purchase and development of parks will begin in a session at 8 p.m. today at the Civic Center.

County Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, co-chairmen of the bond drive, have called the meeting, requesting representation of all the cities and of special districts which are in the recreation business.

The issue will go to voters June 7.

Americans will spend more on boats and boating in 1966 than ever before, says the Outboard Boating Club of America.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'Professor' Tells Intricacies Of Educanto By Educantists

The citizen interested in the public schools is often baffled by the langage spoken and written by teachers and school administrators.

He soon learns that it is not standard English, but an official language of the educational establishment — a strange neology which has been called by many names, but has been particularly aptly christened "educanto."

If the citizen wishes to understand the educators, then he must learn their language. Since there is no Berlitz course in educanto — and, indeed, not even a textbook on it — perhaps the few "ABCs of Educanto" which follow may help.

Although educanto sounds like a foreign language, it really isn't. It is achieved by mutilating English in accordance with a few relatively simple rules. Here are some of them:

A. Prolixity. Avoidance of brevity is a cardinal principle. The educantist never lets one word suffice where more can be used. It is never "reading," but always "reading skills"; never "learning," but always "learning experience."

Through diligent application, a teacher of median ability grouping as indicated by weighted results of empirical tests administered by qualified personnel can succeed in a significant number of instances in supplanting the simple noun with an erudite but nevertheless ambiguous phrase.

(That sentence constitutes a fair sample of beginner's educanto and is recommended for study.)

B. Indirection. Educanto is designed to enable the educator to state his arguments in language that may be variously interpreted. It therefore combines indirection with prolixity. Often, this so buries the point that none but the skilled educantist will ever find it.

For instance, a Bay Area Educational Research Service bulletin on "Prevention and Correction of Underachievement," published at Alameda in 1963, dealt largely with the dropout problem; but it should be noted that there was no mention of dropouts in either the title or this admirably indirect opening:

"Underachievement in the form of definite failure on the part of many elementary and secondary school students, of all levels of ability, to achieve reasonably well in relation to their potential is an increasingly serious educational problem in practically all schools and communities. Effective provisions for dealing with this problem are urgently needed in order to forestall the long-term ill effects which underachievement has upon the students themselves, their families, and their communities."

It might be well to mention that six and one-half pages later, this report observed that it may be regarded as a symptom of underachievement when a pupil is two years older than his classmates. This illustrates how ably educanto can embroider the obvious.

C. Antiphrasis. This is the use of words to mean something they do not mean. In educanto, the substitute must be one which by subtle distortion can be made to apear as a synonym (or even a refinement) for a word which actually has a very different meaning.

Thus the educator never refers to "dull children" when such words as "disadvantaged," "exceptional," etc., are available. Similarly, none would write of "bright children" when they can be referred to as "more able learners," gifted," etc. (I recently noted a particularly happy educantese phrase: "the reluctantly gifted.")

D. Obscurity. This is the cardinal requirement of educanto, attained by combining prolixity, indirection, and antiphrasis.

I found a beautiful example of how obscure the language can be rendered in a paper delivered at a symposium on "The Changing West: Implications for Higher Education," held in Boulder, Colo., in 1964 by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education. One paragraph of it will suffice:

"For some of us the faith in a homeostatic model of society with intrinsic and reliable self-regulatory stabilization, which must be vigilantly protected from the meddling of planners, is bright and hopeful. Others among us are both sobered and exhilarated by the scientific conceptualization of physical, biological, psychological and social orderliness and disorderliness—a conceptualization with the derivative directives for effective control and facilitation of human and natural happenings which are the constantly altering and augmenting heritage of the scientific age of western culture."

The author of that really had an unfair advantage. He was Prof. Edward Steinbrook of the department of psychology at University of Southern California School of Medicine — a man able to combine the obscure lexicons of psychology, medicine and education.

Anyone able to understand it certainly should be entitled to his Ed. D. in educanto.

Novato Police Praise Witness

"Bonomolo assisted the Novato Police Department voluntarily, without compensation and danger to life and limb because of his professed interest in eliminating the marijuana situation in Novato," the chief said. Arrested was John Rundle of 1363 Cambridge Street, Novato.

According to Chief Di Grazia, Bonomolo approached the police in February with his suspicions of marijuana sales in Novato and later, under police supervision, purchased marijuana through Rundle. The chief said Bonomolo had bought marijuana from three different sellers in Novato.

Up to now only the area around Hospital Cove (Ayala Cove) has been open to the walking public; an "elephant train" takes visitors on a ride around the island.

Bolinas Tour To Hunt Surf, Swim Sites

A tour is planned of Bolinas Beach to check the best places for surfers to surf and swimmers to swim.

Members of Bolinas Community Center Friday night decided Melton Ferris, a member of the parks and recreation commission as well as the community group, and sheriff's deputy Jack Santos should make a check of the beach to find out the best positions for notices to be erected this weekend.

Earlier the center had agreed areas of the beach should be designated for the different sports to avoid accidents and misunderstandings.

Marge Dougan, 17-year-old daughter of vice president James Dougan, was selected to be "Queen" of Bolinas at the West Marin Livestock Show. Sponsored by the center, Marge will be among four girls from West Marin communities who will line up to be judged as queen of the show June 26.

It was announced the bloodmobile from Irwin Blood Bank will be at the community center from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. May 28.

Bridging Generation Gap Is Parents' Aim

A group of southern Marin adults have formed an organization calling itself Sponsors for Teens in an attempt to "bridge the generation gap with love and understanding."

The parent members, centered in Corte Madera, Larkspur and Tiburon, have sponsored ice skating and roller skating parties for teen-agers and at 8 p.m. Monday will sponsor a public talk by James Soetaert, director of field services for the Marin County Probation Department, on "Juvenile Laws of Marin County."

Soetaert will speak at Granada School at 50 El Camino Drive, Corte Madera.

Sponsors for Teens will hold a dinner May 6 at the First Baptist Church, Corte Madera, to honor graduating junior and senior high school students.

The program will include singing by a quartet of Redwood High School students, skits, music and a showing of the movie "The Mouse That Roared."

Directors of Sponsors for Teens are Rev. Henry Fox of the First Baptist Church, Corte Madera; Mr. and Mrs. James C. Dukes, John H. McGoran, Howard C. Harvey, Mrs. Patricia Mosier, Mrs. J. C. Wilkie, all of Corte Madera.

Girl Gulps Down 17 Helpings Of Ice Cream

If there is one thing 17-year-old Kitty Gaustad of 35 Longwood Drive, San Rafael, can do as well as any boy, it's eat ice cream.

She proved it by gulping down 17 scoops in one sitting and qualifying as the only girl among 12 finalists in an ice-cream eating contest to be held at Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream Store, 909 B Street, San Rafael, on May 15.

Kitty, a senior at San Rafael High School, had all day to eat her qualifying scoops. But on May 15, she and the other finalists will have only from 2 to 4 p.m.

The winner will get a tour of the factory which makes the ice cream. There will be no prizes for guessing the second prize. It will be a can of ice cream.

Tour Of Six Belvedere Homes

By BETTY FROST

Six outstanding residences will be open to public view during the 16th annual Belvedere House Tour which will be given by St. Stephens Guild from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 11.

An addition to last year's tour proved so popular that it is being continued—the country picnic luncheon served at Whitaker Hall at noon. Tea will be served beginning at 2:30 p.m. at the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere, where the tour originates and concludes. Parking is available to tour guests at the Yacht Club and a shuttle system of station wagons driven by guild volunteers will take the visitors to three homes on the Belvedere hillside, one on the west shore and a home and a apartment on the Belvedere Lagoon.

ON DISPLAY will be the homes of Ernest Mendenhall Jr., Basil Knauth, E. Coleman Dick, Edwin Weed, H. Corwin Hinshaw and the apartment of Mrs. Noble Newsom.

Mrs. James Crittenden and Mrs. Robert W. Morrison are co-chairmen; Mrs. Mark Noble Jr., and Mrs. Willard Pittman, transportation chairmen; Mrs. Christopher Peacock and Mrs. Wililam Myers, luncheon chairmen; Mrs. Jack Welisch, table setting and flower arrangements; Mrs. Thomas Fleming Jr., reservations chairman, and Mesdames Bennett Wren, Robert Ingram, Walter P. Simi, Frank G. King, Dick De Berry, Gerald Stratford, Albert Harris Jr., Thomas Fleming and Dickerson McAfee, committee members.

Local artists Suzanne Himmelwright, Hazel Stitt and Nelcy Tarics will have paintings displayed at the San Francisco Yacht Club.

THE COMPACT and shipshape new home of Dr. and Mrs. H. Corwin Hinshaw designed by Allan Steinau on the west shore has an open feeling. From the broad deck on Richardson Bay they can cast their lines to bring in flounder, smelt and perch. The swimming pool is a step away from the living room with its small kitchen and dining room area. Sailboats offshore are well within the view of the living and bedroom decks. The Hinshaws' three years in Beirut yielded prayer rugs, copper and brass mosque candlesticks, dower crests intricately carved by the Druse tribes near Damascus combine with a Sylvia Fine painting, an Archipenko sculpture.

A LAGOON HOUSE designed by architect Adrian Malone for privacy and space through use of a courtyard garden into which all rooms open is the result of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Knauths' determination to use all of the property inside enclosing walls, according to the ancient Oriental concept. Decorator Hy Cook recently completed the interior, which is notable for the continuity of color. Each shade of the hand-blocked linen draperies and upholstery fabrics in the living room has been re-emphazised in the other rooms. The Oriental expression of the house is more Thai than Japanese.

MR. AND MRS. E. COLEMAN DICK'S Clarence Mayhew-designed house on a hilltop in Belvedere is an example of elegant perfection. Now that its owners have finished, it is hard to believe that this team of decorator-designers moved into the house only last September. In the slate-covered entrance hall, two black kid covered settees flank a hooded fireplace. Shelves of books line one wall and through the glass wall opposite one sees the formal pool area with its Chinese elm for shade. On the view terace are three new Chinese elms, and a walk around the grounds provides glimpses of Japanese maples, and a wide variety of rare botanical shrubs.

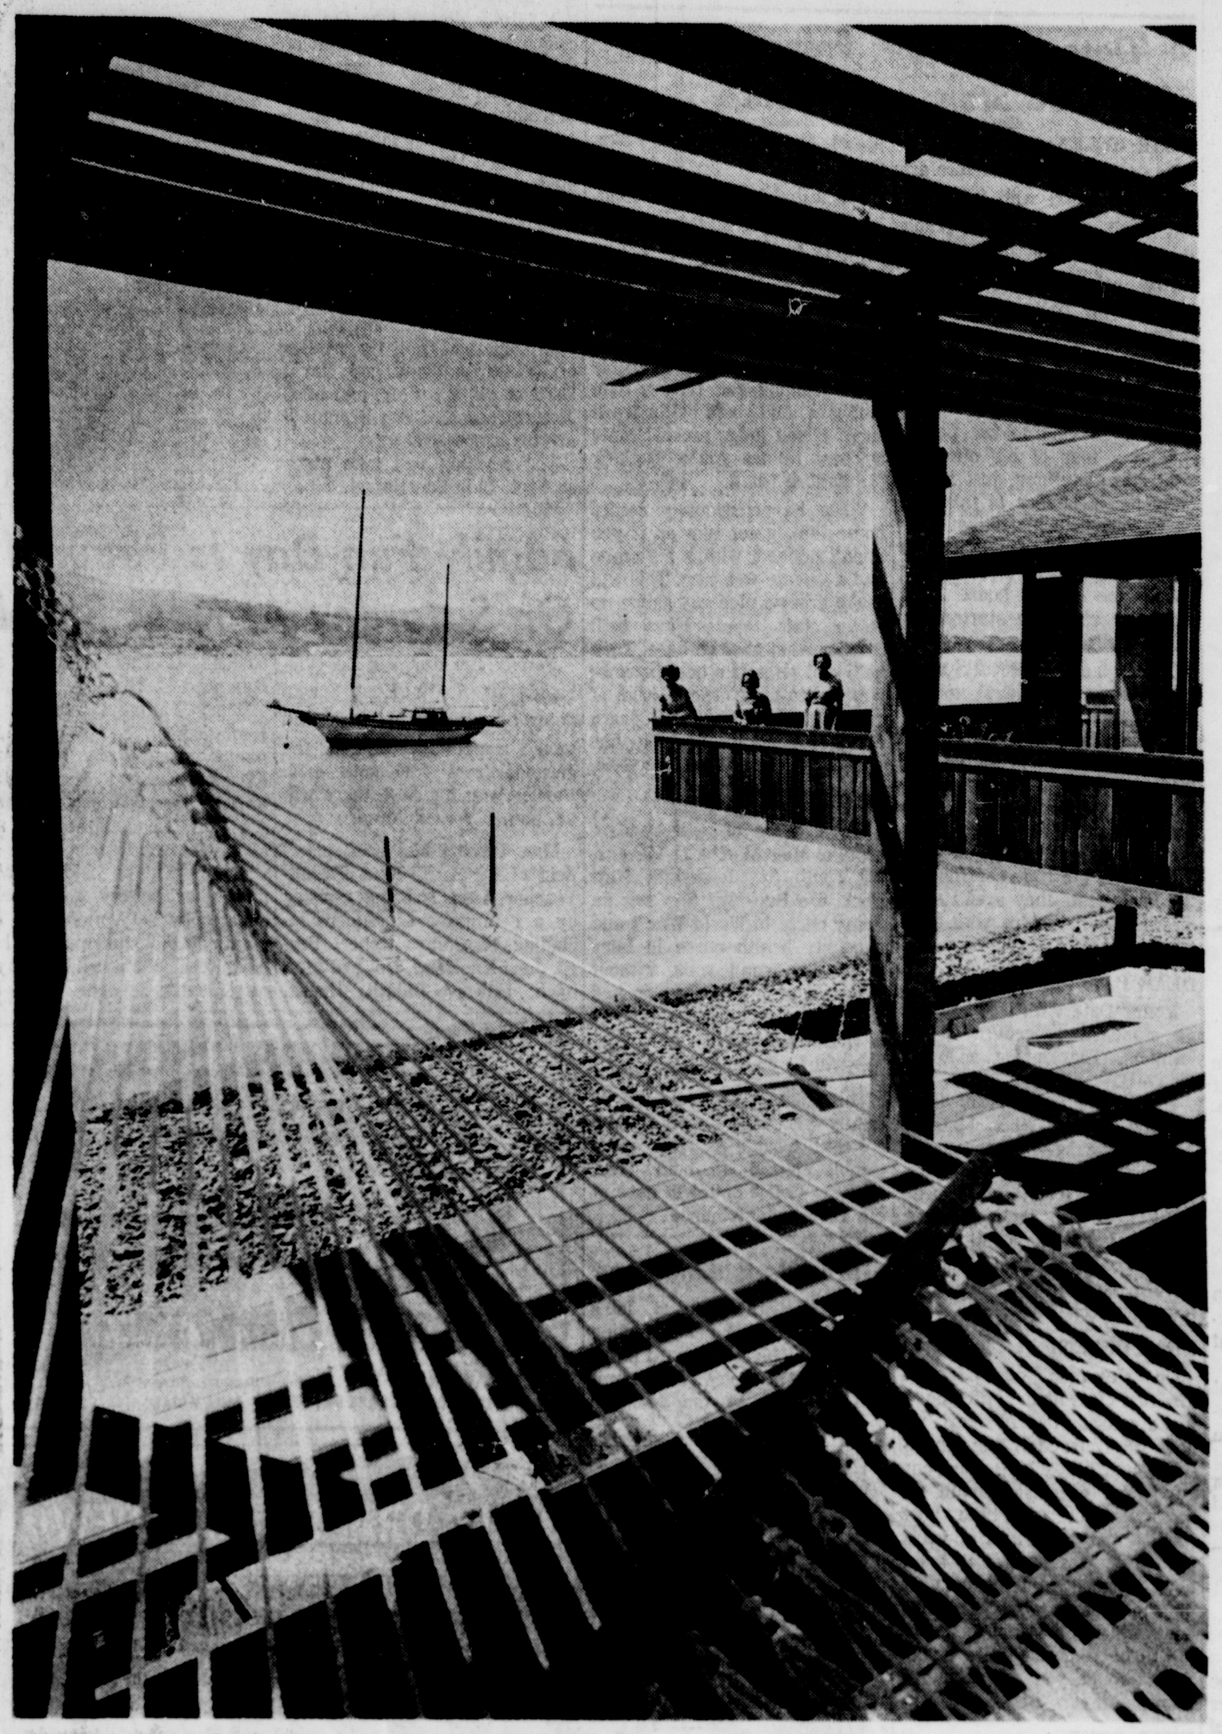
IT IS HARD to believe that Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Weed's home was built in 1964, so mellow is the light, so rightly evocative of a former era are the colors and design by Mrs. Weed and her decorator, Norma Lincoln. Especially effective is the wood paneling designed by the architects Charles Porter and Robert Steinwedell, who have provided an imaginative background for the owners' antique collection. Every room and the two balconies offer delightful views.

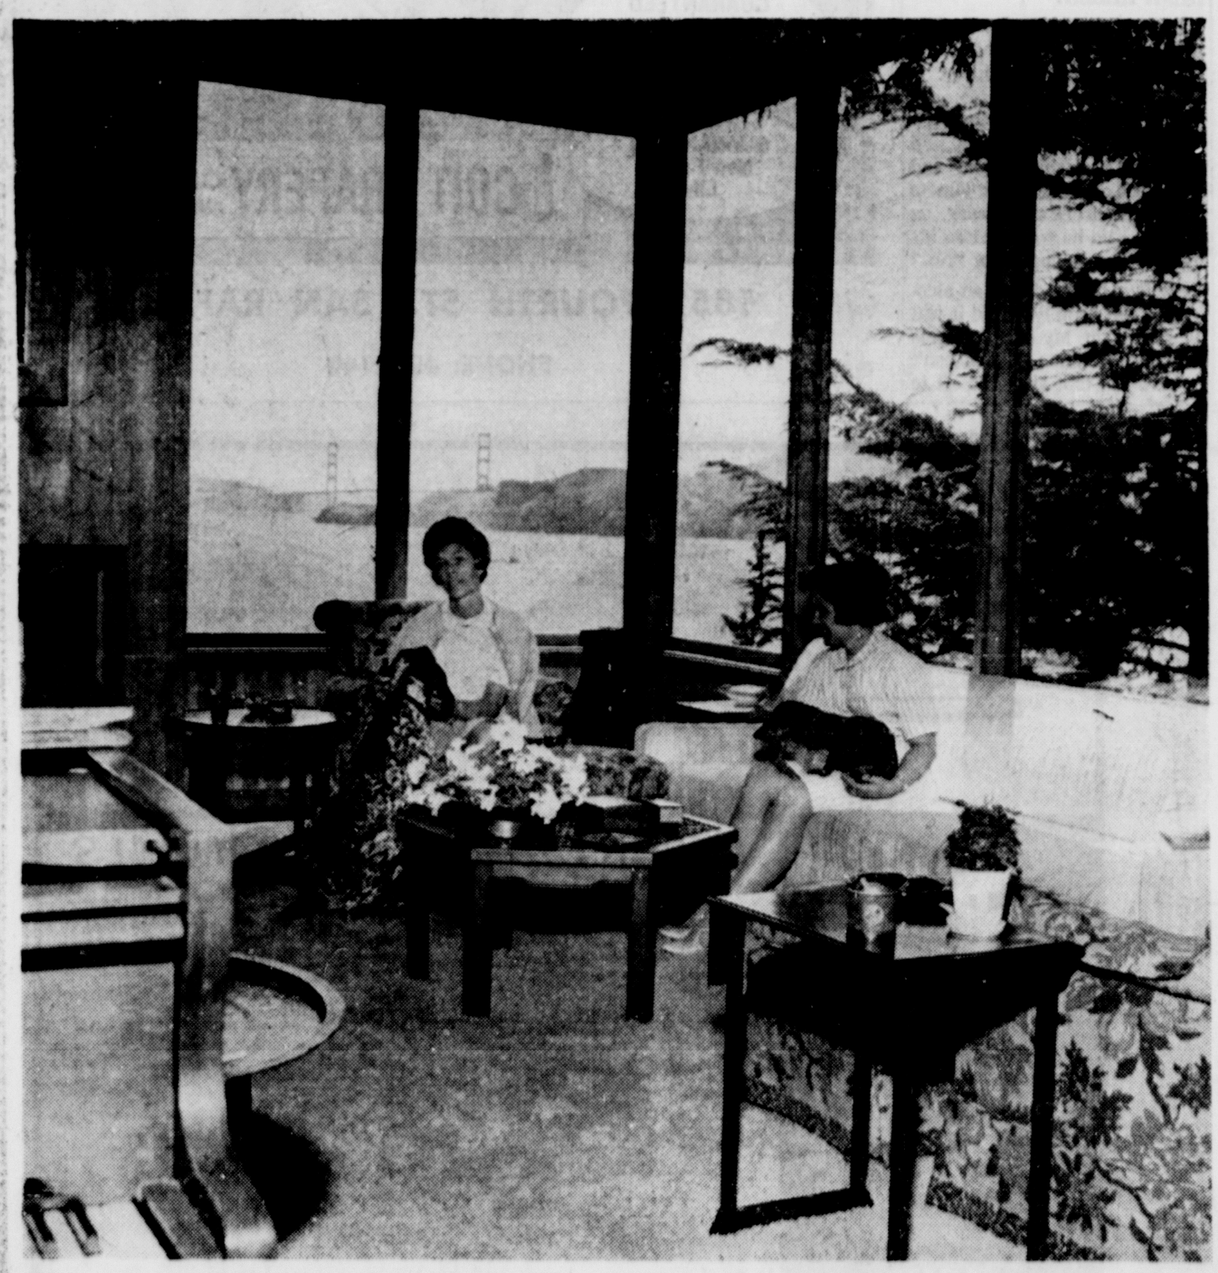
"I WANT A COUNTRY house with French provincial feeling on the west side of Belvedere," Mrs. Ernest D. Mendenhall Jr. said to her father, architect Ben W. Spaulding, "a house the children will enjoy" and then they went to work to produce a warm, friendly house, full of surprises: the 1915 gas stove in the kitchen for example. The brick-tiled kitchen with its cozy fireplace is the heart of the house. There are 'Salinas Gothic' schoolroom chairs where the children eat their suppers, and in the dining room a chandelier which Mrs. Mendenhall designed from an old San Francisco feed and grain company barrel. Mrs. Mendenhall's study, done in black and white, full of souvenirs, trophies, expresses his life-long interest in race-car driving — among the trophies are such rarities as the four decorated plates presented to him after he won the West Coast championship in the Porsche class.

THE RARE GIFTS and warm charm of a lady of the old school are apparent in the Lagoon apartment of Mrs. Noble Newsom, where she enjoys the furnishings and art objects she has been collecting all her life.

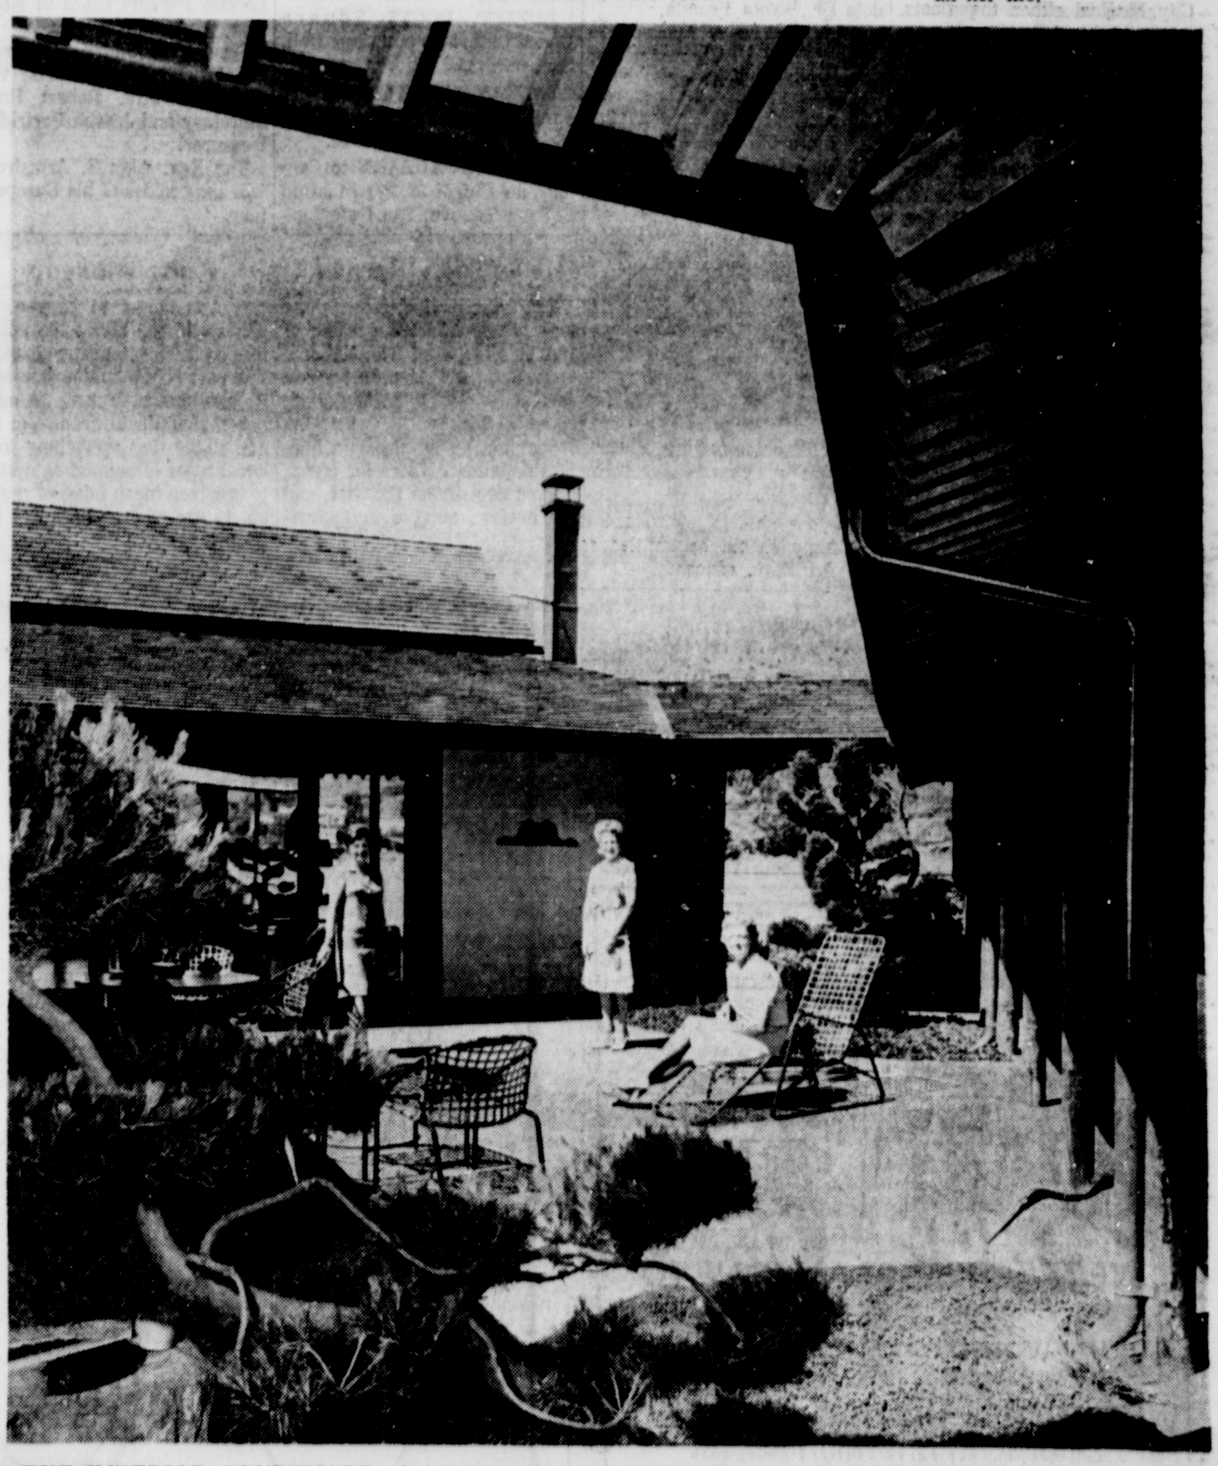


WITH THE HAMMOCK in the airy cabana inviting relaxation, Mesdames H. Corwin Hinshaw, Robert W. Morrison and John Wiley admire a motor sailer at anchor in Richardson Bay and the spectacular view from the Hinshaws' deck. The house will be on the 16th annual Belvedere house tour, to be held May 11, starting from the San Francisco Yacht Club in Belvedere.

SEATED IN THE LUXURIOUS living room of the lavish E. Coleman Dick house atop Belvedere Island are Mrs. Christopher Peacock and Mrs. William Myers, luncheon co-chairmen, looking toward the pool area with its classic statues and marble bench, where Mesdames Robert W. Morrison, Robert Ingram and E. Coleman Dick are strolling. The home is one of six Belvedere dwellings to be displayed from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 11 during the Belvedere house tour.



THE WARM EARTH TONES, yellow, brown and orange used in the decor make the new home of the Edwin G. Weeds particularly inviting and hospitable. Mrs. Albert H. Harris Jr., with Hans, the German short hair pointer, and Margot Weed, with the dachsund Wunderbar, discuss plans for the Belvedere house tour May 11. The Weed home, built on three levels on a difficult and steep site, commands a breath-taking outlook of the Golden Gate Bridge.



THE INTERIOR COURTYARD, Oriental in feeling, is the heart of the Belvedere Lagoon home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Knauth. Enjoying the serene atmosphere and understated beauty of the enclosed courtyard garden are Mesdames J. P. Silvestri Jr., Walter Simi and Frank G. King.

Knee Makeup

It was bound to happen. As skirts climbed above the knees, the cosmetics industry decided this part of the anatomy needed its own special makeup. A number of manufacturers are in the act, suggesting everything from decal types of painted on motifs, to brush-on blush tones of makeup, to use of fragrance at the back of the knees.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

A 'Date With Dad' Program Should Be Standard Practice

DEAR HELEN:

So many times youngsters are super saturated with "Mama," but don't really get to know their Dads. For this reason, we've established a regular "Date With Dad" program at our house. Every week one of our children takes his turn for an all-alone trip with my husband. It can be a ride downtown, or a visit to the beach, maybe a tour of his office, a boat ride—anything, just so the child has a chance to talk and be friends with his father. Perhaps they don't even talk up a storm, but they're close. We've found the whole house runs smoother since we started our "Date With Dad."

Those quiet moments when each is an individual to the other make very strong ties. In the beginning the outings (with perhaps a soda and hamburger along the line) were for all the children, but we found one at a time is best. When all go, they compete for attention, or else they spend the time scuffling in the back seat—they aren't really with Dad, they're with each other.—PAT

DEAR PAT:

Your "Date With Dad" should be standard procedure in all families. Thanks for a lovely idea.—H.

P.S. Come to think of it, a weekly "Date With Mate"—minus offspring—puts the spring back in marriage. . .And it's important too, for children to spend alone-time with their mothers. Nothing makes a young person feel more important than to have a parent all to himself on a special occasion.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Do "Yes men" climb faster? The rest of us at the office don't make waves, but at least we have the courage of our convictions, and state 'em. This one guy won't open his mouth till he finds out what the boss thinks, and then he's a vocal carbon copy. I happen to know how he stood on things a year ago, in another job. It isn't like now, and if he switches bosses it will be something else again. What would you say about a man like that?—DEKE

DEAR DEKE:

He sounds like an opportunist who has the courage of his connections.

DEAR HELEN:

I am miserable. Last night my husband (of 10 months) did not come home for supper. It happened a week ago too, and a few other times in the past months, but not often. He said he is not wearing a ball and chain and if friends ask him to stop for a drink after work, he will. He said he will not lose his manhood by telling them "No."

My first husband was an alcoholic. I am deathly afraid it will happen again. My daughter gets so nervous when Bill doesn't come home that she goes all to pieces. She knows what it's like. So do I.

My husband says we are making a big thing of this. I don't want to lose him to the bottle. Whatever can I do?—BILL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE:

You should know that visible hand-wringing can turn a man stubborn. And you'd better learn soon: If you judge present mate by past failure you're bucking for Failure No. 2.

When he occasionally comes home late, greet him as if you hadn't noticed, with a big smile and a sincere welcome. This will make a basic nice guy shape up faster than tears: First he'll wonder what goes on here. Then he'll call himself a heel because you haven't. (Not out loud of course.) And thus he'll learn consideration—because he has a good teacher. You'll see.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would some of your readers write to Miss Martha D. Havens, 933 South St., Peekskill, New York, c/o Buckley? She was an Army nurse in World War I and a county health nurse in later years. She can't walk without help and even sitting up in bed is a treat. Cards and letters will do much to dispel her loneliness. She will be 80 in July.—NED

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

PLAY REVIEW

'Sound Of Murder' Exciting, Chilling

By KARL BARRON

"The Sound of Murder" is an exciting and at times chilling sound in the production by the Cove Players which opened Friday night at the Main Street Theater in Tiburon.

A British thriller staged by Dion Chesse, with his usual tightness, "The Sound of Murder" is not a who-done-it, but rather a you-know-who-done-it-but-how's-he-going-to-get-away-with-it. It will be repeated on Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 through May 21.

It is the story of Charles Norbury, who writes Peter Wabbit type childrens' stories, and who is in real life—as described in the script—"a bahstud." His wife Anne, and her lover, Peter Marriott, plot to kill him. The plan is thwarted, temporarily by his secretary, Miss Forbes, but then the plot thickens, quickens and jells to a socko final curtain.

Playwright William Fairchild has used every trick in the bag to maintain suspense, but manages to disguise his unoriginal strategems well. The result is good theater.

Chesse's cast, with one exception, turns in a smooth performance, and by next weekend, should have picked up the first act, which lagged when I saw it.

Abe Kalish, as Norbury, turns in a first-rate characterization, making us dislike him utterly without ever resorting to overdoing the part. I'm sure that as you watch him, you'll find yourself saying, "I know a bahstud just like that!"

Miss Forbes, a love-lorn maiden lady who keeps repeating that she's 39 until she sounds like Jack Benny, is played with expert timing and deep feeling by Joan McKinney. Miss McKinney is a villainess, but we are never in doubt as to her logical motivation and the belated announcement of her refusal to follow through on her villainy is quite believable in light of what she has shown us of Miss Forbes during her time on stage.

As Anne Norbury, Sara Davis is required to strike an emotional peak from her initial entrance and maintain it to the final curtain. She does so convincingly, but could profit from some variation. For example, when Peter is detailing a seemingly ridiculous portion of the murder plot, he pauses and says, "It's nothing to laugh at." Miss Davis has been watching him with the tenseness of a trapped bird, and most certainly has not laughed. She might note that some laughter is heard at funerals, subdued, but nevertheless there.

Roland Irving's Inspector is a suave delight, casual, surefooted and always in command of the situation. His assistant is played flatly a-laugh-a-line by Lee Holman.

Which brings us to the play's only weak link. Peter Marriott is a character who plots murder with the cool detachment of a tremendously strong intellectual, able to divorce emotion from clear thought. To be believable he must at all times carry an inner fire that puts across that detachment.

Peter Fitzhugh, unfortunately, is detached to the point of vacuity. He plots as though he were planning a tea with the vicar, who is often mentioned but never seen. I did not believed he loved Anne; I did not believe he hated Charles; I simply did not believe. If Fitzhugh can rescue a character from what he did the first weekend, it will be the play's biggest surprise.

However, the rest of the cast rescues him, and it's still a worthwhile production. Truly amazing is the technical excellence of the tiny playhouse above Tiburon Tommie's. Dorothy Carter's set is pleasantly functional, with room for the actors on stage, though I understand they have little back stage, and Mary Hueston's lighting design is unobstrusively excellent.

Journalist To Speak At College

John Peer Nugent, correspondent for "Newsweek" magazine who has covered the Congo, will talk on "Africa in Revolt—the Congo" Wednesday at the College of Marin.

Nugent opened the magazine's first African bureau in 1961 and remained in the country for three and one-half years, twice escaping death before firing squads while on assignment.

He will speak at 8 p.m. at Olney Hall as part of the college's spring concert-lecture series. His talk, which will replace a scheduled speech by "Saturday Review" television critic Robert Shayon, is free.

Nugent now works in the "Newsweek" Los Angeles office. He wrote of his experiences as a correspondent in "Africa 999." He was deported from South Africa once for his writings.

Novato Trustees To See Budget

Marin County Music Chest has extended its curren subscription drive for the summer concert series until May 14, Mrs. Samuel Archibald, president, announced today.

The chest's 32nd season opens June 19 at 3 p.m. with a concert given at Forest Meadows, Dominican College, San Rafael by William Warfield, bass-baritone. Warfield will star in "Show Boat" at Lincoln Center in New York this year.

Mrs. Archibald said the first two districts to exceed last year's quota of subscriptions were Hamilton Air Force Base, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Wayne Thurman, and Sonoma, with Mrs. Edgar Touraine as chairman. The chest's county headquarters are at 1133 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Margery Tede Lead Singer For Opera

Margery Tede, San Francisco mezzo-soprano, will sing the leading role of Susan B. Anthony in the Marin Symphony Guild production, "The Mother of Us All," next Sunday at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall at Dominican College.

Guild conductor Sandor Salgo and director Kermit Sheets have assembled a cast of singers from the Bay Area and Los Angeles for the Virgil Thomson-Gertrude Stein opera, in which nearly all of the roles are of equal importance and difficulty.

Other San Franciscans include Walter Matthes in the heavy role of Daniel Webster and Elizabeth Hinther, Edward Jameson, Marie Goff and Karen Paschke.

Fourteen members of the cast are from Marin and sing with either the College of Marin Opera Workshop or Marin Pro Musica. Sydney Peterzon of Sausalito, who is cast as Lillian Russell, was awarded a contract last month with the Metropolitan Opera National Co. for a tour of 49 weeks.

Other singers are Lorie Kutzko of Sausalito; Margaret Lee, Albert Hall and Wyn Brown of Mill Valley; Kenneth Rowland of Larkspur; Marjorie Broughton of Corte Madera; J. D. Nichols and David Wade of San Anselmo; George Baker of Fairfax; Anna Secrist of Novato; Byron Jones, Tom Ingraham and Walter M. Baird of San Rafael.

Richard Magpiong of Los Angeles will repeat the role of Jo the Loiterer which he sang in the UCLA production last year.

Also traveling to Marin for rehearsals are Mildred Owen of Pacifica, Arthur Holcomb of San Jose, and Carole Burch of Stanford.

The score will be played by 46 members of the Marin Symphony Orchestra conducted by Salgo.

Marin Museum Assn. To Acquire Painting

Formal presentation of the painting will be made by the donor, Ed Cory, at a luncheon Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. at the Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club.

The $3,500 Cucaro painting has been donated by Cory, owner of the Cory Gallery in San Francisco. Titled "Ruth," the picture will be presented to Mrs. Edward Hayden, association president.

The occasion is the 1966 fund drive kick-off luncheon of the Marin Museum Assn., which hopes to build a museum on a site facing the Civic Center Lagoon. Architectural design of the museum will conform to the late Frank Lloyd Wright's master plan, and is being developed by Aaron Green, San Francisco architect affiliated with the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation. Target date for starting construction is 1969.

An acquisition committee led by chairman Mrs. Lothar Salin is currently seeking exhibit and storage space in the county.

Nationally known speaker Jack Wolfram is flying from his Michigan home to address the luncheon on "The Individual in a Changing Society." Recently retired as vice president of the Oldsmobile Division of the General Motors Corp., he is president of the Jack Wolfram Foundation, which emphasizes the need to develop more cultural and artistic opportunities as one of its main projects.

Youths Show Talent In Spring Concert

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Year in and year out, Hugo Rinaldi never fails to turn out a first rate youth orchestra.

In its spring concert last night at the College of Marin gymnasium, more than 80 young people in the orchestra, 40 youngsters of the workshop for strings, and two talented soloists showed that youth today can do more than make negative headlines. This is truly one of the most worthwhile projects of the Symphony Guild of Marin, which sponsors the young musicians.

The orchestra was most impressive in the exhilarating final numbers of each half of the program. Concluding the first half was the fourth movement of Dvorak's Symphony in E Minor, op. 95, which had some particularly lovely passages by seven flutes and brilliant work by the brasses.

It was a pleasure to see what progress Assistant Concertmaster Eden Vaning, a high school senior, has made since we first heard her several years ago. Innately musical, she gave a fine performance of the third movement of the Violin Concerto in C Minor by Max Bruch. She should be outstanding as soon as she gains the full self-confidence needed for perfect control of tempo.

One rarely sees such poise in a very young musician as that displayed by eighth grader Jean Franzini in the third movement of Mozart's Piano Concerto in B Flat K 450. Each note of her rippling runs was crystal clear, and her total performance was marked by a strong feeling for rhythm and expressive nuances.

Most unusual number, and very beautiful, was the opening Sontat Pian'e Forte by Gabrieli performed by antiphonal brass choir consisting of five players on one side and six on the other. When tonal quality is good, there is nothing more stimulating than mellow brass sonority.

The string orchestra was good in the propulsive motor rhythm characteristic of the Baroque style in J. S. Bach's Brandenburgisches Konzart Nr. 3, but it was the least successful number because of some faulty intonation.

Since the strings are the backbone of an orchestra, it was good to hear some of the work being done by members of the Workshop for Strings, many of whom will go on into the youth orchestra. Under the direction of Lucien Mitchell, after a warmup with a country dance by Mozart, they played a delightfully rollicking "Perpetual Motion" by Metcalf.

District Proposals To Go To Commission

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission Thursday will hold a hearing on the proposed formation of a new community services district and will discuss proposed creation of a new sanitary district.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

The Lucas Green annexation to San Rafael, continued by the commission last month, will not be on the agenda. Developers were to make a new application if they wanted the issue discussed again. They failed to apply for a spot on the agenda in time, according to commmission Executive Officer John F. Barrows.

The commission will hold a hearing on the proposed formation of the Tamalpais Community Services District. Barrows has recommended in favor of formation, but has urged that the portion of the proposed district on part of the Marincello community be excluded.

If the commission finds the proposal has merit, they must appoint a reorganization committee which will develop details on the proposal and report back to the commission.

The new sanitary district was first proposed as a sanitation district for the Mill Valley area. However, the proponents have since said the original proposal was in error.

A sanitation district could be an over-riding entity which would allow the city of Mill Valley sewer facilities and those of the Homestead Valley, Almonte, Alto and Kay Park sanitary districts to operate under it as separate entities.

If the commission finds the proposal has merit, a hearing will be set, Barrows said.

Also on Thursday's agenda is the continuation of a hearing on the Miwok Corp.'s proposal to take its Seacape subdivision out of the Muir Beach Community Services District.

Lagunitas Budget Set For Discussion Meet

The Lagunitas School District will discuss the proposed 1966-67 school budget at tomorrow's meeting at 8 p.m. at the school.

Other items on the agenda include a fifth grade curriculum report, bills and warrants and enrollment.

West Marin Junior Livestock Contest

Four West Marin girls have begun selling tickets for the West Marin Junior Livestock Show next month in a contest to determine who will be queen of the show.

The show will be June 25-26 at Point Reyes Station. Candidates are Margaret Dougan of Bolinas, a Tamalpais High School student; Judy Giammona of Point Reyes Station; Mary Margaret Costa of Olema; Kathy McPherson of Tomales, all students at Tomales High School. The title will go to the girl selling the most tickets.

Corte Madera Blackouts Blamed On Junketing Junk

The yachting season opened this weekend, but for Mariner Cove residents in Corte Madera it was the opening of the junk junketing season.

Every time Wilfred Tsang sailed his Chinese junk down San Clemente Creek their lights went out.

And if Mariner Cove residents were mystified, PG&E technicians were even more puzzled.

Technicians were dashing back and forth to Mariner Cove to restore power. It wasn't until 10:40 p.m. yesterday, when the power went off for the third time, that the source of the trouble was located.

And then the source was eminently clear, for a flash and explosion illuminated the whole area. Tsang's junk had sliced a power cable in half.

Evidently each time the junk sailed through the creek, its 22-foot mast had nuged the line, cutting off power. Last night, with the tide higher, there wasn't any clearance.

Tsang, who owns a Chinatown cocktail lounge with his two brothers, was very annoyed about the whole thing.

"The wire wasn't there before," he said today. "I think I have the right of way. I'm going to continue sailing through anyway."

And where was he junketing to? "We were going to the opening of the yachting season, and with all this fuss we never got there."

Edith Wieser of 444 Woodland Road, Kentfield, thought there was something wrong with that sign at Kentfield Corners pointing the way to Point Reyes Station.

You May Be One Of Those In Line For Back Problems

One Of Two Americans Expected To Have Ache

Editor's Note: If you, or your uncle or your aunt, have an aching back, you couldn't do better—aside from consulting your own doctor—than to read these articles by an internationally known expert. Dr. Kraus was called in on the problem of President Kennedy's back trouble, and served later on the President's Council on Youth Fitness. His conviction is that proper exercise and learning to relax are the keys to good health.

By HANS KRAUS, M.D.

Perhaps it was an action as simple as opening the garage door, or bending over to pick up a piece of paper, or reaching for something on a high shelf.

But suddenly the pain struck—an excruciating, devil of a pain, one of the worst you've ever felt. It nearly drives you to the ground.

One out of every two Americans is a setup for such an experience for one sorry reason: He's under-exercised and overtense. And the parade of patients with severe backaches every year is testimony that this one ailment is among the most common chronic disabilities of our relatively easy life.

Progress brings benefits. It also brings perils.

Man has been on earth for more than 100,000 years, and yet in the last hundred years, a brief flash in the infinity of time, he has changed his world and his habits in revolutionary fashion.

Nowhere is this more true than in the United States. We are the most prosperous nation in the world. We have a superabundance of automobiles, appliances, and other labor-saving devices.

But we have also altered the physical balance of our lives—and we are now beset by a new wave of degenerative diseases. Under-exercise in partnership with over-irritation has become the most serious threat to the health of Americans, stirring up a witch's brew of trouble, from heart disease and stroke to the wracking pain and time-consuming healing of backaches.

Add to this the stiff neck and headache of tension syndrome, duodenal ulcers, diabetes, overweight and coronary heart disease.

These are the hypokinetic diseases—the sicknesses caused by insufficient exercise, by allowing our bodies and our vital functions to rust away, and torturing their weaknesses with the strain of tension.

But there is an antidote—and with some simple tests and your doctor's go-ahead you can do it yourself.

Even if you suffer from recurrent backaches now, there is good indication that you can correct them and guard against their ever occurring again. More than 8 out of 10 backache cases are caused by under-exercise or tension.

And back pain is often merely the first of the hypokinetic diseases to strike the under-exercised.

The pain can strike almost anywhere from the neck to the waist. It can be the pulsing throb of a tension headache so severe it is torture to try to focus your eyes. Tense neck muscles can cause this.

But the worst of all is low back pain. A bad case of low back pain may make you think you're crippled for life.

Suddenly all the tension that has been building up in your system seems to focus across the lower back, even with the hips. In an instant—as you go to turn or twist or to stoop, muscles go into wracking spasm. You can't move. You're locked in position. You wonder if you dare straighten up — and when you try, it feels as if someone had stuck a knife in your spine. You try to get to a chair. The pain increases even more. Finally you manage to lie down. When the pain is piercing, you can't get up, you can't move your legs. After a day or two, you manage to hobble out of bed. Gradually, the pain seems to go away.

But perhaps in a week, a month, or even two months later, the pain attacks again. This time, it's worse. You wonder what's wrong. Nothing seems to help.

It strikes both men and women without prejudice. It strikes young men who used to be athletes, and it strikes desk workers who never were. It hits young mothers and grandmothers.

I was interviewed by a writer—we'll call him Pete Hamilton—in 1955. He was interested in my exercise tests because of a report I had given to President Dwight Eisenhower. To get the real idea, he decided to take the Kraus-Weber tests. He had good strength, but he was tense. He was so tense in fact that he failed the floor-touch test—one of the six muscle measuring actions. Try as he might, he couldn't get his finger tips to within six inches of the floor, and his hamstring muscles were as unyielding as piano wire.

"If ever I saw a candidate for back pain, you're it," I told him. "You're simply too tense. Tell me, what do you do for exercise?

"Nothing," he said. He just didn't have time, was too rushed, and there weren't athletic facilities nearby.

Five years later he came to see me again. This time he limped in, bent over at the waist. There was agony on his face. He'd had a car accident and the next day had felt a little back pain—but when he bent over to pick up a piece of paper "it was as though someone had swung an ax into the base of my spine. I was flat on my face and I couldn't move my legs. I stayed there for a half hour until my wife found me."

His doctor prescribed a brace, and when the back failed to improve, decided surgery might be necessary. But first, the doctor said, try conservative treatment.

It took three months, relaxing exercises and finally some strengthening, stretching exercises, but Pete Hamilton recovered without surgery and he's still fine today.

In tomorrow's article, we'll look at the Kraus-Weber tests and you can find out for yourself whether you are a candidate for back pain.

If so, the time to protect against it is now.

Tomorrow: Six simple tests to determine if you are a backache candidate.

RITES

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken led Saturday's rites dedicating new San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow. (Independent-Journal photo)

San Domenico Formally Dedicated

The new 537-acre campus of San Domenico School for Girls in Sleepy Hollow was dedicated Saturday in religious ceremonies led by Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco.

After blessing the new building, the archbishop conveyed the blessings of Pope Paul VI to the more than 500 students, parents and religious and educational leaders assembled at the sunny campus.

The occasion marked the fourth campus to be occupied by the 115-year-old school since its founding in Monterey. After some years in Benicia, where it was known as St. Catherine's, the school operated by the Dominican Sisters moved to San Rafael in 1889, where it was known until its most recent move as the Dominican Upper and Lower Schools.

The new $3.5 million school house some 154 resident upper school girls and has a total enrollment of 350 upper and lower day school students.

The dedication ceremonies included the blessing of the upper and lower school students.

Stalled Truck Snarls Novato Commuters

Southbound commuter traffic on Highway 101 in Novato was tied up for nearly an hour this morning, backing up from the light at Diablo Avenue north to San Marin Drive, according to Novato police.

The tieup started when a southbound lumber truck and trailer stalled in the slow lane at the traffic signal at Diablo Avenue about 7:25 a.m., police reported. Motorists whose way was blocked tried vainly to push the huge truck and trailer off the road, but were unable to do it.

A passing gravel truck was flagged down by the California Highway Patrol. It was able to pull the lumber truck off the road onto the shoulder just before 8 a.m.

The traffic was further tied up by motorists going down the shoulder and then trying to force their way into the right lane of traffic when they found the shoulder blocked by the truck, police reported.

Girls Admit Wholesale Shoplifting

Four little girls from Larkspur, Corte Madera and Greenbrae admitted to Corte Madera police yesterday that they went on a shoplifting spree in the Corte Madera Center Saturday, netting more than 100 pieces of merchandise.

The two Larkspur girls, aged 12 and 11, were caught stealing gum and other small items in Littleman Market in the center Saturday afternoon. They told police they had more stolen merchandise at home.

Talking with the girls, police learned the names of a 12-year-old Corte Madera girl and an 11-year-old Greenbrae girl who participated in the thievery. None of the girls had ever been in trouble with the law before, police said.

Stopping off at each girl's house, police recovered all the items stolen, including wallets, pens, rubber Batman emblems, sunglasses, address books and lipsticks. The girls were all cited to juvenile probation authorities for shoplifting. Police could not estimate the value of the stolen articles.

Waldo Grade Crash Hurts Fairfax Man

A 33-year-old Fairfax man suffered multiple injuries when his car struck the center divider on Highway 101 about a quarter-mile south of the Waldo Tunnel at 9:50 Saturday and overturned.

The driver, Ambrose J. N. Hollingworth of 31 Forrest Avenue, suffered a broken right leg, pelvis and back injuries. He was reported in fair condition at intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital today.

The California Highway Patrol reported Hollingworth was southbound when an unidentified car swerved in front of him causing him to swerve into the center divider.

Law Study Asked On Creek Lands

A study of special legislation that would allow the state to reimburse ark dwellers along Corte Madera Creek has been suggested by County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen.

In a letter to the county counsel's office, Kettenhofen said he believed that holding posessory interest in state lands had been reimbursed in other areas when leases were cancelled.

Owners who will lose state leases along Corte Madera Creek because of the flood control project have estimated their loss at a total $100,000, Kettenhofen said.

Two Marin Marines In Recruit Training

They are: Richard R. Ragland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rene C. Ragland of 69 Wellington Avenue, San Anselmo, and Roger D. Schlecht, son of Mr. anr Mrs. Elwin D. Schlecht, of 940 Bruno Street, Novato.

Marincello Suit Final Arguments

Final arguments in a suit to halt development of Marincello, have been scheduled for 10 a.m. May 9 before Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court.

City of Sausalito and two couples—John P. and Constance L. Erickson, and Herbert and Frances M. Perkins—seek a preliminary injunction to prevent the County of Marin from adopting any more resolutions or ordinances enabling Marincello development.

Their suit, which also asks to have county rezoning for Marincello nullified, alleges the county illegally changed the 2,100-acre parcel from residential and agricultural zoning to planned community.

Youngsters Cited For Shoplifting

Corte Madera police cited two boys from that town, aged 14 and 13, for shoplifting Saturday after they were allegedly seen stealing a 66-cent bottle of suntan lotion from Montgomery Ward and Co. department store.

Later the same afternoon, police also cited two Sausalito girls, aged 12 and 13, after they were allegedly seen taking $7.92 worth of records from the same store.

Fire Fighter Quits Net Depot

Fire Fighter Frank J. Walsh of the Naval Net Depot at Tiburon has retired after 25 years of federal service.

After World War II service in the Marine Corps, he began his civilian career at the Naval Supply Depot, Oakland and was transferred to Tiburon in February 1955.

He and his wife, Tillie, intend to spend his retirement fishing and camping throughout California.

Election Tomorrow For Utility Board

Election will be held tomorrow in Bolinas to fill two seats on the Bolinas Beach Public Utility District Board. Polls will be open from 1 to 7 p.m. in the Mesa Clubhouse at Elm and Maple streets, reported Mrs. Jacque Gianola, board secretary.

Four persons are contending for the vacancies. They are Ernest Dix and James R. Alberigi Jr., incumbents, and Jose A. Silva, construction superintendent, and Fred Davis, handyman.

Hearing Is Set On Rezoning

Corte Madera Town Council will hold a public hearing on rezoning three acres on the southwest corner of Conow Street and Casa Buena Drive from administrative-professional to highway commercial when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall.

Applicant for the rezoning is Chrysler Motors Corp., which wants to construct a sales and service agency for new and used autos at the site. The application has been approved by the planning commission.

Councilmen will also receive the resignation from the planning commission of Harold B. Wagstaff, newly elected councilman will be asked to name a replacement.

San Rafael Army Officer Saves Korean Crash Victims

An Army second lieutenant from San Rafael has been credited with rescuing 30 Korean tourists whose bus lost a wheel and went over an embankment outside Seoul.

Lt. Jerry C. Williams, son of Carlyle R. Williams of 8 Alderwood Way, and volunteers from the artillery battery he commands came to the rescue moments after the bus careened down the 20-foot embankment and ended upside-down at the bottom.

An Army communique said, "Ignoring the danger of possible fire and gas explosions, Lt. Williams pulled victims from the wreckage, gave first aid and provided transportation to the hospital for the victims."

The Army said, "Several lives had been saved and more serious injuries prevented because of the skill and calmness with which Williams and the other soldiers reacted to the emergency."

Williams was graduated from Tamalpais High School in 1960 and from the University of California in 1964. He entered the Army last year.

Records, Clothes, Appliances Stolen

Thieves stole clothing, tools, appliances and records worth $1,005 from the home of Patrick G. Gleeson at 404 Summit Avenue, Corte Madera, during daylight hours Friday, Corte Madera police reported today.

Officers reported burglars entered through an unlocked sliding door. Missing, when Gleeson arrived home that night, were a tape recorder, television set, vacuum cleaner, 15 sweaters, a vest, a power saw, and 15 record albums.

Christopher Is Best Man For Republican Nomination

Least known of the five is Joseph R. Maxwell, who is listed as a management consultant from Pasadena. Maxwell can hardly be classified as a serious candidate.

William Penn Patrick of Tiburon, the young cosmetics manufacturer, is a local curiosity. From the outset, Patrick announced he was in the race all the way and apparently is taking his candidacy seriously. But he lacks the experience, either as a public officeholder or as a working member of his political party, to be considered a serious contender for the GOP nomination.

Warren M. Dorn, Los Angeles County supervisor, strikes us as a likable and able person. Dorn might not make a bad governor if he can get elected. But his chances are slim. His expression of interest in statewide affairs is of recent origin. Outside of Los Angeles, he is not too well known.

This leaves the two Republican heavyweights — George Christopher and Ronald Reagan.

Christopher, as mayor of San Francisco, was the outspoken, activist type who wanted to and did get things done. During his eight years as mayor, he was acclaimed for running one of the best-administered and corruption-free cities in the country.

Christopher's interest in statewide service is evidenced by his previous campaigns for U.S. Senate in 1958 and for lieutenant governor in 1962. In both of these campaigns Christopher was the victim of circumstances.

In 1958, his nomination was opposed by the then Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, who ran for Senate to make room for William F. Knowland, who wanted the governorship.

Four years later, Christopher ran for lieutenant governor on the Richard Nixon ticket. Christopher expressed sound thinking and put up an effective campaign, but his expressions were overshadowed by Nixon. In that defeat, Christopher proved himself a vote-getter by outpolling Nixon, the head of the Republican ticket.

In popular appeal, Ronald Reagan probably rates as well as any other candidate. It's his administrative ability and statesmanship in handling a statewide office that are untested.

It is to Reagan's credit that he is a persuasive political speaker on TV, even though we do not often agree with the views he presents. Some of his opinions strike us as being too ultra-conservative to be practical today.

NEVERTHELESS, on the basis of proven administrative ability and statesmanship, George Christopher deserves to be the GOP standard bearer. We endorse Christopher as the Republican nominee for governor.

Quail Are Nesting Now

The quail usually travel in large groups. Now we see them together much less frequently. The males scurry singly around the neighborhood, trying out various fences and shrubs as lookout posts.

A large covey that used to roost each night in the live oak overhanging our back sidewalk has split up and dispersed. And a few extra males appear to be singing, "Wedding bells are breaking up that old gang of mine.'

The obvious conclusion is that it is quail nesting time in Marin.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Lands Commission Is Pondering Corte Madera Creek Ark Sites

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Members of the state lands commission, who are Alan Cranston, state controller; Glenn M. Anderson, lieutenant-governor (both incidentally candidates for re-election); and Hale Champion, state director of finance, are confronted with a knotty situation at the present time.

This is the plight of the "ark-site" residents on Corte Madera creek, in Marin County.

CONGRESS HAS appropriated funds for the development of the creek as a flood control project and is ready to start work through the Army engineers as of June 30.

As a result, the residents will be dispossessed and stand to lose their residences as a result of the development.

An "ark-site" consists of a plot of state land along the creek, for the most part submerged, and leased for purposes of occupancy by barges, boats, or other floating establishments which have been converted into living quarters.

About 20 sites are involved. Representatives of the holders have advised the commission they are not opposed to the development of the creek as a flood control project, which means most of the sites will be dredged out, but they are concerned over timing of the project, and also over possible compensation for the monies they have invested in personal property which cannot be removed from the sites.

REASON THE ARKS can't be taken out, they explained, is the fact that after they were located, a bridge was constructed across the creek and the arks can't be towed out.

The commission is highly sympathetic to the plight of the lessees, but is in a position where not much can be done about the matter. The state cannot recompense the leaseholders for personal property. Attorneys pointed out if it did, there would be a violation of the constitution in the matter of giving away public funds.

The commission already has granted right-of-way easements to the federal government and has issued a dredging permit to commence the work.

AT A RECENT meeting, it instructed F. J. Hortig, executive officer, to issue vacating notices in a time less than 60 days if necessary to assure the beginning of the project, but to confer with the attorney general's office to determine whether ways could be found to secure some recompense to the site lessees.

The lessees claim they are citizens and taxpayers, and should have similar rights to their property as other citizens who have located on similar sites owned by private interests; in other words, they are denied the process of condemnation proceedings and recompense for their losses which cannot be avoided.

Consequently, they want to stay in their homes as long as possible. A suggestion by Hugo Fisher, state resources agency director, proposed the intervention of the attorney general into the picture to determine whether the County of Marin and its flood control district might be responsible for recompense.

County Employee Questions Pay Hikes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I read with amazement, your story of April 20, of the two apprentices in Marin County government, who, after only six months in their jobs, were raised to salaries of $486 per month, on the recommendation of the county administrator.

These men were evidently hired under the program to train and give employment to school dropouts.

Aften ten and one-half years as an employee of Marin County government, my monthly gross pay is $419—I might add that these years have all been in one department.

I have been trying to analyze the situation in my own mind, and have reached the conclusion that I have too much education and initiative to qualify for a promotion and larger salary.

Mother's Plan For The U.S.A.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Yesterday, while ironing, I conceived a plan . . . for saving America against the onslaught of communism and socialism. If I were running for president, I'd implement this simple plan for ONE YEAR ONLY . . .

Running on the "Mother's Ticket," we would arouse the ladies . . . We would have two slogans: "America, Mighty Fortress Under God!" and, "Mothers, Unite! You have nothing to lose but your sons!"

Our platform: . . .

1. Declare again America's traditional dependence on God; but further, declare a month of prayer and penance throughout the nation to appease God's anger.

2. Bring back all our boys from every corner of the globe. Even Viet Nam.

3. Use our boys to protect America from any enemy; within and without, building America into a mighty fortress under God.

4. Cut out all foreign giveaways. . . . Tell all nations who owe us money to pay up in gold.

5. Quit trading with the enemy — even indirectly.

6. Do away with the income tax. We wouldn't need it.

7. Place in retirement all bureaucrats of the nation. The supreme court and McNamara would be the first to go.

8. Call for dedicated and patriotic men and women to serve our republic at a minimum salary.

9. Revoke tax exemption to any church meddling in politics.

10. Embark on a re-education program, selling the virtues of the U.S. Constitution and the horrors of slavery under communism . . .

11. Declare to the world we sympathize with their plight, but that the time has come for us to revitalize our national vigor, to be an effective instrument of peace in the world. We would extend the hand of brotherly love to all nations and peoples, but a hand sans cash, check or money order.

Details of implementation of this platform will have to wait until my next batch of ironing.

Are UFOs Ever Seen In Other Countries?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The question: Has any other country in the world, except the USA, seen any of these flying objects or saucers, which everyone seems to be getting a good look at now, plus camera shots. I'd like a reply in your What Our Readers Say column.

No Race Reporting In Case Of Rescue

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We have Marin City, and you ask why; we have fear, prejudice, hate, yet you do not understand that you are furthering these ills:

Last Friday, your paper reported the courageous rescue of an injured elderly woman by a twelve-year-old Fairfax school boy, Stephen Ward. The article was correct, efficient, and just; it was not mentioned that Stephen is a Negro. This evening's paper reported the arrest of two college youths suspected of using marijuana; this article was correct, efficient, and unjust. For you were quick, eager to point out that those arrested were Negroes.

Why, sir, must this be? When a Negro is involved in your headlines, why is his race indicated only when the act has been one which presents his community in a bad light?

There is no need to label people by color; in doing so, and in doing so selectively and unfairly, your paper can do nothing more than breed intolerance.

Video Line A Doozy

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The small fry in the electronics game are on the launch pad again, to fire into orbit really a big one, on the public. This thing, is a gismo fantastic. It's a community TV hookup where antenna wires would be intrenched. This to a queer looking tower, atop a remote hill. If we let this go by, the skyline of beauty of the hills of Marin would resemble an ever expanding scene, of grotesque Texas oil derricks, in mad disarray . . .

This TV radio antenna gimmick is a genuine doozie. It could open the door of opportunity for the big spaces in the electronics field to take over. They would be free to tack a money meter on your glorified picture squawk box. Free TV would be gone forever, beyond recall. Viewers would be obligated to bounce 12 to 15 dollars per month to use their own property.

Now the hook line, the clincher of the promoter, a small city with a signup of 50 per cent for trench to tower antenna hookup could yield a taxable revenue of $8,000 per year.

The subscriber for this service would be nicked five bucks per month. This sparks some of our gullible councilmen. They see this as a new source of tax take for the city treasury. We taxpayers better wise up. This is risky business; legal entanglement could ensue, a least slip, could embroil us in lengthy litigation, to no avail. The taxpayers made patsies to foot a costly bill in the end.

We taxpayers in no uncertain but emphatic terms must tell our councilmen to keep their noses out of the electronics game gimmicks, a business they know not of, or any other deals, of this nature in city affairs, in our counties.

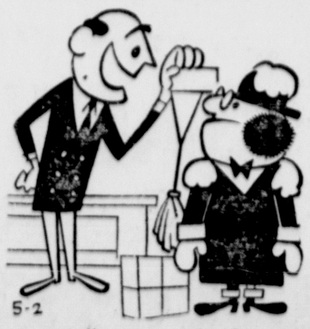
TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

AT THE HEIGHT of one of the worst blizzards in the history of New York, a solitary customer huffed and puffed his way through the snow, entered the premises of a virtually deserted men's furnishings emporium of note—and bought himself a pair of white flannel pants. What's more, just as he was preparing to sally forth again into the storm he called back to the clerk who had attended him, "By the way, you might include a new nightcap with those pants." "Certainly, sir," answered the clerk without the flicker of a smile. "I presume you'll want one with a tassel, sir." The manager thought this might be a good moment to close shop for the day. (It couldn't be reopened until the following Monday).



"YOU ADMIT you put a lead slug in the complainant's cigar vending machine," rumbled a judge. "Don't you know that's cheating?" "Your Honor," answered the defendant, "I can see you never smoked one of the cigars in that machine!"

THANK HEAVEN for sets and numbers and all that other new math they're teaching kids these days, rejoined a suburbanite. "Now my own children will never find out I didn't know the old!"

Congress No Longer Afflicted With Boredom On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — No more ho-hum.

Boredom used to be the response in Congress when anyone, including a president, proposed a civil rights bill. That seems ages ago.

Now President Johnson is handing Congress one of the toughest civil rights bills ever.

IT WILL be picked at, hacked at, and, no doubt, riddled. But the tide has turned. That alone should assure some kind of civil rights bill going through.

There's another reason. This is a congressional election year, which is all the more inducement for Johnson to put the pressure on for action.

Less than 20 years ago the house would overwhelmingly pass an anti-poll tax since the House ban on filibusters left the Southern Democrats practically speechless and certainly ineffective.

BUT ONCE the House-passed bill reached the Senate it was dead, killed by a combination of two things:

In the Senate there was no ban on a filibuster unless the Senate felt inclined to stop it, and not enough non-Southerners felt strongly enough about civil rights to do the stopping.

So the Southerners had it all to themselves from 1875, the last time a civil rights bill was passed, until mid-20th century.

Then the Supreme Court cut the ground from under Congress in 1954 by taking on civil rights a monumental stand which Congress continually failed to do: it outlawed segregation in public schools.

THAT BROKE the back of Southern resistance, for in 1957 —with Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate's Democratic majority leader, driving the Senate — Congress passed the first civil rights bill in 82 years.

The Southerners in the Senate were never able again to block civil rights legislation and Congress passed more civil rights bills in 1960, 1964 and 1965.

Johnson has, as president, asked for new legislation to fight discrimination in housing, state and federal juries, and schools, plus legislation to combat Ku Klux Klan type terrorism in the South.

He proposed a law to prohibit any interference with the "exercise of fundamental rights by threats or force, by any person—whether as an individual or in a group and whether privately or officially."

The President specifically named fundamental rights — voting, education, housing, employment, jury service and travel.

A CIVIL RIGHTS murder could mean a federal penalty of life imprisonment with lesser crimes bringing lesser penalties. The present law makes no distinction among such crimes, providing only a five-year penalty for conspiring to deprive others of their rights.

That there would be a fight became clear in a hurry.

Before the program could be formally submitted to Congress one of the leading opponents of civil rights bills in the past, Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., described the housing section as unconstitutional and unenforceable.

And Republicans will have a say since the Democratic leadership will have to depend on their support to break any Southern attempt at a filibuster.

Farm State Demos Want Freeman Out

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — If agriculture-minded congressional Democrats have their way, Secretary Orville Freeman will be out of the Cabinet by the start of this fall's turbulent election battle.

THE FEELING is widespread among them that it's either him or them. This irate attitude is especially pronounced among Democratic freshman from farm belt states.

All are carefully divorcing themselves from Freeman's widely and furiously denounced policies. Also all are eagerly looking forward to voting for the new $6.9 billion agriculture budget approved overwhelmingly by the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee's huge money bill, restoring virtually all recommended slashes, is a stinging rebuff to President Johnson—and to Freeman.

Principal complaint against Freeman is that he is saddling the farmer with the brunt of the anti-inflation drive.

Caustically illustrative of this feeling is the irate view of Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., powerful veteran chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. Says Cooley: "Farmers are being made the scapegoats of the effort to halt inflation. Farm prices are being rolled back, while the best way to combat inflation is to reduce non-essential government spending on old and new programs heating up the economy that can wait until the Viet Nam conflict is settled."

Reason for these and numerous other angry blasts in and out of Congress is a long list of farm price-depressing moves, foremost among them the following:

GRAIN DUMPING: From Oct. 1, 1965, to April 8, 1966, the Commodity Credit Corporation sold 326,900,000 bushels of corn for domestic use, plus 53,758,000 for export. These sales, in direct competition with farmer sales, forced midwestern corn prices down 10 cents a bushel. Farm organization experts estimate this government dumping has cost growers $370 mililon.

Dumping is also being used to force farmer enrollment in the so-called voluntary feed grains program. Growers are paid a subsidy to reduce acreage, and enrollment this year is lagging. Lower market prices tend to induce farmers to sign up.

HIDE EXPORTS: In March the Commerce Department imposed export licenses and tight quotas on hide sales abroad, chiefly cattle, in an effort to reduce domestic prices and thus increase supplies for shoe manufacturers.

But manufacturers raised prices anyway—an average of $1 to $2 a pair. Enraged cattlemen claim the export controls will cost them an estimated $4 a head. They were particularly indignant because the Commerce Department acted without first holding the customary public hearings.

DAIRY AND PORK: School milk funds were slashed by 80 per cent, representing a cut of one billion half-pints a year. The House Appropriations Committee voted to restore the $103 million to maintain this program at the current level. It did the same with the school lunch program, providing $157 million for it.

But the Defense Department is substituting margarine for butter for the Army and Air Force, which means cutting butter purchases by 1.8 million pounds a month. On top of that, import quotas for cheddar cheese have been boosted by 926,700 pounds up to June 30 to hold down domestic prices. The Defense Department has chopped in half purchases of pork products—bacon, ham and chops.

SUGAR IMPORTS: Import quotas of sugar were raised in February by 100,000 tons and removed entirely for the month of March.

Perhaps Bremond Had To Resign Six Times To Different Bosses

Certainly, we all have too many bosses. One is too many, but six bosses is way too many. And when six bosses start fighting over which has the right to fire you first, that's a superfluity.

What would you do in such a case? What Walter Bremond did was resign. You might think he enjoyed it, but he did not. You might think walking out on six bosses would be six times more fun, but the majority of his bosses were committees, or commissions, or boards.

HOW DO YOU tell a committee where to get off?

Bremond's prime duty as director of community relations services was to run the war-on-poverty program in Marin. His prime worry must have been trying to keep a majority of his bosses happy.

His bosses were County Administrator Alan Bruce; Betty L. Presley, director of the department of public social services; the Marin City Community Action Committee, the county-wide advisory committee, the human rights commission and the board of supervisors.

IT WAS BRUCE who first asked for Bremond's resignation and it was Miss Presley who actually fired him.

Bruce's action was first challenged by the human rights commission and the action committee. Shouldn't they be consulted?

Bruce agreed to a closed meeting with the action committee, presumably to tell what he had on Bremond, but before that meeting could take place, supervisors called a hurry-up closed session, cancelled the action committee meeting, scolded Bruce and asked Miss Presley to fire Bremond.

This inane scuffle points to one clear reality in the war-on-poverty program. That is this:

NO ONE KNOWS who has the right to do what to whom.

Bremond said supervisors accused him of a lack of administrative ability. But maybe administrative ability should be a little like charity and begin at home.

By the end of the week when Bremond finally decided to resign, it was pretty clear that administrative and other kinds of ability were lacking in other quarters.

This is not in defense of Bremond. It is pretty hard to justify his failure to push through a neighborhood job corps application without consulting at least one of his bosses. Perhaps he simply did not know which boss to consult first.

IF BREMOND had fought his dismissal as originally intended, the dispute would have further illuminated the need for clarity in the war-on-poverty administration, but he feared it might also cause a truce in the war.

Now we have a promise from Rogers Jones of the action committee, from supervisors and from Bruce that a Friday meeting between the committee and supervisors will achieve this needed clarity.

But you might want to worry about that meeting a little bit. Usually in such a session some well-meaning soul suggests that the very thing that is needed to solve the problem is a committee.

Organize A Testimonial Dinner And Get Yourself Out Of Debt

WASHINGTON—It's springtime in Washington and the question of ethics can be heard throughout the land. The question has been raised over disclosures that Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., received $100,000 from two testimonial dinners held in his honor in 1961 and 1963.

The money was used, it was said by Drew Pearson and affirmed by a member of Dodd's staff, to pay the senator's personal bills. The Internal Revenue Service said that the Dodd money was not subject to tax if it was given "from a detached and disinterested generosity and out of affection, respect, admiration, charity and the like impulse and is a gift according to the law."

THE REVELATION of how Senator Dodd found a painless way to pay off all his debts has been a great inspiration to every debt-ridden person in the United States, and as soon as I read about it I decided to have a testimonial dinner in my honor. My personal debts are in the neighborhood of $60,000, if you don't count what I owe the newspaper boy, so I decided not to charge more than $50 a plate for the dinner.

First, I had tickets printed up.

Then I called up the Georgetown Pharmacy, where I owe $130, and asked Harry Dalinsky, the druggist, if he wanted to take a table.

"What for?"

"Well, if I can pull this dinner off, I'll have enough money to pay your bill."

"Put me down for half a plate."

"How can I pay you off if you only take half a plate?"

"I'm on a diet."

I then called the president of the Perpetual Building Assn. which holds the mortgage on my house.

"I KNOW you people hold me in great admiration and affection because you keep calling me every month. I'm giving a testimonial in honor of myself and I thought you'd like to take a table."

The president said, "We never attend dinners of people who owe us money."

"Well, would you take an advertisement in the souvenir program? Say something like 'Good luck to a friend who needs it, from a friend who doesn't."

I CALLED the Calvert Market, Towne Wine and Liquor Store, Best's, Lord and Taylor, General Heating, Stohlman's Chevrolet, Karl's Caterers, Hechinger Hardware, and everyone else I owed money to. When I explained to them that, if they showed a detached and disinterested generosity by coming to my dinner as interpreted by the IRS, they might get paid, everyone agreed to take a table.

I then called my Uncle Oscar in New York, to whom I owed $500, and asked him to come.

"Who are you getting for your main speaker?"

"I'M TRYING to get Senator Dodd," I told him. "But he's not answering the phone."

"I hear Dodd is dead."

"No, Uncle Oscar, that's God, not Dodd."

"I'm sorry, I have a cold."

In a week I managed to sell out the dinner and we're going to hold it next week if I can find a room.

It seems everyone in Washington has decided to have a testimonial dinner for himself since he read about Senator Dodd and all the big hotel ballrooms in Washington are booked solid. This may be the big break the poverty program has been looking for.

10 YEARS AGO

Marin County officials began cracking down on dairymen who let refuse from barns wash into creeks and kill fish, especially in Papermill Creek and its tributaries.

J. G. Stevens, legislative representative for the Bolinas Harbor District, reported that dredging of Bolinas Harbor and its approach was scheduled to get underway.

The 700-acre Pacheco ranch west of Hamilton Air Force Base, one of Marin's oldest and best known dairy ranches, was sold for residential development.

Super Agency Plan Means More Workers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Winifred S. Frederick need not have limited her remarks about the proposed super agency to the situation in Marin County. This is the same process used by civil administrative bodies everywhere to develop more jobs at higher salaries to be paid for by taxes.

Mr. Bruce's proposal for a limited agency group starting July 1 means that a group with a vested interest (jobs) will be spending tax money to find a politically acceptable way to make the project permanent without offending any of the present job holders.

The Probation Department is already part of the courts and should remain so. I am a veteran myself, but I can see no reason for such a department at the county level. If legislative changes are needed to combine the Health, Medical and Mental Health departments, that should be done by our elected representatives. The Welfare Department has enough problems to solve now without getting them lost in another administrative agency.

The taxpayer can be sure that any transfer of duties from the present department to the new agency will be mostly offset by the need for coordinators and report compilers necessitated by the super agency.

Any private industrial engineer could work out a more efficient and cheaper operation of these departments but he could never get the legislation to put it into effect nor could he withstand the storm of disapproval that would be mounted by the departments and the employee organizations.

The best that the taxpayer can hope for is that the Supervisors do not approve the proposal and the only thing they can do if it is approved is to vote against the incumbents at subsequent elections.

Column On Teacher Salaries Draws Ire

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: The People's Schools Article in April 25, 1966 issue.

Your view of teacher groups playing salaries against other districts is a typical one evidenced many times by people who really have not informed themselves of all the facts. . .

First . . . the children of our great country should have the advantage of the finest minds available, and industry could then have second choice. I am afraid that too many times education gets the second choice and it will become more so as time goes along if more people continue to think as you do.

Now, I know what you are thinking, which is the old cliche of "Well, what about dedication?" All I can say is try to buy some groceries with it, and is it a guarantee of intelligence? My son recently turned down a job because of his draft status, however the pay was $225 per week which is over $11,000 per year with The Arlene's Cake Shop in Lafayette, Calif., and by the way, the pot washer's salary is over $8,000.

If you just stop and think a little farther than your nose, you can see why an intelligent youngster, the kind you should want in teaching, could not justify five years of college work to be eligible for a PhD., will reach a maximum of around $10,000. No, from what you have said, I can only surmise that you prefer more of the unthinking type evidenced in your column as this keeps away any serious competition for the time being at least and until we have lost our very valued place in the sun.

For people like you, it is very lucky that the teachers haven't wised up and started comparing their salaries with other occupations, but sand-by, the day is coming!

Mention Of Race Draws Criticism

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Concerning your article on Page 1 of the Tuesday, April 26, Independent-Journal, I note that under "POT PARTY ARREST OF COLLEGE YOUTHS, HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS", the first three lines read: "Three Tamalpais High School girl students and two College of Marin Negro youths were arrested last night . . ."

From these three lines I gather that the girls involved were other than Negro. This, I felt, was an unimportant bit of reporting, inasmuch as the article had nothing to do with race, creed or color, but rather about something illegally done by members of the community.

Having reviewed the rest of the newspaper I cannot find any other article that mentions a person's color, whether it be green, blue or chartreuse . . .

I called the Independent-Journal this morning and was connected with a gentleman who identified himself as "Editor," and I asked him if it was important that it be mentioned that the College of Marin youths were Negro, and that I gathered the girls were of another color (perhaps purple?). He informed me: "Yes, they felt it was important to some people to know the color of the parties involved." By "they" I gather he meant the Independent-Journal.

At this point, I must admit, I was dumbfounded. I did not realize until that very moment that the Independent-Journal held such viewpoints and am wondering if perhaps their reporting has not contributed to the difficulties of minority groups in their attempts to have equal rights.

I must read the Independent-Journal more carefully in the future to see if I can discover that perhaps my neighbors are of a hue other than the Independent's accepted color.

Questions Raised On Golf Course Gift

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding the San Geronimo Golf Course "offer," I find the following points confusing, and would appreciate their clarification.

If Supervisor Kettenhofen's "good friend, Robert Roumiguiere" and his San Geronimo Valley Properties are going to make a gift of a golf course to the people of Marin, why must bonds be sold to "reimburse the original owners"?

Because a "non-profit organization" will lease the course to National Golf Courses, Inc., to operate it, does that mean that National will not make a profit from it? Do they, as present operators, make a profit from it now?

How can these arrangements be considered "non-profit and tax-exempt" when "an annual possessory interest tax" will be paid to the County?

SPECIALIST!

Properly defined, the word specialist means one who specializes or pursues a particular kind of vocation.

Doctors, lawyers and watchmakers are specialists. The word also applies to a Realtor. His specialty is real estate. He must know the various trends that influence the real estate market. When dealing with a Realtor, you benefit from his knowledge and experience. And you have the added assurance of knowing that a Realtor is bound by a strict code of ethics laid down by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Unless you are a real estate specialist, take this suggestion and trade with a Realtor.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Television Could Aid Understanding

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —I had a curious reaction while watching NBC-TV's documentary, Mississippi: A Self-Portrait." I wondered how it was generally received in that state. I really had no idea. And suddenly it occured to me that my very puzzlement was a form of condemnation of network television's effectiveness over the years as a communicator in essential areas:

For here we are in the same nation, and yet—as the sometimes fascinating one-hour documentary pointed up in key moments—we often do not even begin to understand each other in some of the most crucial problems we share.

I do not mean to blame television's failure for all our woes, as some lazy academicians are apt to do, yet it is a fact that video's most significant job is to help people understand each other and know each other, and it is in this area, above all, that the network's have failed miserably.

It might not be a bad idea for the video hucksters to remember occasionally that if various peoples of the world fail eventually to understand each other, there might come a day when there will be no more homes in Scarsdale, or skyscrapers in which to decide on prime time schedules, or even Batmen.

They might, in short, recall their own often-repeated words that television is the most massive communications device ever to have an audience at its

"Mississippi, a Self-Portrait" offered views by various residents of that state on changes there, with the race issue quite naturally being dominant. There was no question where NBC-TV stood on the subject, yet the program, with Frank McGee as reporter, seemed to try to keep in mind the compassion that is necessary to solve all such entangled human dilemmas.

CBS-TV last night presented a one-hour "entertainment documentary" called "The Magic of Broadcasting," which tried in part to recall oldtime favorites of radio and television, and also to give a behind-the-scenes look at video today.

In brief, the less said about the whole endeavor, the better. The recollections were offered in a tepid manner, perhaps to suit the ancient audience CBS-TV is supposed to be very big with. The "inside" show business touches were naive.

Radio and television news and documentary history was summed up in about one minute. And Rod Serling managed to appraise the decline of video drama without ever once mentioning ratings.

Fairfax School Campaign Slated

Seven Fairfax residents, members of the Committee for the Fairfax Schools, met Friday night to plan a telephone campaign, printing of brochures and posters to support a school tax increase which voters will decide on June 7.

Mrs. Frank E. Sheets of Fairfax was elected treasurer at the meeting, said Leonard A. Weiss, chairman of the group.

Voters will decide whether to approve a proposed rise in the school district general operating tax rate from $2.05 to $2.70 per $100 assessed valuation.

Resident To Tell Of Synanon Methods

A Synanon House resident will speak on methods of the organization which works to reclaim narcotics addicts at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Terra Linda High School.

The meeting, which will include a question and answer period, is sponsored by the school's recently organized B'nai B'rith Youth Organization.

Tam, Redwood Students Win Speech Awards

Jill Cogswell, a senior at Tamalpais High School, and Hampton Lyons of Redwood High have been selected as first place winners in the 1966 Tamalpais High School District Shakespeare Speech Competition.

Each school which has a first place winner receives a trophy designed after the Elizabethan stage, and each contestant is awarded $10. Second and third place winners each receive cash awards.

Robin Tatum of Drake High School and Alan Shearer of Tamalpais won second place awards. Nedra Ruiz and Jeff Paggett, both of San Rafael High, won third place.

The judges were John Brebner of the Marin Shakespeare Festival, and Dr. Arlin Hiken and Tom Tyrell, both of the San Francisco State College drama and speech department.

Terra Linda Student Honored At Davis

Jack Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards of 365 Nova Albion Way, Terra Linda, reigned as "coed king" at the University of California, Davis, during the weekend.

Marin City's Riot Case A Precedent?

A ruling by Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, possibly without precedent in Marin County, came today in discovery of evidence matters in the April 4 riot in Marin City.

Attorney Richard Breiner, representing one of two 17-year-old Marin City youths charged in the fracas, had subpoenaed four sheriff's officers for depositions of their intended testimony for the May 23 hearings.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, however, filed a motion with Judge Gardiner to quash the effort. Judge Gardiner, in granting the motion, said he based his decision on the only case he could find, a New Jersey court ruling that such depositions "would detract, formalize, and complicate" juvenile proceedings, which are designed to be otherwise.

One of the youths is charged with felony assault on Sherifi's Deputy Fred Garrison. The other is accused of three misdemeanors—throwing a rock at a sheriff's car, and twice ostructing officers in performance of their duties.

Three other youths face charges in the riot.

Students, Faculty To Discuss Drugs

Representing the faculty will be Samuel Schwartz, John Gillin, Pauline Toschi, Norma O'Hair, David Dunlap and Robert Justice. Students will be Hal Aigner, Jerrod Dreyfus, Luisa Sofaer, John Larson, Dennis Gilardi, Jody Angel, and Terry Stehlin.

Reagan, Brown Endorsed At Conventions

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two big volunteer political groups at opposite ends of the liberal-conservative spectrum wound up their state conventions this weekend.

Gov. Brown was unofficially endorsed for a third term by the California Federation of Young Democrats. And Ronald Reagan received the official backing of the United Republicans of California for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

The Young Democrats Federation, holding its statewide convention in Sacramento, doesn't endorse candidates, but took a straw vote anyway. Eighty-six delegates supported Brown 15 backed Carleton Goodlett, a San Francisco Negro newspaper publisher.

The militantly liberal organization, which has about 7,000 members, adopted a platform calling for an end to bombing raids in Viet Nam and the announcement of a unilateral cease fire to be broken only under attack.

Reagan, meanwhile, received the overwhelming endorsement of the United Republicans at its Bakersfield convention. The vote was 761 for Reagan and 28 for the only other candidate placed in nomination, William Penn Patrick, Tiburon businessman.

The 7,600-member group also tangled with an internal argument over whether the organization is too conservative in its stands.

Rus Walton, former executive director of UROC, said irresponsible extremists led by the John Birch Society were attempting to control the group.

However, Joseph Crosby, a Pasadena businessman who was elected new chairman of UROC, said the organization supports "moderate, responsible men." Crosby said the Birch Society was not an issue.

The city of Darwin, capital and chief port of Australia's Northern Territory, was founded in a gold rush in 1869.

Expansion Of Rent Subsidy May Be Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congress may be asked to expand the controversial rent subsidy program to help families too well off for public housing but too poor for decent private accommodations.

Robert C. Weaver, secretary of the new department of Housing and Urban Development, told UPI yesterday there was "a very, very strong possibility and probability" that the administration would ask Congress to extend rent aid to lower middle income families."

The move is sure to arouse strong opposition in Congress. An appropriation measure to get the program going squeaked through the Senate by only one vote last week. And, despite heavy White House lobbying, the lawmakers gave President Johnson less than half the money he asked.

Under the rent supplement program, the government pays the difference between 25 per cent of a poor family's income and their rent in a decent home.

Lynch Declares Dorado Case Awakens Public

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The interest in the law created by the U. S. Supreme Court Escobedo and Dorado decisions can be used as a long-delayed first step in awakening the public to the meaning of the legal system, state Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch said today.

The legal profession can "show people that the controversy of Escobedo-Dorado is essentially a struggle between two competing manifestations of the law's respect for its citizens," Lynch told members of the University of Southern California Law School Alumni Assn. at their annual Law Day luncheon.

The decisions show the law's respect "for each man's right, as a member of society, to live free of crime, and its respect for each man's right, as an accused, to remain silent and to have the assistance of counsel when charged with a criminal offense," Lynch said.

The attorney general said that through popularizing the meaning of these decisions, the legal profession could encourage appreciation of the law and correct the current situation in which the law is generally held in disrespect.

Redwood Junior Picked For Meet

Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Troppmann of 6 Key Largo Court, Corte Madera.

Jan Pedersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Pedersen of 11 Mann Drive, Kentfield, was chosen alternate delegate. She is also a junior at Redwood.

Lawmakers Wearily Meet Again

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Weary legislators, anxious to return home and campaign for the June 7 primary, convened for their 13th week today—fingers crossed this might be the lucky one.

Key developments were assured on the session's two major issues: a $4.6 billion state budget and Gov. Edmund G. Brown's accrual accounting plan. The latter would permit Brown to balance a record budget without raising taxes as he ran for a third term.

The Senate Finance Committee was scheduled to meet behind closedd oors late today to hammer out its version of a budget, to take effect July 1.

Assembly Republicans, who on April 4 blocked passage of the first budget proposal, meanwhile promised to take a carving knife to the spending program and recommend specific cuts.

Perry Gives Giants Big Lift For Dodgers Series

Gaylord Perry has some new tricks for 1966 as the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers may know by the time they leave San Francisco.

The Dodgers start a three-game series at Candlestick Park Tomorrow night with Juan Marichal slated to hurl for the Giants against Don Drysdale.

The last time the teams met in Candlestick Park was Aug. 22, 1965, the day Marichal bounced a bat off catcher John Roseboro's skull. So this reunion should be interesting, although all parties met again in spring training.

Perry, who beat the St. Louis Cards 2-0 yesterday on four singles, possibly will pitch for the Giants Thursday. He took the afternoon off today as the Giants went down the road a piece for their annual exhibition against the University of Santa Clara.

Manager Herman Franks said yesterday that Bob Shaw probably would be the first of four or five pitchers to work against the collegians.

This would seem to rule out Shaw for starting roles against the Dodgers. The right-hander has been unimpressive in his four starts.

"We were just throwing in the outfield," said Perry yesterday after he brought his record to 3-0. "And then the hard slider first broke for me."

Perry had been relying on his fast ball and a big breaking slider. These two pitches were not good enough in 1965 when he posted an 8-12 record and fell out of the starting rotation.

Perry's 1965 efforts went something like this: A couple of infield hits on topped grounders followed by a home run. He has yet to give up a homer this year.

Two of the singles off Perry yesterday never left the infield, but he never let it bother him and never let a Card get past first all day, striking out seven and walking none.

The Giants managed only three hits, all off starter and loser Bob Gibson. The third hit was a seventh-inning homer by Len Gabrielson.

The first hit, in the fourth inning, led to the Giants' initial run and to some anxious moments for the 31,273 Candlestick fans.

Dick Schofield opened the inning with a single. Willie Mays, with one out, then hit a grounder toward left that third baseman Charley Smith threw into the dirt at first for an error, Schofield going to third.

But Mays tripped over the glove of rookie first baseman George Kernek and did a complete flip in the air. Mays slightly bruised his left knee and had to leave the game. The team trainer said he should be ready tomorrow.

Good And Bad Trout Opener; Game Wardens Get Their Man

OPENING OF trout season Saturday was described as "good and bad" in Marin County with mixed results at the numerous fishin' holes.

The same description was particularly true at Lake Lagunitas: Good for the fishermen and bad—extremely bad—for the fish.

An army of some 1,000 anglers, including a great many children, stormed that Marin Municipal Water District lake and faster than you can look up Salmo irideus in the dictionary, approximately 7,000 of same were transferred from their natural habitat into creels via hook, line and sinker.

SINCE THE benevolent State Department of Fish and Game planted 10,000 catchable-sized Rainbow trout at Lagunitas only four months ago, the lake's population took one helluva beating in one day. If you hanker for a mess of trout, I'd suggest you hurry.

Also fitting into the "good" category for fishermen on opening day was the creek just below Nicasio Dam. The state planted silver salmon there during the winter and about 30 fishermen camped overnight for first crack at dawn Saturday. They limited out in short order, the fish measuring about nine inches in length.

ALPINE LAKE was not stocked with trout, so the few fish taken out of there were leftovers from previous years, measuring up to 12 inches.

Those who tried their luck at Bon Tempe reservior were disappointed. The state planted sub-catchables (about four-inchers) there four months ago, but the little fellers just weren't cooperating, although by now should have grown big enough to get their mouths around a hook.

GAME WARDEN Al Giddings, who along with fellow warden Russ Ild patrolled Marin shores all day, said Papermill Creek yielded mostly small fish, hardly worth while.

Nicasio Lake drew a crowd of about 150 fishermen in search of the 55,000 sub-catchables planted there four months ago, but very few trout were taken. Wardens saw two black bass and lots of blue gills taken there instead.

AT DRAKE'S Beach Estates in the National Seashore about 25 fishermen took about 100 fish, including Rainbows leftover from previous years and some of the 20,000 silver salmon planted there four months ago. Giddings suggests the silvers might provide some action when they return to the lagoon in October or November.

The game wardens did not issue a single citation over the weekend, proving once again that our sportsmen are extremely honest—or clever.

THE WARDENS, however, did engage in a Keystone Kop adventure at Tomales Bay. Standing there chatting, Giddings and Ild noticed a man carring a heavy-looking sack and decided to check him out.

However, the suspect spotted the wardens coming his way and took off on the run, leading them on a merry chase through blackberry bushes and over fences, all the while disposing of evidence along the way, which the wardens gathered in their pursuit.

WHEN THEY finally caught up with the suspect, Giddings and Ild had collected plenty of evidence. One pot, one potato, one onion, one spoon and approximately 200 cockles, half of which were undersized.

Confessed the culprit, "I was gonna have me a nice clam feed down on the beach."

1,500 YACHTS IN OPENING DAY BAY PARADE

San Rafael Skippers Steal The Show

San Francisco Bay looked more like Highway 101 during rush hour traffic yesterday as an estimated 1,500 boats—power, sail and row—helped open the 1966 yachting season.

Oyster Point Yacht Club of South San Francisco and North Bay Y.C. of San Rafael took most of the honors in the parade that was sponsored by the Pacific Inter-Club Yacht Assn.

The North Bay club won both power and overall division top awards in decorated boat competition and the Oyster Point sailors won first prize in the sail division.

Although appearing as a promotional ad for the San Francisco newspaper which sponsored the boat decoration contest, T. H. Chapman's Tootom III was judged the outstanding entry of the whole fleet. Champan, out of North Bay Y.C., had his 38-foot Chris-Craft cruiser decked out in a "Happiness is Boating" theme, with animated reproduction of Charles Schultz' "Peanuts" cartoon characters.

Doug Ordahl of Oyster Point Y.C. had his 24-foot sloop, "Valkyrie," decorated in a reproduction of an ancient Vikings boat, with a bright red overlay snaking the Scandinavian high gooseneck bow and transom. Oyster Point Y.C. won 6 of the 19 decoration prizes and North Bay Y.C. took home 5.

Bill Ryan of Sausalito, his 29-foot Columbia sloop adorned with gals in bikinis, tied for third place in the sailing division.

HANNUM IS HIRED

'Coach Of Year' Fired By 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dolph Schayes, the National Basketball Assn.'s Coach of the Year, was fired today as coach of the Philadelphia 76ers and replaced by Alex Hannum.

Irv Kosloff, owner of the club which won the Eastern Division title only to be eliminated in the recent playoffs by the champion Boston Celtics, said he made the coaching change for one reason, "to bring the NBA championship to this city (Philadelphia)."

Kosloff said Hannum, released at the end of the season after three years as coach of the San Francisco Warriors, "is familiar with the style of our club as he coached it when it was the Syracuse Nationals before moving to Philadelphia."

Hannum signed a two-year contract.

Kosloff said he notified Schayes, who had coached Philadelphia the past three years, last week that he would not be retained.

Of the 43-year-old Hannum, who has been coaching in the NBA about eight years, Kosloff said:

"He is a dynamic, strong, take-charge type of coach. His winning record speaks for itself . . . Alex is the only man to beat Boston for the NBA title in the past 10 years. His record of three divisional titles and an NBA championship team has produced a winning attitude among his players. He knows the NBA game thoroughly."

Hannum won national recognition as 6-foot-8 center for the University of Southern California. He became a pro in 1948 and played in the NBA with Baltimore, Syracuse, Rochester, Milwaukee, amd St. Louis and Fort Wayne, scoring 3,443 points with those teams.

In 1956-57 he was named coach of the St. Louis Hawks and led them to two Western Division titles and to the NBA championship in 1958. He also coached San Francisco to a Western title.

DODGERS, BUCS, ASTROS CUBS WIN

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants have transformed possible liabilities into bonafide assets.

The very thing that worried Dodger Manager Walt Alston and Giant pilot Herman Franks most during spring training, the extended holdouts of Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale, Juan Marichal and Bob Shaw, has enabled Don Sutton and Gaylord Perry to step into the spotlight.

Both Sutton and Perry won shutouts for their third victories of the season yesterday as the Dodgers and Giants remained a half game behind league leading Pittsburgh.

Sutton worked eight innings and scattered five hits as the Dodgers blanked Cincinnati 3-0 and Perry limited St. Louis to four singles in a 2-0 San Francisco victory.

In other N. L. games, Pittsburgh smothered New York 8-0; Houston tripped Atlanta 7-1; and Chicago defeated Philadelphia 6-1.

In the American League, Sam McDowell pitched a one-hitter as the Cleveland Indians nipped Chicago 1-0; Baltimore tripped Detroit 4-1; Kansas City edged New York 1-0 in the first game of a twinbill and then lost the nightcap 10-4; Washington took the opener from Minnesota 5-3 and dropped the second game 3-1; California beat Boston 6-1 and then lost 9-1.

He Showed Alston yesterday

Sutton, the Dodgers' best pitching find in years, might have received an extra year of minor league experience at the tender age of 21, were it not for the spring training pitching crisis created by Koufax and Drysdale.

He showed Alston yesterday that he's ready right now by baffling the Reds. He did need relief help in the ninth from Ron Perranoski, however, marking the first time in the last six games that Los Angeles has had to call on its bullpen.

The Pirates scored single runs in the first and fourth and then exploded for five in the fifth to back Bob Veale's four hit pitching. The big rally was highlighted by doubles from Matty Alou, Roberto Clemente and Jim Pagliaroni, a triple by

Laguna Seca Next On Sports Racers' Slate

RIVERSIDE (AP) — Skip Hudson of Arlington, Calif., and Chuck Parsons of Carmel, were point leaders today in the U. S. Road Racing Championship series as it headed into its third event next weekend at Laguna Seca in Northern California.

John "Buck" Fulp Jr. of Anderson, S.C., won the second in the series yesterday at Riverside Raceway, sending his Lola Olds the 70-lap, 182-mile distance in 1:49.26.

It was the first major road racing victory for the 28-year-old South Carolinian who won $5,600. Hudson was $2,250.

Bill Krause of Inglewood, Calif., was fourth in his Lola Chevy, 74 seconds behind the leaders.

Softballers Win 4 In Two Days

Stretching their win-loss record to 9-2, Sohner Tree Service softballers swept a pair of doubleheaders over the weekend, winning four games in two days.

Saturday the defending district champions beat Harpo's of San Francisco, 9-0 and 3-1, at Albert Park in San Rafael, and then whipped Santa Rosa's Windsor Merchants 8-0 and 4-3 yesterday in Memorial Park in San Anselmo.

Morey Swarm, in addition to pitching in two of the games, hit two three-run homers. Milt Hain collected nine hits in the four games and Ed Schulze had five.

TEXAS..OPEN

Foreigners Top U.S. Golf Tour

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) —Harold Henning of Johannesburg, South Africa, made it two tournaments in a row yesterday for foreigners to beat out United States pros by dragging off first place by three strokes in the $80,000 Texas Open.

Playing the final round on a rain-soaked Oak Hills Country Club course, the 31-year-old slim South African fired a two-under-par 68 yesterday to go with his previous rounds of 72-67-65 for a final score of 272 and eight under for the tournament.

Last week Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo won the twice-delayed by rain Dallas Open to give him $15,000 in prize money to take out of the country.

For Henning, it was his first tournament win in this country. But he has been red hot during the past year, winning about 10 tournaments in Europe, Africa and Asia. Some of his recent wins include the Malaya Open, the Canada Cup and the South African PGA crown, where he nudged out fellow countryman Gary Player.

The $13,000 first prize Texas Open money was the biggest official prize purse ever earned by Henning. However, he won $28,000 on a single shot in London in 1962 when he got a hole-in-one with a nine iron on a short hole.

Three strokes behind Henning for second place money of $5,433.33 each yesterday were Gene Littler of La Jolla, Calif., the first and third round leader, local pro Wes Ellis and Ken Still of Tacoma, Wash.

Bunched at 276 and four strokes off the lead were Jay Hebert of Lafayette, LA., Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., and Dave Marr of Litchfield Park, Ariz. Each netted $3,333.33 for their fifth-place tie.

HEAP BIG SMOKE, NO FIRE ON CEPEDA-SADECKI TRADE TALK

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was no action but a lot of talk yesterday about a trade that would send Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants to the St. Louis Cards for left-handed pitcher Ray Sadecki.

Newspaper reports about a possible swap developed when Cardinal general manager Bob Howsam was seen talking Saturday with San Francisco owner Horace Stoneham.

The Cards could use a slugging first baseman. Rookie George Kernek has only one extra base hit and three runs-batted-in so far this season.

St. Louis has six left-handed pitchers on a 13-man staff. And the Giants have no southpaw starters in a ball park where winds blowing to right field favor left-handed pitchers.

"Why should we relieve the Giants of their biggest problem," said a Cardinal spokesman. "They've got a stationary ball player they can't play."

Actually, Cepeda started in left field for two of the three games against the Cards and hit a homer Saturday. But his surgery-scarred right knee still makes him limp badly. The Giants have a full crop of outfielders without Orlando and Willie McCovey took over first base last year when Cepeda hardly played at all because of his 1964 knee operation.

Cepeda's incapacity to run was shown yesterday in the fourth inning when he hit a shot deep behind the bag at third and failed to beat the throw.

It Was A Bad Week For Mays

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Willie Mays went into his second week today in his jinxed pursuit of the National League home run record.

Since tying Mel Ott's mark of 511 in Houston on Sun., April 24, Mays has gone 2-for-18 as the plate and has failed to bat in a single run for the San Francisco Giants.

Mays has managed to pick up a good case of the stomach flu, a bruise on his right palm and a bruise on his left knee. The flu made him miss the last three innings of two games and an entire contest Thursday.

The latest mishap occurred yesterday as Candlestick Park on a play that started the second-place Giants on their way to a 2-1 victory over St. Louis.

In the fourth inning with Dick Schofield on first, Mays hit a slow grounder to third that Charley Smith threw into the dirt at first base for an error. Cardinal rookie first baseman George Kernek was groping for the ball on the baseline when Mays stumbled over his glove.

Mays turned a complete somersault in the air and landed on his back. He got up limping.

Schofield, the runner at first, ended on third and scored the Giants' initial run on a sacrifice fly.

Mays is expected to play tomorrow night when the Los Angeles Dodgers come to Candlestick Park. He also may see limited action today when the Giants play their annual benefit exhibition contest against the University of Santa Clara.

The bruise on Mays' right hand obviously has hampered his swing. Twice the past week, he lost the bat after missing a pitch, something that rarely ever happens to Mays. Only one hit this week has had the loft needed to get over the fence. It was a 410-foot out. The two hits have been doubles cracked on a low trajectory.

Willie Will Beat Ruth Mark—Kiner

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ralph Kiner, who slugged 54 homers while playing with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1949, says Willie Mays will break Babe Ruth's major league home run total of 714 "within the next five or six years."

"Unless he gets a severe injury or decides to quit, I think Willie can go on to hit more than 714," Kiner was quoted as saying today in a column by Al Abrams, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette sports editor.

Kiner said he believed that Ruth's home run total was unapproachable "until Mays started walloping homers at an average of 40 or better."

Mays' recent homer tied Mel Ott's National League homer mark of 511. The San Francisco outfielder would have to hit 40 home runs or better for the next five seasons to crack Ruth's mark.

Asked if age might hinder the 34-year-old Mays' drive on Ruth's record, Kiner, a sportscaster with the New York Mets, said, "I don't care how old he is.

"Mays seems to get better and stronger with age. Forget about the rests he takes now and then. They don't mean a thing. Willie is good for five or six more years.

"I think Willie can go at top speed until he is 40, perhaps a little longer. That's why I think he can break Ruth's mark. The longer he goes, the better shot he has," said Kiner.

Kiner said it was his belief Hank Aaron, outfielder for the Atlanta Braves, will wind up No. 3 in career home runs.

Tars Win, Lose In Twin Bill

College of Marin's baseballers hit and scored like big leaguers Saturday, but had to settle for a split in a Golden Valley Conference twin bill with Shasta, winning the first one, 10-5, and losing the second, 10-9, at Redding.

Jim Timmel went the distance for the Tars in the first game, was clipped for 2 runs in the first inning, but then stiffened the rest of the way, scattering 14 Shasta safeties.

Ray Valconesi homered with one aboard in the fourth inning and the Mariners forged ahead for keeps in the seventh, supporting Timmel with 12 base hits.

Despite homers by Jerry Daniele in the first and Lorrie Galassi in the fourth—both with one on—and a solo shot by Valconesi in the fifth, the Tars still came an eyelash from victory in the second game.

Marin now has a 4-6 GVC record.

Knopf Stars, Tars 8th In Norcal Swim

Led by butterfly artist Tom Knopf who virtually clinched All-American recognition in a brilliant 100-yard performance, College of Marin's swimming team placed eighth in an 18-team field Friday and Saturday at the Northern Junior College Championships at Visalia.

With Knopf's first place in the 100 fly and second in the 200-yard event leading the way, the Tars of Coach Bob Justice tallied 89 points. Foothill College of Los Altos Hills won the title with San Mateo second and College of the Sequoias (Visalia) third.

Knopf's 53.9 seconds clocking for the century was, according to Justice, "the fastest time in the state this year, as far as I know. He should make the All-American J.C. team on the strength of it."

Knopf was timed in 2:05.8 for his second place in the 200, about a length behind the winner.

Marin's 800-yard relay team of Bill Anderson, Steve Hoxie, Knopf and Dean Ferrandini placed fourth in 7:50.6 and the 400-yard medley quartet of the busy Knopf, Ferrandini, Anderson and Bill Pandiani was sixth in 3:55.4.

Sutton New Hill Hero For Dodgers

Chicago took advantage of six Philadelphia errors as Bill Faul stopped the Phils on six hits. A total of 10 errors were committed in the loosely played game but Faul managed to overcome his team's miscues to beat former teammate Larry Jackson and turn in the Cubs' first complete game performance of the year.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Special Meeting On Braves' Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee-Atlanta situation will be discussed at a special meeting of the National League late this afternoon, a day before the two major leagues hold a joint session.

Although Wisconsin circuit court judge Elmer Roller ordered the Braves to return to Millwaukee May 18 if league had not made expansion plans for 1967, including Milwaukee, by May 16, there was no indication of any immediate expansion.

"Expansion will be discussed," said league president Warren Giles before leaving his Cincinnati home. "I do not anticipate any action will be taken at this meeting.

"We will hear the report of our counsel on the Wisconsin case. It may be necessary to have another meeting before May 16."

Giles said the league would consider the report of the players' association and other matters, such as a proposed trip to Japan by the Los Angeles Dodgoner which will come up for discussion at the joint meeting tomorrow morning, called by Commissioner William Eckert.

It had been reported that the state of Georgia is considering filing suit directly to the U.S. Supreme Court against the state of Wisconsin to expedite a final decision on the Braves.

The Wisconsin court ruled April 13 that the Braves and the National League had violated Wisconsin's antitrust laws and their refusal to issue a franchise to Milwaukee County was restraint of trade and commerce.

However, a Georgia court has issued a permanent injunction calling on the Braves and the league to fulfill a 25-year contract for use of the new stadium in Atlanta.

The entire matter almost certainly will wind up in the U.S. Supreme Court sooner or later.

Strange Home Ice Jinx In Stanley Cup Battle

DETROIT (UPI) —The Montreal Canadiens have evened the Stanley Cup series at 2-2 but now they have to face the strangest hex of the season—the home ice disadvantage.

The Canadiens squeezed past Detroit here yesterday, 2-1 on Ralph Backstrom's third period goal and for the fourth time in as many games the home team lost.

The Red Wings had taken a 1-0 lead midway in the second period yesterday on Norm Ullman's goal and for a while it looked as if relief goalie Hank Bassen, playing for injured Roger Crozier, could make the Detroit lead stand up.

With just nine seconds left in the middle session, however, big Jean Beliveau fired a sizzler that beat the plucky substitute net-minder on Montreal's power play.

In the last period both Bassen and Montreal goaltender Gump Worsley made brilliant saves before Ralph Backstrom shot the winner for the Canadiens with just 6:23 remaining to play.

"I thought we played well," Abel said. "I don't think we can play better than that."

Bulls Go For Youth In Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chicago Bulls, the latest entry in the National Basketball Assn., don't expect much help in the draft and probably will go with the players they plucked off the rosters of the existing clubs last weekend.

"This is what we bought," Bulls general manager Dick Klien said yesterday after he had culled 18 players from the rosters of the present teams.

"These 18 players are our team."

Klien went for youth, taking Jerry Sloan, Nate Bowman and Jim Washington, all first round draft choices from last year. Other first year men selected were Keith Erickson, 6-foot-6 from San Francisco, and Barry Clemens, 6-7 from New York.

Sloan is a 6-6 forward-guard from Baltimore, Bowman a 6-10 center from Cincinnati and Washington a 6-7 forward from St. Louis.

Klein has not yet named the coach for the team that begins NBA play next season, but said he might make an announcement in Chicago tomorrow. Speculation centers around Kerr, a 33-year-old veteran of 12 years in the league.

The Bulls don't figure to pick up much in the May 11 draft. They pick last on the first round, third and fourth on the second and last the rest of the way.

Their selections Saturday and yesterday were made from a pool of 40 players made available by the other clubs. They named 10 from the Eastern teams Saturday and eight from the Western squads yesterday.

The total cost for the selections and the franchise was $1.6 million, with no breakdown on how much what went for what.

FAVORED GRAUSTARK IS INJURED

By ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—With Graustark sidelined by a broken bone, Saturday's running of the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby shaped up today as a wide-open scramble with at least four colts vying for the favorite's role.

There are about 20 3-year-olds either at Churchill Downs or en route who can be listed as possible starters in the 1¼-mile race. However, the list may be trimmed to 14 or even 12 by the weather Tomorrow's Derby Trial and owners' unwillingness to part with the $1,500 necessary to get a horse into the starting line-up.

Entries for the first of the Triple Crown series, which also includes the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, will be made Thursday morning. Post time Saturday is 2:45 p.m., PDT.

PROBABLY FOREVER

"He is through racing for the season and probably forever," said Gentry after listening to the report of Dr. Alex Harthill—the veternarian who had nursed the Darby Dan Farm colt through a series of ailments, including bucked shins last year and a sprained ankle early this season.

The colt, still in intense pain, will be sent to the farm at Lexington, Ky., within a few days and is expected to enter the stud there. The final decision will be up to owner John Galbreath.

Graustark's failure to make the Big One also did away with any possibility of a clash between the two most talked of horses of 1965.

Buckpasser, the other, is convalescing from a quarter-crack. He took the Flamingo this year following a 2-year-old campaign which carried him to the juvenile title.

Graustark was unbeaten in his first seven races, three last year, but was beaten by Abe's Hope in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland last Thursday.

The Derby Figger Filberts lost no time going to work on the remainder of the field. They came up with Abe's Hope, owned by John Bartell and Robert Byfield of Chicago, as the probable 5-2 choice.

Abe's Hope has not run abad race this year. The Illinois-bred son of Better Bee had Buckpasser beaten in the Flamingo only to lose in the final stride. He finished first in the Florida Derby but was disqualified and placed fourth.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

Bill Shoemaker, winner of three Derbies, will ride Abe's Hope —a factor that figures to draw financial support from the usual crowd of more than 100,000.

Michael Ford's Kauai King, rated by Gentry as good enough to beat Buckpasser, is the probable second choice at 3-1. Gentry trained the son of Native Dancer last year. He wound up his Derby prep with a victory in Bowie's Governor's Gold Cup.

Stupendous gets into the Derby because of a second thought. Trainer Eddie Neloy announced nearly two weeks ago that the Wheatley Colt would not be a Derby starter. But Mrs. Phipps had a change of mind three days ago and the son of Bold Ruler arrived late yesterday afternoon as rain pelted the Downs for the 14th straight day.

The forecast, however, called for clearing skies by tomorrow and fair weather the remainder of the week.

William G. Helis Jr.'s Sky Guy, who has showed little except speed, was listed as a probable starter when Trainer Jimmy Combest asked for s tall space. He is due from New York within a day or so.

Opening lead — ♠ 6

South drew three rounds of trumps and led the ten of clubs, relying on his ability to guess the right play.

Weep only a few tears; South played the king of clubs from dummy, and the opponents took two club tricks in a hurry.

NOT A HERO

"I'd have been a hero if I'd played the jack of clubs, "South remarked dolefully.

He was wrong.

He'd have been lucky, but no hero.

The club guess should be South's third line of attack.

He should make a heart play first and a diamond play second.

If both fail, he should try to guess the right play in clubs.

QUEEN DROPS

South should draw three rounds of trumps, discarding a club from dummy. Then he should cash the top hearts and ruff a heart.

When the queen of hearts fails, South gets to dummy with a diamond and discards a club on the jack of hearts.

This guarantees the slam.

If the queen of hearts fails to drop South should lead out the three top diamonds.

If each opponent holds three diamonds, South can discard a club on dummy's last diamond.

If both red suits fail to produce the twelfth trick, South ruffs dummy's last diamond and leads a club.

Only now it is necessary for South to put himself to the guess.

The big advantage of playing the red suits first in this hand is that each attempt costs nothing and leaves you in position for the next attempt.

School Construction Seminar To Emphasize Use Of Glass

SAN FRANCISCO — Use of glass to improve a school's design will be discussed by San Francisco area architects, engineers and school officials at a special school construction seminar, May 4, at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel here.

The effectiveness of daylight from a side window wall in illuminating visual tasks, as well as the types of glass which increase comfort within a school, will be shown by Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. as part of this program on current school building trends.

A model classroom will be used to show that schools using daylight from a side window wall as primary light source, and artificial lighting as a supplement, have more effective illumination than buildings with overhead lighting only.

Sponsoring the local school construction seminar is the San Francisco chapter of the Producers Council, Inc., a national organization of manufacturers of quality products and equipment.

Participants will include Otto F. Wenzler, architectural consultant, from the company's home office in Toledo, Ohio, and A. C. Anderson, of San Francisco, field representative in the company's local office. Wenzler will moderate a panel discussion on school trends and Anderson will be in charge of the company's exhibit.

Beckett said that 1965 net income of $42,417,677 was the highest since 1952 when transamerica sold its last remaining interest in Bank of America. First quarter earnings this year were 14 per cent higher than the results of last year's first quarter.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Richard Turner, Wife, To Run New Lake County Radio Station

Lake County's first radio station, KBLC, scheduled to sign on the air the first week of June, will be managed by a young Novato man whose ambition has been to "be on his own" in the broadcasting business.

Richard Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Turner of Marin radio station KTIM, will move with his wife Elizabeth to Lakeport about the middle of this month to get ready for the station's opening. Young Turner, a product of Novato grade schools, San Rafael High School and a business administration course at College of Marin, has been working recently in assistant managership jobs in local markets. Most recent of these has been at the Novato Jolly Market.

But during these years he has spent some time getting experience at KTIM, and wife Elizabeth has been working there for the past two years — so the new station will be a team effort.

KBLC, said to stand for "Keep Boosting Lake County," will be a 1,000-watt station at 1270 on the AM dial, broadcasting from sunup to sundown. Studios will be at 405 North Main Street, Lakeport; aerial tower is now under construction three miles south of Lakeport and just north of Mt. Konocti.

"The community is anxious to have us get started," Turner said. "It should be a catalyst to draw many different elements in the county together."

ANOTHER, UNRELATED, Lake County-Marin County tie-in is the recent opening in San Anselmo's Essex Buildings of Clear Lake Riviera, real estate development firm specializing in recreation homesites on 1,300 acres of property at the southwest side of Clear Lake about two miles from Konocti Harbor Inn (no connection with Don Emerson, mentioned above). Mrs. Codee Ainsworth is San Anselmo manager.

Clear Lake Riviera is headquartered in San Francisco and has other branch offices in Palo Alto and Burlingame. The company conducts a weekly bus tour to its Lake County properties on Sundays.

NEW TECHNIQUES and the fundamentals of investing will be covered in a new course by Bache and Co., Inc. to be held Thursday evenings at 7:30 in the Manor School, 150 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax. Sessions will be for three successive weeks starting May 5 — this week. David Witthoft of Greenbrae, a Bache representative of the San Francisco office, will conduct the course. To reserve seats, call the Bache office at 120 Montgomery Street, San Francisco.

HERBERT C. HELLER of Terra Linda, vice president and treasurer of the 23-store Baby News Center, has announced the signing of a lease for a 24th store at 353 University Avenue, Palo Alto. San Rafael store is located at 514 Fourth Street. Combined gross sales of all Baby News stores last year were $3.68 million.

ADOLPH MUELLER II of Belvedere has been promoted to assistant vice president in Wells Fargo Bank's national division.

PAUL E. NIELSEN of East San Rafael is the first Marin resident to win the big $500 prize in Tidewater Associated Oil's contest in matching two halves of a check since the drawings started last February, although several lesser prizes have been won here. Nielsen picked up both sections of the winning ticket at Fredieu's Flying A Service, 167 Third Street, San Rafael. Anyone can participate at Flying A Stations without making a purchase.

Sky Diver 'Critical' From Lack Of Oxygen

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (UPI) —Sky diver Nick Piantanida, foiled in his third attempt to set a world's free fall record when a freak accident cut off his oxygen while aloft in the earth's stratosphere, fought for his life today.

Piantanida was rushed to a hospital here after suffering brain damage in a heart-stopping, 10-mile plunge to earth yesterday in his gondola suspended from a balloon. Hospital officials said he remained unconscious and in critical condition today.

Less than half way to his planned altitude of 124,000 feet, the face visor on Piantanida's spacesuit cracked and released his vital supply of oxygen. He had time to gasp only a few hoarse words on the radio to his ground controllers before lapsing into unconsciousness.

The ground crew immediately released the gondola from a giant helium-filled balloon, and Piantanida plunged earthward. He was taken to the hospital moaning and sucking on an oxygen tube.

The Bricktown, N.J., father of three had hoped to ride the balloon to the planned height and then jump overboard, falling more than 20 miles before opening his parachute. The current free fall record of 83,523.41 feet is held by Russian Eugene Andreev.

Taped transcripts of the conversation between Piantanida and the ground crew indicated the sky diver blacked out almost immediately after his face visor cracked. He apparently was without oxygen for about three and one-half minutes as the gondola zoomed toward the ground.

Twice before, Piantanida failed to accomplish his mission. In October, 1965, his balloon burst and he was dropped on Pig's Eye dump in St. Paul, Minn. In January of this year, he set an unofficial altitude record by riding his balloon to 123,800 feet, but he was unable to disconnect his main oxygen line and could not jump from the gondola.

French Climbers Conquer Peak And Gain Water

YOSEMITE (AP) — Two French mountain climbers who scaled Yosemite's sheer El Capitan peak made it a day ahead of schedule after they got thirsty.

Jacques Dupont and Andre Gauci, both 28 and of Grenoble, told a friend that they would have waited until daylight yesterday to complete the last 500 feet but they were out of water. The climbers said that forced them to press on to the top Saturday night.

The climb took six days. It was the first time a team of Europeans had scaled the peak, although several American teams have done it since El Capitan first was conquered in 1958.

Hub Chamber Seeks Eatery

That was the decision reached by directors of the San Anselmo chamber of commerce Friday. What is more, they said, they know the perfect spot for one—the long-empty ground floor of the Cheda Building at San Anselmo and Tunstead Avenues.

Directors voted that their business committee seek to interest a restaurant in the corner shop, which last housed Jack's drug store.

Chamber directors also voted to hold a general membershap breakfast meeting once a month(starting in May.
